DEBENTURE ROW MAY BE SHIFTED TO TARIFF BILL

HELD IMPROPERLY IN SENATE MEASURE

House Leaders Refuse to Consider It as Part of Relief Program.

PROVISION TO PASS UPPER BODY TODAY

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover's hand was seen in the extra session imbroglio yesterday as there appeared a well defined movement to switch the debenture fight from the farm relief bill to the tariff.

It is believed that the administration is of the opinion that it can better handle the debenture advocates if it gets them face to face with specific tariff rates, or if the worst is to come it would not be heart-broken if no tariff bill passed at all, especially the present one.

The most tangible evidence of what is transpiring was in the final decision of the House leaders to refuse to consider the farm bill with the debenture provision, the decision being based on the ground that a revenue measure must originate in the House. The House leaders have inclined to this stand all along but were swayed by the argument of Senator Watson, Republican leader of the upper house, that should they make the fight on this ground the debenture ranks in the Senate would be strengthened.

Debenture to Pass Senate.

But the House leaders have decided to take their stand and their decision follows considerable week-end activity at the White House, not the least of which, were invitations to both Senators Borah, of Idaho and Fess, of Ohio, to come up and dine.

The Senate will pass the farm bill with the debenture provision probably today. Then the deadlock between the two houses will follow. In due time the tariff bill will come over to the Senate and the debenture proponents plan to tack it onto the tariff measure. It would appear to be logical to assume that with this provision on the tariff bill the Senate pressure for retaining it in the farm bill would be lessened, whereupon the farm bill could be gotten out of the way. It might then be held as answering Mr. Hoover's campaign promise to the farmers, for the time being, at least.

At any rate, it is believed the administration would be better prepared and more willing for the debenture fight to center around the tariff.

Tariff Rates to Be Argument.

The two Florida senators voted for the debenture plan. For example, they could be called in after the fight has shifted to the tariff measure and told to look at the tariff protection granted in the pending bill for tomatoes and grapefruit. But if these gentlemen insist also on the debenture plan then it might be necessary, they could be told, to eliminate the tariff increases on tomatoes and grapefruit.

It is significant that the word began to go out from "Eastern administration senators" yesterday that they were beginning to look with disfavor upon certain farm schedules because the senators whose States benefit from these schedules voted for the debenture plan. The word was one of the indefinable, untraceable things that go

ASKS DRAFT LAWS

SECRETARY OF WAR GOOD.

PERMANENT DRAFT LAW ASKED BY GOOD

LIKE MEASURES OF 1917

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Good has recommended that Congress give the President authority to conscript the man-power of the Nation for immediate military service in time of war.

Upon the recommendation of the Secretary of War, Acting Chairman James, of the House military committee, yesterday introduced a bill to give the President permanent authority to call men between 18 and 45 years of age to the public armed forces whenever Congress makes a declaration of war. The measure, Secretary Good wrote, was based on a study of the laws affecting the selective service of the World War which terminated with that emergency.

"The proposed legislation," the letter said, "prepared as a result of a careful study of the World War selective service laws and their execution, would reenact, in suitable form, the principles of those laws.

"The most critical period in any great emergency involving armed conflict is that immediately following a declaration of war, for it is the period during which our armed forces must be mobilized when they are weakest. The saving of a few days or even a day during that period may spell the dif-

Killers of Priests Executed in China

Two Bandit Chiefs Pay Penalty for Murders; War Continues.

Shanghai, May 13 (U.P.).—Chui-Kai Chai and Chu-Chang Nan, two bandit leaders who recently murdered three American Catholic priests near Chengki, Hunan Province, have been caught and executed. The priests, who were shot after being robbed, were the Rev. Godfrey Molbein, Baltimore; the Rev. Clement Sybold, New York, and the Rev. Walter Covelyou, Petoskey, Mich.

Canton, China, May 13 (A.P.).—In view of the uncertainty of the situation at Canton, a detachment of 150 British light infantry was standing by at Kongkong today in readiness to establish a garrison at the British concession of Shameen, from which the last troops were removed in October.

Canton was quiet today, but the situation at Shamsui, 50 miles from Canton, was still somewhat obscured despite reports of an armistice. Heavy fighting is reported in British naval dispatches to be in progress between the Cantonese land forces and a section of the rebel fleet.

LOCKOUT BANS 75,000 MEN ON NEW YORK JOBS

Builders Bar Unions as Parleys to Settle Strike Fail.

ORGANIZATIONS HAD WON FIVE-DAY WEEK

Groups That Gained Victory May 4 Face New Fight in Metropolis.

EMPLOYERS' BOARD IS PROMPT TO ACT

Sympathetic Walkout to Aid Electrical Workers Is Cause of Conflict.

New York, May 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Building Trades Employers Association today voted a lockout of all trades engaged in sympathetic strikes in support of Electrical Workers Union, No. 3, effective at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, and rescinded its promise of the five-day week and 10 per cent increase in pay, effective August 24, to trades not now enjoying the short week. The lockout will involve about 75,000 workers.

The vote of the governors of the association, taken after just one hour discussion, was unanimous, and followed the refusal of the Building Trades Council, through John Halkett, its president, to send back to work not later than Wednesday morning, men now on sympathetic strikes.

Halkett's refusal to end the sympathetic strikes was contained in a long statement, delivered to Chairman Christian G. Norman, of the association's executive committee.

Halkett Denies Agreement.

The statement categorically denied the assertion of the employers' association that on May 4, prior to the granting of the five-day week without any loss in wages to trades under contract to January 1, Halkett and his associates on the executive board of the council had agreed to end the strikes in aid of the electricians.

The proposal that the sympathetic strikers be returned to work, Halkett countered with the proposal that the three contractors whom Electrical Workers Union No. 3 refuses to supply men, withdraw their men from all jobs, and from the Building Trades Employers Association.

This was immediately rejected viva voce when the governors of the association met with Norman in the chair, and the members began discussion of the form of statement to be issued in the name of the organization.

Meeting Acts Promptly.

While this was on, Malter S. Faddis, president of the association, left the conference room to advise inquiring reporters that a lockout was certain.

A few minutes later cheers from the governor's room told the reporters that the roll-call vote was as Faddis had predicted.

Shortly thereafter, Halkett, waiting in his office, was advised of the result.

This evening Halkett, with associates on the executive committee of the Building Trades Council, was in session preparing for a general meeting of the council tomorrow morning. He had nothing to say preferring to await the morning's session at which, it is expected H. N. Broach, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in charge of the New York area, or a representative will present the case of his people.

DISTRICT BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR 1931 REACH RECORD TOTAL OF $56,500,000, DONOVAN FINDS

Auditor Recalls $48,552,000 Was Limit Under Present Tax Rate.

COMMISSION'S PARING DOWN TO START SOON

Estimates for schools, parks and other projects, and for the various divisions of the municipal government, submitted for 1931 by the heads of the various activities commonly provided for in the annual District appropriation bill, reach the record-breaking total of $56,500,000, Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor and budget officer, told the District Commissioners yesterday.

This total, Donovan said, by way of comparison, is $11,500,000 more than was appropriated for these activities for the 1930 fiscal year, which begins July 1, the appropriations for the coming fiscal year amounting to $44,965,000.

The $56,500,000 total, Donovan said, included an estimate of $3,000,000 for purchase of land for the proposed municipal center and an initial appropriation of $500,000 for the new incinerator plant for trash and combustible refuse.

$53,000,000 to Be Asked.

Eliminating these two items, which it is planned to ask for in an urgent deficiency bill to be submitted to Congress when it meets in regular session in December, the total asked for schools, parks, various engineering projects and the activities of the District government, such as streets, sewer, water and other works, remains at approximately $53,000,000.

This total, Donovan told the Commissioners, exceeds not only the estimated total revenues of the District for the fiscal year 1931, but all of the surplus cash in the treasury to the credit of the District by approximately $2,000,000.

Donovan pointed out that the recently drafted five-year financial program which he submitted to the Commissioners provided for expenditures totaling $48,552,000 for the fiscal year 1931 as the limit which it would be safe to make on the basis of a continued $9,000,000 appropriation by the Federal Government and continuation of the present $1.70 tax rate on real property.

Paring Down Begins Thursday.

Work of paring down the figures submitted by the various agencies and departments will be begun by the District Commissioners at a special board meeting which has been called by Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, president of the board, for Thursday morning. It is the purpose of the Commissioners, Dougherty said, to keep pretty steadily at the task of paring and changing until the estimates are in shape for submission to the Bureau of the Budget.

"Well, everyone seems to have asked for about everything they needed," Dougherty said when asked to comment on the preliminary estimates now before the Commissioners. He refused to go beyond that, adding only "use your own judgment" when it was suggested that, of course, the Commissioners would have to cut the estimates.

The actual figures before the Commissioners is even larger than the $56,500,000, for the school authorities submitted a list of desirable things costing an extra $1,101,000. But this $1,101,-

World Record for Helicopters Believed Broken by Pitcairn Hop

Rubber-necking at airplanes was revived in Washington yesterday when this queer craft, known as the autogiro, flew to Bolling Field from Philadelphia en route to Langley Field, Va. ROTHSTEIN CALLED THEFT GO-BETWEEN

NICKY ARNSTEIN NAMED

New York, May 13 (U.P.).—The name of Arnold Rothstein, almost forgotten in the swift cycle of events following his mysterious murder, sprang suddenly to the headlines again today in a new chapter of underworld intrigue.

Rothstein, the master gambler of Broadway, the backer of lucrative big-time rackets and the man whose death brought one of the biggest New York police shake-ups in years, was unexpectedly linked in court with a sensational $140,000 bond robbery.

How the famous gambler acted as intermediary between the underworld and agents of Taylor, Bates & Co., from whom the securities were stolen, was described on the witness stand by Eugene F. McGee, a lawyer and close friend of Rothstein when the latter was mortally wounded last November in a room at the Park Central Hotel.

McGee, who was disbarred some years ago, said although his friend never told him how he located the stolen bonds and persuaded the holders to turn them over to him, Rothstein was given a $13,400 reward for the bit of underworld diplomacy. This reward he handed over in full to the ring from which he obtained the bonds.

The story behind the theft and the recovery embraces, besides Rothstein,

Flier Lands in Capital on 300-Mile Trip With Strange Aircraft.

Norfolk, Va., May 13 (A.P.).—Harold F. Pitcairn, of Philadelphia, set what army airmen at Langley Field believe is a world record for distance for that type of craft when he flew his autogyro airplane today from Philadelphia to Langley, a distance of 300 miles with only one stop. The plane, built in England, and the only one of its kind in the United States, left Philadelphia this morning and flew to Washington, the half-way mark, in 1 hour and 45 minutes. In the afternoon Pitcairn took off for Langley Field, making the flight also in 1 hour and 45 minutes. He arrived at 6:15 o'clock.

While members of the national advisory committee for aeronautics at Langley said Pitcairn had flown the plane all around Europe, they were under the impression that his channel flight of 26 miles was the longest he had made previously. Further flights are planned at Langley Field tomorrow for the benefit of the N. A. C. members now there for the executive committee conference tomorrow.

Pilots and mechanics at Bolling Field were astonished yesterday afternoon by the unheralded appearance about 3 o'clock of the Cierva Autogiro, piloted by Harold F. Pitcairn, president of Pitcairn Aviation, on its first long flight since it was brought to the United States from England, where it was built. Pitcairn was on his way to the engineering conference of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field.

After demonstrating the plane to officers of the Army Air Corps, he took off for Langley Field in spite of the thick haze and rain and reports of bad weather. He arrived there late in the afternoon. He was flying alone, although another plane carried a mechanic who has been working with the autogiro since it was brought to this country. Pitcairn left Philadelphia at 12:45 o'clock.

The autogiro, which is a modified form of the helicopter, appeared out of the haze which blanketed the field with its four-bladed horizontal propellor turning lazily. It turned into the field and descended almost ver-

KIN OF MICHAELSON IS INDICTED BY U. S.

CLAIM TARIFF VIOLATION

Jacksonville, Fla., May 13 (A.P.).—Walter Gramm, Chicago coal dealer and brother-in-law of Representative M. Alfred Michaelson, was indicted by a Federal grand jury here today on charges of violating the tariff act in connection with liquor found in trunks at the Terminal Station.

Specifically, the indictment charged Gramm with one of the two counts on which the Chicago representative was acquitted after trial in Key West last week.

Gramm, star defense witness at the Michaelson trial, testified that three of six trunks seized by dry officers here and resulting in indictment of Michaelson belonged to him. He stood on his constitutional right when asked if the trunks contained any liquor, and the Government promptly arrested him on the day following the acquittal of the representative.

Gramm's indictment charges he unlawfully and knowingly facilitated the transportation and concealment of liquor, knowing it to have been imported into this country contrary to law.

Gramm, with Mrs. Gramm, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Reis, also of Chicago, were

Man Dies of Wounds, Shielding His Assailant

Wilmington, Del., May 13 (A.P.).—Without divulging who shot him, Donald Millard, 29 years old, of Chicago, died in a hospital here last night from two gunshot wounds in the stomach and a number of stab wounds.

Millard had asked police to notify his brother, John, in Cleveland. He said he had been injured in a fight in New York Saturday night.

100 Airplanes on Way To 'War' Forced Down

Army Craft, Flying to Battle Maneuvers, Beaten to Earth by Weather; Delay May Postpone "Hostilities."

Columbus, Ohio, May 13 (A.P.).—Nearly 100 fighting planes of the United States Army, designated to take part in the fight of the Red and Blue Army in Ohio during the next two weeks, were bogged down in various parts of the country tonight.

Half a dozen crack fighting outfits were forced to discontinue their flight for Dayton, headquarters of the Blue Army, and Columbus, headquarters of the Red Army, when weather reports indicated that fog and rain would make flying hazardous.

All ships have been ordered to battle stations by midnight Tuesday and Army officials humorously remarked today that unless the weather man saw fit to relent it might be "necessary to postpone the war because of rain."

Four ships, all transports, reached Columbus today. These ships, carrying enlisted men and equipment, arrived after a two-hour flight from Selfridge Field, home station of the first pursuit group. The remainder of the squadron will arrive tomorrow.

Twenty-two ships, with a personnel of 76 men, were reported down at Cumberland, Md., unable to continue their flight. The eleventh bombardment squadron from Rockwell Field, Calif., in charge of Maj. Carl Spatz, moved out of Fort Sill, Okla., today for Ohio, and after an overnight stop at a Southern airport will reach Dayton tomorrow.

Forty-one more planes of the Army Air Corps that are on their way to the joint ground-air maneuvers in Ohio passed through Washington yesterday.

The planes will be among the 200 that are concentrating at Dayton, Ohio, for these maneuvers, which promise to be the most spectacular ever held. The planes must be assembled at Dayton by sunset this afternoon. Operations begin Wednesday.

One of the outstanding feats of the maneuvers will be the "bombing" of New York City by a plane that will be refueled twice in midair during the 1,500-mile journey. Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, assistant chief of the Army Air Corps, left Bolling Field yesterday, piloted by Capt. Frank Hunter, for the maneuvers. Maj. Ira Longanecker, chief of the Air Corps information section; Lieut. Arthur I. Ennis and Capt. Harold McClelland also left for the maneuvers.

Secretary of War Good announced that he would be unable to attend the demonstration. Assistant Secretary Davison expects to attend, however.

Speaker's Wife Sits Beside Mrs. Gann on Capitol Visit

Society note: Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister of the Vice President, had as her guest at the Capitol yesterday Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House.

Believe it or not, it is so. A popeyed band of Senate reporters are ready to swear that it is so. But it was not nearly so formal as it sounds.

The two women—principals in the "social battle of the century"—ran into each other at the Capitol yesterday under circumstances that were as funny as they were dramatic, and a few minutes later they were sitting together in the Senate gallery.

The encounter took place in an elevator on Mrs. Gann's side of the Capitol while both were on their way to the gallery to hear Senator Brookhart administer his long-advertised lashing to Senator Fess for calling him a "pseudo Republican."

Who spoke first or what was said is not known; perhaps they spoke simultaneously. At any rate, Mrs. Gann invited Mrs. Longworth to share the Vice President's seats in the Senate gallery, and the ambushed Mrs. Longworth accepted. It was all very gracious.

Had the meeting been prearranged, it would have meant, of course, that

A CORRECTION

In its Sunday issue The Post printed an article telling of a testimonial of appreciation given in honor of Col. M. D. Hall, divisional superintendent of schools, in the Bailey's Cross Roads Colored School, Fairfax County, Va.

Mistake of World Expert On Snakes Costs His Life

Charles E. Snyder, Former Keeper of Bronx Zoo, Is Bitten by Mate of Rattler He Captures on Hunt; Serum Fails to Work.

Suffern, N. Y., May 13 (U.P.).—"My friends"—rattlesnakes—as Charles E. Snyder, world authority on poisonous reptiles, often referred to them in lectures, finished him today.

Snyder, 58, and former head keeper at the Bronx Zoo, died in Good Samaritan Hospital here after making the "one mistake" disallowed his profession. In his eagerness to capture a large bull rattler in the Ramapo Hills Sunday afternoon, he forgot about the serpent's mate.

Two administrations of serum failed to rectify the error. Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, America's greatest snake expert, arrived at the hospital with a third injection, a quantity of powerful Brazilian serum, only to learn that his old friend had been dead half an hour.

Before he lapsed into the dreamy coma from which he never emerged, Snyder told what had occurred.

With another Snyder, Paul, he was seeking to replenish his supply of rattlers in the woods about three miles from here early Sunday afternoon. Paul was lost to sight some distance away when the elderly reptile expert caught sight of a big rattler. It was 4 feet long and trailed at least a dozen buttons.

Snyder stooped swiftly, nipped his forked stick over its head with his left hand and with his right hand gripped the big fellow just behind the point where its bony skull pivoted on its vertebrae. He was about to thrust it into his bag when something happened

000 does not figure in the total of school estimates, being submitted as a list from which the Commissioners could select substitutes for projects placed by the school authorities in their total estimates of $13,700,000.

Surpass 1930 Figures.

The total appropriations for schools in the 1930 appropriations act is $11,-984,600. In their 1931 estimates the school authorities asked for $2,565,000 for new school buildings and an additional $437,000 for the purchase of additional sites. The 1930 appropriation for buildings is $1,835,000 and for land $517,000 is provided.

But not only the schools asked for material increase over the 1930 appropriations but the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks also asked for an increase of 66 per cent over the 1930 appropriations, including hundreds of thousands of dollars for the development of park lands and recreation centers in addition to requesting the usual $1,000,000 for the purchase of additional park lands.

Practically all of the departments of the District government asked for an increase in their estimates.

Report That Dempsey Hit Pugilist Is Denied

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—A general round of denials today met publication of a story that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, had struck Joe Benjamin, former lightweight, during an altercation at a party in a local hotel last Saturday night.

Friends of Dempsey denied the former champion had hit Benjamin. One friend, Gene Normile, his one-time manager, went further and said Dempsey was not even at the hotel when Benjamin was there. Normile's version of the story was that Benjamin had attempted to enter the hotel, had gone to Dempsey's suite, and had been ejected.

7 Believed Drowned By Texas River Rise

Family Swept Off Tree as Reserve Boat Is Capsized.

Dallas, Tex., May 13 (A.P.).—Reports received here from Livingston, Tex., tonight said seven people were believed to have drowned near there when the Trinity River and its tributaries overflowed their banks.

A family of four was reported drowned at Long Kain, 3½ miles from Livingston after a rescue boat, which sought to take them off a tree to which they clung capsized. Rescue workers in the boat said the family was swept away. At Lamont, another nearby community, where the water was rising rapidly several families were perched on house tops and trees.

Scores of Livingston residents were driven from their homes. The Southern Pacific Railway tracks between Livingston and Corrigan were washed out and deep water marooned scores of motorists.

Smithsonian Gets Collection of Art

Gellatly Treasures, Valued at Over $250,000, to Be U. S. Exhibit.

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—The art collection of John Gellatly, of New York, including what is said to be one of the finest groups of American paintings in private hands, is to become a national art treasure by gift of Mr. Gellatly to the national gallery of the Smithsonian Institution.

The collection also includes rare porcelain, pottery, examples of jewelry, Gothic sculptures in stone and wood, tapestries and stained glass. Twenty-three American paintings and 22 water colors and pastels, which were added a year ago, were estimated to have cost $250,000.

Among the artists represented were James A. McNeil Whistler, John S. Sargent, Winslow Homer, Abbott Thayer and Frank Duveneck.

EDWARD WESTON, 90, NOTED WALKER, DIES

Veteran of More Than 1,000 Athletic Events Passes Away in Brooklyn.

BEFRIENDED BY WRITERS

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Edward Payson Weston, famous pedestrian and veteran of more than 1,000 athletic events, died today at his home in Brooklyn. He was 90 years old.

Mr. Weston, whose first claim as a long-distance walker dated back to 1861, had been ill since he was struck by a taxicab here two years ago. Recently, after taking a ride out in a wheel chair on his ninetieth birthday, he had expressed the hope that he might be able to engage in walking in warm weather.

Twice in 1926 the aged pedestrian was found wandering through the streets of New York apparently in a daze, some time after disappearing from Philadelphia, where he then resided. Before his second disappearance his niece, Mrs. Anna O'Hagen, expressed the opinion that he had gone away because he was unable to bear the thought that he, all his savings gone, was forced to live on her slender income and might even become a public charge.

Friends Rally to Aid.

A little more than two years ago he was found nearly destitute in a tiny East Side flat. He had applied for a job as a messenger to save himself, it was said, from starvation. Friends contributed money and food and the New York Press Club, taking the initiative because Weston once had been a police reporter in New York, organized a committee to administer a fund for the pedestrian and designated 100 newspapers throughout the country to receive public subscriptions.

Meanwhile, the man who had walked across the continent in 100 days suffered a paralytic stroke in his little flat.

Later a $30,000 fund was set aside for him by Anne Nichols, playwright and producer, which assured him a $150 monthly income.

Two years ago, somewhat improved in health, Mr. Weston had a cheerful eighty-eighth birthday as guest of honor at a luncheon of the Press Club. On that occasion he was presented with a solid silver figure of a winged victory inscribed to "E. P. Weston, Champion Walker." A short time later he was struck by an automobile while on his way to church to give thanks in prayer for the aid that had been given him.

Never Regained Strength.

Although he was able to return to his home from the hospital, he never regained his strength, and friends said one of the saddest days of his life was his ninetieth birthday when he was unable to take his customary anniversary walk.

(Associated Press.)

Edward Payson Weston, one of the most famous of long-distance pedestrians, seemed to have legs and feet that never tired. Although only 22 when he took his first long walk, 443 miles, from Boston to Washington, to attend the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln, the most remarkable feats of his long career were accomplished after he had passed threescore and ten. He continued taking long-distance hikes until his eighty-fourth year, in which he walked from Buffalo to New York City, completing the trip nearly two days ahead of his schedule.

His walk from Boston to Washington, covered in 208 hours, attracted considerable attention and prompted Weston to start on a professional career as a pedestrian. His first feat as such was a walk from Portland, Me., to Chicago in 1867, covering 1,326 miles in 26 days. Forty years later he duplicated that trip and although he walked 19 more miles he bettered his previous record by 29 hours.

COLORED CANDIDATE PASSES NAVY TESTS

Capital Youth Appointed by De Priest to Annapolis Qualifies With 669.

2 OTHERS ARE REJECTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 13.—The possibility of a negro entering the United States Naval Academy as a midshipman this summer loomed today, when results of the April entrance examinations for admission were announced by authorities of the academy following approval by the Navy Department. He is Charles E. Weir and he was appointed as an alternate by Oscar De Priest, of Chicago, the only negro representative in Congress.

Weir was named as an alternate to Laurance A. Whitefield, another negro, who was disqualified because of being beyond the age limit. Claude H. H. Burns, another negro, appointed as a principal, by De Priest, failed in the examination record. Weir passed what are known as the substantiation test in mathematics and English, that is being a holder of a certificate from an accredited school, he was exempt in all but those branches. In the ordinary course of things an admission as a midshipman depends entirely upon his qualification in the physical examinations to be conducted at the Naval Academy, beginning early in June.

Only three negroes have entered the naval institution in its long history of 84 years. These entered some 30 or more years ago and none of them completed the four-year course.

It is stated that over 1,700 youngsters took the test, and the reports show that a total of 669 passed. This number included 125 youths appointed from the enlisted personnel, many of whom had been preparing for the tests at the naval base at Hampton Roads, Va.; 185 who qualified in the regular April tests; 344 who passed the substantiation tests in mathematics and English, and 15 others appointed from the reserve force of the Navy. Thirty-eight of those who measured up to the required standard are presidential appointees.

Among the group who passed the substantiation tests is Ernest T. Jancke, son of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who was appointed from Louisiana.

Most of the presidential appointees who qualified are boys from Washington, or sons of officers now in the naval service. These are C. S. Hentz, jr., J. T. Blackburn, R. M. Emery (California), Richard Lane (Minnesota), R. A. Dawes, jr., R. E. Rozeadew, C. T. Crubbs, jr. (Kentucky), J. V. Chase, N. J. Dustrup, C. C. Kirby, E. C. Schneider, H. J. Atwood, jr. (Illinois), H. Harrington, jr., R. J. Post (California), H. I. Schwab (New York), L. M. Stevens, jr., F. M. Sinclair, W. V. Pratt, D. W. Twigg, T. W. South (Rhode Island), L. R. Neville, R. H. Hird, C. F. Garrison, W. L. Corbin, M. F. Morse, R. F. Hake, D. L. Kauffman, Morgan Slayton, Philip Yarnell (Iowa), J. A. Cygon (Kansas), F. R. Asserson, T. H. Lindblad, John Ramee, E. H. C. Fredericks, J. N. Ferguson, J. S. Blakely (Alabama), E. G. Wygant, C. B. Farwell (Minnesota). The above names are given in the order of merit standing in the tests.

Charles Edward Weir, a freshman in the University of Chicago, who took the Naval Academy candidate tests there on April 17, graduated from the Dunbar High School in the class of 1928. He was a member of the Twenty-fourth regiment of the high school cadets, graduating with the rank of captain, with the assignment of staff officer.

He is the son of Raymond Weir, 917 Euclid street northwest, for many years an employe in the Agricultural Department, and the nephew of William Weir, also employed there. All members of the family here came originally from Chicago. Felix Fowler Weir, an uncle of the successful Annapolis candidate, a violinist, for several years was employed here in the music department of the public schools, before going to New York.

Loss of $6,000 Laid To Landlady's Ruse

Man Says Money Went to Her Instead of "Girl" He Woed by Mail.

Chicago, May 13.—For six years Henry Redfeldt wooed a comely young maiden by mail. Correspondence sparking doesn't include movie shows and such, so Henry sent money—$6,000 in all.

The girl wasn't!

Henry told Judge Edgar A. Jones today that his correspondence sweetheart had been woven out of the imagination of his former landlady, who, he charges, got the money. He asked a warrant for her arrest.

The money was sent, he said, to an address in Wisconsin given to him by his landlady. She also had shown him a picture and urged him to the romance, he charged.

YOUTH DIES IN LEAP AT LIBERTY STATUE

LEAVES NOTE TO AUNT

New York, May 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—For the first time since the great green goddess first took her stand on Bedloes Island, the Statue of Liberty served today as the set for a dramatic suicide.

A young man, who had been seen earlier in the day worrying his way about the tiny island, climbed up the iron stairs which penetrate the head of the goddess. He waited until tourists had abandoned the platform with its windows, which form the crown of liberty, hoisted himself to the window ledge and crawled through the narrow aperture of the center window. For a moment he hung with hands clutching the framework of the window.

The few who saw this human speck above the curving front hair of the goddess watched him try to get back through that window. His foot, caught for a moment on the curve of the goddess' fore hair, slipped. The body tumbled down, bouncing from the swelling breast of the statue and falling feet foremost on the turf above the star-shaped remnants of old Fort Wood.

An aged civil service employe was mowing the small plot of green about the stone base when the body struck, the feet digging some 5 or 6 inches into the turf. Officers of the military police company, garrisoned at Fort Wood, estimated the drop to be a good 250 feet, if not more. The total height of the statue from the base is 305 feet.

The body was found to be that of Ralph Gleason, 22. A note, found scrawled on an envelope in a pocket of the dark suit with its pencil stripe, read, "Dear Aunt Molly: Please forgive me and pray for me."

Six dollars, a Testament and a collection of Catholic medals were found in a suit pocket. The gray coat and brown felt hat were found neatly rolled up on the platform from which Gleason climbed.

Aunt Molly was said by John Gleason, an uncle of the boy, to live at Chappequa, N. Y. The boy visited him Sunday night, he said, was in good spirits and there was no reason he knew of for what the medical examiner's office branded an unquestionable suicide.

The boy had been out of work recently, his uncle said, and before that had done odd jobs. He carried a food handler's license.

Information obtained from Army headquarters in New York showed that Gleason's was the first suicide in which Liberty has figured.

Carol's Defender Expelled by Maniu

Roumanian Senator Angers Audience by Praising Former Crown Prince.

Bucharest, Roumania, May 13 (A.P.). Senator Mihai Cornescu, a member of the National Peasant party, created a sensation today by stating that former Crown Prince Carol was the bravest soldier the country had produced after Michael the Brave, Roumania's national hero and first king.

The senator declared that every Roumanian at this time of celebration of "Greater Roumania" must honor Roumania's living hero, who was in lingering exile and "whose bravery and patriotism during the war was responsible in no small degree for Roumania's victory."

Astonished and incensed, the senator's audience left the hall. Premier Maniu, leader of the Peasant party, ordered the expulsion of Cornescu from the party, and it is expected that the senate will abrogate his mandate as a member of that body.

PHILIP DUPONT LEFT HUGE TRUST FUNDS

U. S. DEMANDS $700,000

Coatesville, Pa., May 13 (A.P.).—Three additional trust funds totaling $16,000,-000, created by the late Philip F. du Pont, have been uncovered by tax investigators in Chester County and bring his whole estate to an estimated figure of $24,000,000. The University of Virginia, which he attended, may receive the major portion of this estate, it was revealed.

As a result of the revelation of these trust funds, the investigators have filed a demand for $700,000 additional inheritance taxes.

Du Pont died May 17, 1928. Under his will his personal estate, valued at $8,000,000, was left in trust to the widow, Elizabeth H. du Pont. Upon her death the fund would go in trust for his two daughters and should they die without children the estate would then go to the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

The three trust funds recently uncovered were created several years ago. One fund, totaling $11,000,000, is to provide $6,000,000 for the University of Virginia for the education of needy students. The balance and the other two funds are left for the widow and daughters with the provision that should there be no other descendants the University of Virginia shall receive all but $4,000,000.

Stone Leaves Estate Of $2,000 to Daughter

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—The entire estate of Melville E. Stone, counselor of the Associated Press, who died February 15, was left to his daughter, Elizabeth Stone, his will filed for probate today disclosed. The estate is estimated to be not more than $2,000.

The entire estate was left to the daughter, the will said, "with the knowledge and at the suggestion" of Mrs. Martha J. Stone, his widow. Mrs. Stone had been otherwise provided for, the will said.

Girl Given Control Of $2,500,000 Fund

Miss Baur Inherits Two-Thirds of Carbonic Gas Magnate's Estate.

Chicago, May 13 (U.P.).—Miss Rosemary Baur, 18, became Chicago's richest girl today when a fortune estimated at $2,500,000 was turned over to her control.

The money represents two-thirds of the estate of her father, the late Jacob Baur, who owned the Liquid Carbonic Co. The widow received one-third of the estate.

Mrs. Baur, who had assumed management of the company after her husband's death, sold their holdings two years ago for $4,000,000.

A. F. Knotts, State Chairman, Removed by Resolution; Skipper Wins.

TO CONTROL PATRONAGE

(Associated Press.)

Administration officials dealing with patronage questions in the South received yesterday with undisguised surprise the news that A. F. Knotts had been deposed as chairman of the Florida Republican State committee by the forces led by Glenn B. Skipper, Republican national committeeman for that State.

"That makes the situation more intricate," said Postmaster General Brown, chairman of the administration committee of three, when apprised of the committee's action. He was referring to a situation created by the setting up of separate patronage committes by Skipper and Knotts.

Awaits Official Reports.

Beyond this the Postmaster General would not comment, explaining that he would await official reports on the action and also information as to whether the call for the special meeting of the State committee was issued in due form. The call was sent out by S. S. McCahill, of Miami, vice chairman, after Chairman Knotts had refused to issue it.

While friends here of Mr. Skipper expected him to win his fight against Knotts, the size of the majority surprised them. At first blush they were inclined to the opinion that the result would be full recognition of the national committeeman by the administration.

While this development in the Florida situation was in progress, there were reports in seemingly informed circles that further developments might be expected in the Georgia patronage committee situation with at least a partial victory for the forces in that State who worked during the campaign with Horace A. Mann, a Washington lawyer, who directed the Hoover campaign in the South.

Situations Nearly Identical.

The Florida and Georgia situations are almost identical, with two separate patronage committees set up. In Georgia Postmaster General Brown himself organized a new committee, whereas in Florida the rival committee to that named by Skipper was organized by Knotts.

Postmaster General Brown declined to recognize the Skipper committee on the ground that it was not representative. Knotts and W. J. Howey, the Republican candidate for governor last November, were not included in its membership. Knotts then named his own committee, which included besides himself, Skipper, Howey and J. Leonard Replogle, of New York and Palm Beach.

The Postmaster General said he had informed both Florida committees that he would be glad to receive patronage recommendations from them, but that in no case could either regard its recommendations as final. He explained that the administration reserved the right to pick its own men for public office if better ones could be found than those proposed by the State leaders.

South Jacksonville, Fla., May 13 (A. P.).—Having ousted A. F. Knotts, Yankeetown, Fla., as chairman of the State central Republican committee, the body meeting here today adopted this afternoon a resolution approving the "little cabinet" of Glenn B. Skipper, national committeeman.

The little cabinet was appointed by Skipper as an advisory board in the handling of patronage for the State and has been opposed by another patronage committee named by Knotts, Barclay H. Warburton and J. Leonard Replogle.

The resolution today placed the committee on record as favoring only such appointees as bear the indorsement of the national committeeman.

Control of Republican affairs in Florida, outside the power of the central committee in power, was vested in a new executive board named to replace the old executive committee.

Replogle and William J. Howey, both of whom have been identified with the patronage committee opposing the cabinet of Skipper, were named to the executive board.

Emil Fuchs Penalized $1,000 for Influencing Vote on Sunday Sports.

Boston, May 13 (A.P.).—Emil Fuchs, on behalf of the Boston National League Baseball Co., today pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of expending money to influence the vote on a question of Sunday baseball, submitted to the people, and was fined $1,000 in municipal court.

The charge was brought under the corrupt practices act, and the question referred to was the Sunday baseball referendum.

Orrin J. Brussie, secretary of the Outdoor Recreation League, which raised funds to further the campaign for Sunday sports, also entered the same plea to a charge of making a false statement of finances in a political campaign and was fined $200. It was found persons' names were listed as contributors to the league's fund without their consent.

Norfolk, Va., May 13 (A.P.).—Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and Assistant Secretary Ernest Lee Jahncke made a flying trip to the Hampton Roads Naval Operating Base and the Norfolk Navy Yard today for their first inspection of the local stations.

Arriving by plane from Washington at 10 a. m., the chiefs of the Navy Department in 5½ hours had inspected the naval base and the navy yard, partaken of luncheon at the home of Rear Admiral W. T. Cluverius, commandant of navy yard, and were on their way back to their desks in the Capital.

"I am most favorably impressed with the Hampton Roads Naval Operating Base and the Norfolk Navy Yard," Secretary Adams said, after he and his official party had completed their tour of inspection. "I find both the base and the yard in command of competent, efficient officers."

Fans Besiege Anne Morrow With Advice and Sales Talk

Mail Brings Pointers on Rearing Children, Suggestion to Elope, Request for Autographs as Day of Wedding With Lindbergh Approaches.

Englewood, N. J., May 13 (A.P.).—The "fan mail" that plays a part of every celebrity's daily difficulties and joys already is assuming a heavy role in the program of Anne Morrow, who is soon to become the bride of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Thousands of letters and hundreds of packages which pour in daily are making life almost a burden for the bride-to-be of the "flying colonel."

Each morning the postman staggers to the front door of the Morrow home with letters of advice and request and congratulations bearing the postmark of almost every State in the Union and nearly every country of the globe. Each afternoon the expressman dumps his burden at the rear.

A woman in the South advised Miss Anne to elope, a mother sent pointers on the rearing of children, another contributed counsel on how to carry on as the wife of a celebrity.

Churches request autographs to auction at sociables, brides ask trousseau pointers, wistful little girls who have admired Col. Lindbergh from afar want souvenirs. And almost every one else wishes to sell the couple anything from soap to automobiles.

The packages are various and sundry as to shape and contents. Bird cages, embroidered luncheon sets, books—even clothing—make up the collection which continues to arrive in increasing numbers.

Miss Anne is making no effort to write any letters except to her personal friends. A secretary has been detailed to handle the "fan mail," while the bride-to-be prepares for her coming wedding or slips away for a walk or a ride with the colonel.

BRITAIN'S SOCIALISM EXISTS IN MILD FORM

COMMUNISTS UNDER BAN

By RAYMOND GRAM SWING.

London, May 14.—Strictly speaking, there is no Socialist party in Great Britain.

The Labor party is no more intensely socialist than the Conservative party is intensely conservative. On the single issue, the redistribution of wealth, the Labor party differs from the others chiefly in the speed with which it would deprive the wealthy and benefit the poor.

It is not a Socialist party in the continental sense. Karl Marx did not write its bible. The dictatorship of the proletariat is not its goal. It is no cold-blooded exponent of economic determinism. It has its rise and impulse in British sentimentalism, in the heavy belief in right and wrong, in the revolt against poverty as an iniquity rather than as a folly.

That is why, when Ramsay MacDonald made his keynote speech in opening the campaign, he could go through his allotted time without mentioning the word socialism. That is why, too, his program as announced on that occasion sounded almost identical with the Liberal program.

Ideas Like Those of Liberals.

He, too, was going to cure unemployment, and his cure simply paraphrased that of Lloyd George.

He, too, was going to help reconstruct industry with a general staff composed of a cabinet committee, a scheme the Liberal party expounded nearly two years ago.

He, too, would tax land values, an old Liberal proposal.

Here and there he varied from the Liberal theses in detail, particularly that in the Labor plans workers would have a greater share in consultations.

But in essence it was the same doctrine, in the same terminology.

He spent much time proving that Lloyd George had stolen his ideas from the Labor party. He argued effectively and correctly that it was the Labor party which first made unemployment a political issue, and had kept it one, and that Lloyd George had had his chance to cure it and had failed.

But if he was out to make the impression that Labor would be no more dangerous than Liberalism, he made it.

Was this window dressing? Is the present mildness of British socialism a mask worn for catching votes? Or has the fervent pioneer socialist movement of Britain mellowed as it has gathered force?

Change in Labor Party.

All the questions can be answered with "yes."

There is some window dressing to the Labor campaign. Any party with so strong a left wing as the Labor extremists, and so dependent on it for success, can not expect the verdict "not radical."

MacDonald is not very radical now, but with a working majority behind him he would make the sudden and painful discovery of the need of becoming a real "red." Not in the Moscow sense, but he would have to think a lot more about such things as nationalization "in our time," including that delicate matter, the state control of credit.

But it is true, the labor movement has gone through a change since the general strike. Three years ago men in it could be stirred by impassioned themes of power, and dreams of holding England in their grip, and doing what they liked with the state.

All that has passed. The communist virus has been driven out of the labor body. A Communist can no longer belong to the Labor party, can no longer be chosen a labor Labor candidate for any office, municipal or national. The great radical unions, such as the miners, have swung back to safety. With the miners has swung back A. J. Cook, the arch radical of Britain, once the avowed disciple of Moscow, now friend and admirer of the Prince of Wales, who burst out at a meeting recently with a tirade against Communists. Had he not fought for them, protected them, fed and clothed them? And yet they had proved themselves the most dishonorable group of men in the world.

Communist Strategy Fails.

The Communists heretofore have backed Labor candidates in their hope of getting control of the British working class movement. Their policy was to feel their way into the heart of the party and the unions, to create left-wing groups, organize minority revolts, to erect a sort of neutral section of radical workers, not outspkenly Communist, but ready to accept the label at the slightest provocation. British labor was to be captured from within.

That strategy signally failed, and now it has been reversed. The British Labor candidates ("dogs of betrayal," "boot-lickers of the bourgeoisie," as Moscow calls them) are to be defeated at the polls. So the Communists have put 25 candidates in the field, financed, one can be sure, by Moscow. Their ablest man, Henry Pollitt, is fighting MacDonald himself in his home town, Lossiemouth.

The Communists will do some harm to the Labor candidates. Curiously enough, they probably will save Sir Austen Chamberlain's seat for him in Birmingham, for there they share the opposition with a Labor candidate, though there is a slight chance of Sir Austen being beaten.

Sees Dawn of New Era.

The Labor movement does not look forward to Communism, instead it has seen the dawn of a new era, nationalization. Strangely enough, this dawned after the general strike, which in its way was the close of an old era. Labor is now for peace. That is not because it is pacifist but because it sees that industrialism has come upon new times, and these times are not to be held back. Better joint forces with capitalism and win something for Labor from the reorganization, said the Labor leaders, than keep crying old cries of old trade union days.

Out of this mood has come the Turner-Mond conference, and out of this conference has come the first meeting ever held between representatives of all employers and all unions in Britain. One has to prophesy gingerly as to what will come of all this new exploration. But one must recognize that a change has been wrought in ideas and tempers.

So all of McDonald's temperateness is not sham but bespeaks a different working class mind than the one so fiery with hopes and plans before 1926. Labor is growing older. Nor is the Labor party a young upstart. It held 54 seats in the House as far back as 1906. Its popular vote has risen steadily from 323,195 in that year to 5,457,529 in 1924.

Party Now Experienced.

It has gained much valuable experience. It has tasted the difference between the spice of being in the opposition and the rather sour responsibility of office. It has mastered the knack of Parliament and can debate as well as its opponents. It has the best research department of any party. Its brainy men have perhaps a shade more influence than the brainy men in the Tory or Liberal parties. It is a ripe, full-fledged, democratic party, as intrinsic a part of British public life as the Conservatives, more powerful and more virile than the Liberals.

The Dawes plan was introduced in Europe through the help of the Labor government, and as a force in international affairs the party is not to be minimized. MacDonald, with a free hand (which he did not have in 1924), is pledged to settle the issue of the freedom of the seas and end forever any naval controversy with America. He would strengthen the League of Nations, he would pledge Britain to arbitration on all disputes. He would encourage the urge toward self-government in the colonies. He would recognize Russia, not chiefly because Russia is a socialist state, but because he believes recognition will stimulate trade.

Want Conciliation Abroad.

The labor movement is neither nationalist nor imperialist. What is more, the movement does take an interest in peace. The labor campaign is being fought on peace as well as unemployment, and the response to the peace plank, though not so strong, is at any rate much stronger than in the other two parties.

Sir Austen Chamberlain is not popular with the working man, nor are Bridgeman and Amery, the colonial secretary. British labor would like to see a more conciliatory spirit abroad and less of the old-fashioned faith in power which still dominates the admiralty and, it thinks, too often the foreign office.

And because of this attitude it has a broader appeal than a class movement might otherwise expect. Its peacee policy will get many votes, especially from women, which might otherwise go to one of the traditional parties.

ZEPPELIN TO START TRIP TO AMERICA TOMORROW

GORILLA TO CROSS OCEAN ON ZEPPELIN

59 Persons Will Be Aboard Dirigible When It Starts Trip Tomorrow.

28 ON PASSENGER LIST

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 13 (A. P.).—Fifty-nine human beings and one female gorilla constitute the passengers and crew of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin on her second voyage over the Atlantic to America, which is scheduled for the morning of May 15.

The Zeppelin works made the announcement today and all is now ready for the start.

The gorilla, bought from a zoological dealer in Hanover, is intended for the Chicago Zoo.

Among the paying passengers there are two who are internationally known. They are the Arctic explorer, Sir Hubert Wilkins and Alexander von Krayha, Ukrainian inventor and engineer, whose ciphering and deciphering machine enabled newspaper correspondents who held the monopoly of dispatches on the Zeppelin's first voyage to insure the secrecy of their messages.

Sir Hubert desires to make special navigation studies during the voyage.

Von Krayha, who is also an expert in radio operation, wishes personally to test the efficacy of his ciphering machine under adverse atmospheric conditions.

The Graf Zeppelin with 28 passengers, including Sir Hubert Wilkins, this evening made a test flight over Lake Constance for about two hours as a final check-up before its voyage.

Present indications are that quiet weather may be expected over the Atlantic during most of the airship's crossing. Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, expects to take the route via the Azores.

A lone stowaway, a painter's assistant, 18 years old, tried to smuggle himself aboard the Zeppelin, but was discovered.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin Company, today emphatically denied that the transatlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin had been sold or that he was negotiating for its sale in the United States.

He told the Associated Press today that all such reports were erroneous.

GERMAN CONDITIONS ON DEBTS REVEALED

Postponement of Payments and Suspension of Transfers Are Demanded.

REVISION RIGHT IS ASKED

Paris, May 13 (A.P.).—The mouths of the usual spokesmen for the experts of the reparations conference were sealed tonight as far as news of the experts' work was concerned, but the best available information was that two of the Germans' three conditions under which they were willing to accept the annuities plan proposed by Chairman Owen D. Young were put into the report of the second Dawes committee today by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the Berlin delegation. These were shown to Emile Moreau, chief of the French delegation.

The first of these conditions demands the right of Germany to call for suspension of transfers of half the protected part of annuities at any time that it may be found too burdensome to continue payments.

The second demands the right for postponement for two years of even payments in Germany to the reparations agent of half the protected payments, in the same case.

Revision Right Asked.

The third condition is Germany's demand for the right to call for revision of any plan decided upon now whenever it appears that payments under it are no longer possible without upsetting German finances. A new international conference of experts would then be called to reconsider the settlement.

The Germans also cling to the hope that the experts will admit another condition, to the effect that the last 21 annuities shall be paid out of the profits of an international bank to be created at the present conference.

The French experts were silent as to the impression made upon them by the text of the German conditions already inserted in the report being prepared under the direction of Sir Josiah Stamp. French opinion close to the experts is, however, that the postponement clause is asking too much. It seemed to be felt also that the Reich's demand for revision or settlement at a subsequent date was unacceptable.

Jugoslavia Refuses Reduction.

An official note from Belgrade was published here today, stating that Jugoslavia would accept no reduction in its percentage of reparations payments.

Some of the experts are beginning to show signs of impatience at the repeated delays of work in the conference. It is understood that the Americans are thinking about getting on their way homeward perhaps at the end of the week.

In order to wind up the committee's work by that time it will be necessary for the experts to agree on their report not later than Wednesday. If they have not agreed by that date, it will probably be proposed that the extant report be forwarded to the reparations commission and to the governments concerned, leaving them to find a solution for points still unsettled.

SPEAKER'S WIFE MEETS MRS. GANN; THEY TALK

the social battle was over; that the problem of precedence was settled, and that the two women were ready to break bread together. In view of what really did happen, however, nobody knows what it will mean, if anything.

Press Is Stirred.

As the two women walked into the Senate gallery newspaper reporters swung their gaze from Brookhart and stared. Then they rubbed their eyes and stared some more. Could they be seeing aright? Could these smiling women really be the two whose war has two continents and an island agog? It was.

If, at the height of the World War, Marshal Foch and Marshal Hindenburg had walked into the gallery together it could have caused no more excitement.

Observers remarked the smiles and the happy conversation of the two women, and one noticed that Mrs. Gann was wearing Mrs. Longworth's favorite color—Alice blue. Certainly, it was concluded, here was a truce.

Recognized "News" Value.

When the true circumstances of the meeting became known, however, it was realized that this conclusion had no foundation.

The two women sat in the gallery for perhaps ten minutes. Between them was Judge Charles H. Magaw, an official of the Union Pacific Railroad and a friend of the Vice President. Mrs. Longworth produced a lorgnette, swept the press gallery with her eyes and laughed heartily. She knew it was a good story.

Then Mrs. Longworth began to point out different senators to Mrs. Gann; for, although her husband presides at the other end of the Capitol, she spends as much, if not more, time on the Senate side, and is therefore familiar with who is who and what is what in that chamber.

Mrs. Longworth Amused.

Finally a newspaper man asked Mrs. Longworth to step out into the corridor, and she excused herself. While Mrs. Longworth was engaged with the newspaper man, Mrs. Gann and her escort also left the gallery and joined the Vice President below.

When it was all over, Mrs. Gann seemed a bit nervous, but Mrs. Longworth appeared to be having the time of her life.

"I got a great kick out of it," she said laughingly.

Alley Death Held To Be Accidental

Police Believe Victim Fell From Hotel Room or Was Hit by Car.

After an all-day investigation, police believe William Wilson Sykes, 33 years old, who was found fatally injured early yesterday morning in an alley in the rear of Mades' Hotel, 300 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, had fallen from a window in the hotel or had been struck by an automobile. Sykes died at Emergency Hospital, six hours after being found. Doctors said he died of a compound fracture of the skull and that friction burns on his forehead indicated he had slid on his face on a hard surface.

Police were unable to find any evidence of a fight in the neighborhood. Sykes' hat and shoes were found in a bathroom in the hotel, almost directly over where his body was found. Four men were arrested by police in connection with the case but were released early last night. There was no evidence on which to hold them, police said.

Sykes, according to the police, walked away from Gallinger Hospital Sunday where he had been assigned to clean debris from the grounds. He was recently sentenced in Police Court to serve 30 days for intoxication.

Raid on Residence Nets, 3, Still, Rum

Head of Vice Squad Spies on House; Jones Act Charges Filed.

Following up some undercover work on the part of Sergt. O. J. Letterman, the police vice squad, of which he is leader, raided a house at 1211 Otis place northwest yesterday afternoon and found a huge still in operation and a large amount of peach brandy and Mash. Three persons, two women and a man, were arrested and booked on charges of violating the Jones law.

Those arrested gave their names as Frank Nocinlino, 36 years old; his wife, Jessie Nocinlino, 34 years old, and Nellie Pittore, 19 years old, all of the Otis place address.

The police seized the still, 560 quarts of brandy, 1,500 gallons of mash and an automobile which they said contained three cases of whisky. Sergt. Letterman reported that he visited the place early yesterday morning after receiving a tip that the house was used for the manufacture and distribution of whisky. He stated that he saw some one dipping mash from a barrel, and returned to headquarters and planned the raid.

Repair of Street Car Bridge Is Undertaken

Repair of its No. 1 bridge, west of Thirty-sixth stree. northwest, on its Cabin John line, has been undertaken by the Washington Railway & Electric Co. Temporary wooden shoring, with which the bridge was braced, is to be replaced with steel shoring.

Repair of the bridge was ordered by the Public Utilities Commission after an examination by Clifford Whyte, District bridge engineer. A citizen complained to the commission that the bridge appeared to sway when street cars passed over it. The strength of the bridge is well within the strain put on it by passing street cars, it is said.

Norfolk, Va., May 13 (A.P.).—The United States submarine S-1, which developed engine trouble Sunday night off the Virginia Capes while en route from Guantanamo Bay to Newport, was towed to the Norfolk Navy Yard this afternoon by the Navy tug Owl.

News of the disabled vessel's plight was received at the Hampton Roads naval operating base Sunday night about 9 o'clock, and the Owl was sent to the scene to stand by. The S-1 will remain at the navy yard until repairs are completed. The trouble is said to be of a minor nature.

Healing Art Board Personnel Decided

Licensure Commission May Announce Science Unit Next Week.

Membership of the basic science board, the principal board it will appoint, was virtually decided on by the District Commission on Licensure, healing arts, at a meeting in the District Building yesterday.

No announcement of the names of the members agreed on was made, however, Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer and secretary-treasurer of the new commission, stating that some of those selected had not yet accepted. It is expected acceptances will be received later this week and the board will be formally named at the next meeting of the commission to be held in the District Building Monday.

At the same meeting the commission is expected to name he medical and osteopathic examining board. Each of these boards is to have five members. The basic science board must be selected from those in the five sciences—anatomy, physiology, chemistry, pathology and bacteriology. None of its members may be a practitioner or teacher of healing. The examining board is to have one homeopath, one osteopath and three medical men.

ROTHSTEIN DECLARED THIEVES GO-BETWEEN the names of Nicky Arnstein, another internationally known Broadway figure, his former wife, Fannie Brice, actress, and others more or less known to Broadway night life in 1927, when the robbery was committed.

On May 5 of that year Julius Berman, messenger for Taylor, Bates & Co., Wall street brokers, burst into the office and frantically told his employers how he had been held up and robbed of the $140,000 in securities.

Almuth C. Vandineer, attorney for the brokerage firm, who was acquainted with Arnstein, thought he might trace them, and called at Arnstein's home. In his absence Miss Brice answered Vandineer's call, and relayed his message, according to her own testimony, to her husband.

Nicky came back with a cautious feeler.

"Tell Gene McGee to go see him and find out what it's all about," he phoned the actress from Chicago. McGee at the time was Arnstein's attorney.

Informing himself of the situation, McGee found, he said, that Nicky knew nothing about the stolen bonds. The lawyer was disappointed, because he believed that if he could be instrumental in restoring the loot to the owners it would put him in the good graces of the brokerage firm's legal staff and help his application for reinstatement to the bar.

It was then he turned to Rothstein and begged him, as a personal friend, to help. The gambler demurred at first, but finally agreed, and in a few days the bonds were returned.

Rothstein, in his capacity of intermediary, paid the $13,400 necessary to recover the securities out of his own pocket and, according to McGee, made absolutely no profit on the deal, being given only that sum by the owners.

Contrary to what he had expected, McGee said, one of the attorneys for the brokerage firm reported the recovery to the district attorney's office, and McGee was arrested for his part in the dealings. The subsequent charges are those in which he is now on trial.

"WINDMILL" AIRPLANE IS FLOWN TO CAPITAL

tically, coming to a halt within a few feet after it reached the ground.

Officers and enlisted men crowded out and watched it taxi to the line. Pitcairn stopped the horizontal propellor and stepped to the ground to be greeted by Maj. Howard C. Davidson, commandant of the field.

A few minutes later Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of Air Corps, accompanied by Brig. Gen. W. E. Gillmore, new assistant chief of Air Corps, arrived and inspected the queer looking plane. Pitcairn then gave them a demonstration of its flying qualities.

According to Pitcairn, the autogiro was built in England and has been used by him as an experimental plane at the Pitcairn factory at Philadelphia. Although many improvements have been added, he said, the present plane does not perform as well as will later models built in this country are expected to perform.

The present model has no method of starting the "windmill" or horizontal propeller other than by taxiing around on the field until it has been started by air pressure. In the new model now under construction, Pitcairn said, the windmill will be started mechanically.

Even with its present limitations, the plane gave evidence of unusual possibilities. It landed almost vertically and took off within a distance of about 30 feet after the windmill had gathered speed. It has a top speed in the air, Pitcairn said, of 130 miles an hour, and he demonstrated at Bolling Field that it will hover almost motionless over one spot for a considerable length of time.

In the air, it handles no differently from the ordinary plane, he said, pointing out several recent refinements which have added to its flying qualities. One of these consisted of a pair of upturned vanes on the ends of the stubby wings set under the forward part of the fuselage. Allerons in these wings, and a tail assembly exactly like that of any other plane, control the autogiro in flight.

BROOKHART'S REPLY TO FESS TEMPERATE

HOOVER PACIFIES CHIEFS

(Associated Press.)

With President Hoover striving to reunite his divided forces in the Senate, party differences were brought up for a temperate discussion in that branch of Congress yesterday by Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, one of the revolters against the administration farm program.

Senator Brookhart was one of those recently condemned by Senator Fess, of Ohio, the Republican whip, as a "pseudo-Republican" for not standing by the President in his opposition to the export debenture provision of the farm measure. Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, and Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, were the others mentioned by name in the Fess letter.

Brookhart replied yesterday that "this psuedo business" is in the administration farm bill and "not in some of us Republicans."

Members Anticipated Reply.

An expectant membership had awaited Brookhart's promised reply to Senator Fess, but the Iowan devoted his speech almost entirely to the agricultural situation.

After Brookhart remarked that the dictionary defined "pseudo" as meaning "lying, false, counterfeit and spurious," Senator Fess hastened to remark that he picked the phrase from a speech by Senator Johnson (Republican), California.

Johnson, who also voted for the debenture plan, said the Ohioan would have done well to adopt "the entire speech of the senator from California, as well as a single phrase." Senator Brookhart interjected that this use of some of Senator Johnson's speech by Senator Fess "is the first ray of light coming from the senator from Ohio."

Hoover Entertains Leaders.

President Hoover Sunday had both Senator Borah and Senator Fess as his guests at the White House, the former to lunch and the latter to dinner. The Idahoan was invited shortly after issuance of the Fess letter last week, and this was followed by published reports that it was intended as a rebuke to the Ohio senator.

Senator Fess was invited to Sunday night dinner, along with Secretary and Mrs. Good, Senator Hebert, of Rhode Island; Representative Lehlbach, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Lehlbach and C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman for Virginia.

Addressing the Senate, Brookhart said he had first suggested the calling of a special congressional session to Mr. Hoover.

"I talked to him when he was a candidate as far back as July 12," the Iowan said. "I'd been down in the South investigating some standpat maneuvers. I suggested upon my return that we needed an extra session.

Conciliation of Coolidge Cited.

"That was the first suggestion, so far as I knew. Hoover and Dr. Work were present and they readily assented, but suggested that in order not to ruffle the feathers of President Coolidge, a provision be put in that an extra session would be contingent upon the failure of the short session to enact a farm bill.

"I didn't give it publicity at that time and, soon after, along came the Governor of Nebraska and the senator from Idaho (Borah) with similar suggestions.

"Now, the senator from Ohio has done me an injustice. I am no pseudo-Republican. I am a Progressive Republican and you will find that in the Congressional directory. And I didn't want a pseudo extra session for farm relief, but I am afraid that is what we have got."

The Senate Democrats, who have been quiet throughout the Republican quarrel, but have manifested some enjoyment of it, were all on hand yesterday for the promised reply of Brookhart. Some of the Republican independents had been reported anxious also to speak concerning the Fess letter assailing their support of debentures, but no other such speeches were forthcoming.

Herriot, War Leader, Loses Mayoralty Race

Paris, May 13 (A.P.).—Edouard Herriot, former premier and wartime minister of France, will surrender his post as Mayor of Lyons, which he has held for 21 years, as a result of a second municipal election there yesterday. He took his defeat philosophically. "No flowers, by request," he said. "I am beaten; I shall retire."

In the three-cornered race of a week ago, the former premier led easily with his racidal Socialists and some radical support over the Socialists. In yesterday's poll, however, a coalition of the left wing radicals and the Socialists brought about his defeat, returning a radical Socialist minority to the Lyons municipal council.

Hoover Asked to Write Law Enforcing Paper

(Associated Press.)

At the request of Dr. Louis Newton, Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, called on President Hoover yesterday to ask that he send a message on law enforcement in Georgia to the Christian Index, a Baptist Church publication, of which Dr. Newton is editor. The Index supported Mr. Hoover in the recent campaign.

The message which the President is asked to write would be used in a law enforcement drive now in progress in Georgia. The President did not indicate to Senator Harris whether he would comply.

DEBENTURE FIGHT MAY GO TO TARIFF

about the Capitol. Just who were the "Eastern administration senators" is not known, but the incident serves to show how the debenture might be better handled by its opponents when it is involved with the tariff bill.

But if the progressive Republicans and Democrats keep their alliance, it is difficult to see how the "disfavor" of the "Eastern administration senators" can mean anything, except that they could prevent any tariff bill at all.

Borah Favors Proposal.

It is known to have been Senator Borah's attitude all along that the administration would be better off if it confined the debenture fight to the tariff bill alone. There is reason to believe that he gave Mr. Hoover this idea when he went to the White House for luncheon Sunday, the result of Senator Fess, of Ohio, having called him a "pseudo Republican."

The President and the Idaho senator had full opportunity for a frank discussion as the senator and Mrs. Borah were the only luncheon guests.

The Ohio senator was called into the dinner party, at which there were several guests, apparently in order that the White House would not be placed in the light of taking sides. The President is having trouble with his invitations.

Coincident with the other week-end developments and bearing on the plan to shift the debenture fight, Mr. Hoover was authoritatively represented yesterday as being dissatisfied with the tariff bill in general and several items in particular.

Would Aid Farmer Only.

He has taken steps, it is said, to have some of the proposed farm schedules increased and the proposed industrial rates reduced, generally to bring the bill in line with his conception of a tariff revision for the farmer and not for everybody.

The House leaders are planning to hoist some of the farm rates but the President is represented as feeling that the Senate will offer the better opportunity of getting a bill that will more fully reflect his "limited revision" views.

This representation of the President's mind seems strange because it is the Senate that has been giving him the most trouble. The House has been going around cackling that it was not only the fair-haired but the more intelligent body.

This presidential attitude, however, may serve to get the farm bill out of the way, come what may on the tariff.

U. S. Will Increase Border Rum Force

Patrols From South to Be Assigned to Duty on Canadian Line.

(Associated Press.)

Combined efforts of three branches of the Treasury will be put forth this summer to stop smuggling of liquor across the Canadian border. Assistant Secretary Lowman said yesterday the prohibition service in addition to increasing its agents along the border will employ airplane patrols to search out and report efforts to run liquor across the lines.

Customs agents in the Northern States also will exert efforts to stop smuggling in their territory, while the Coast Guard will send out river and lake patrols to make it increasingly difficult for rum runners to carry on their operations.

Forces which are concentrated in the South in the winter are being transferred to the North, Lowman said, with all three branches cooperating against the smugglers.

Wickersham Will Lead Crime Inquiry

Commission's Full Personnel to Be Officially Announced Soon.

(United Press.)

George W. Wickersham, internationally known lawyer and Attorney General in the Taft administration, will become chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement investigating commission, it was learned authoritatively last night.

Wickersham, a former president of the American Bar Association, consented recently to become a member of the commission, which will investigate prohibition enforcement, but asked further time to consider the President's request that he head the commission.

As head of the commission, Wickersham will have charge of an investigation, which will cover not only prohibition, but all forms of law violation. The commission also is to recommend changes in present judicial procedure to secure more accurate and speedy justice. Formal announcement of the appointment of Wickersham and other members of the commission is expected within a few days.

ROME ACCORD FIXES TWO SOVEREIGNTIES

CLEARS UP EQUIVOCATION

Rome, May 13 (A.P.).—Two sovereignties, sharply distinct and well differentiated, perfectly and reciprocally recognized, was the way in which Premier Mussolini described the recent Lateran accord before the Chamber of Deputies today.

By the accord, the premier said, Rome had become the real Catholic capital of the world and at the same time the real political capital of Italy.

The chamber was crowded and the premier twice received two enthusiastic ovations, first when he entered the chamber and again when he rose to speak.

He began by thanking the committee of eighteen which had examined the Lateran accord and its reporter, Deputy Solmi, who, he said, had done excellent work.

Commenting on the formula for conciliation: "A free sovereign church; a free sovereign state" Premier Mussolini said that by this they might find themselves faced with equivocation and it was urgent therefore to clear it up. Such a formula might cause a belief that there were two sovereignties coexistent, but they did not coexist; on the one side there was the Vatican City and on the other the Kingdom of Italy.

"We must persuade ourselves that between the Italian state and the Vatican City there is a disjance which can be measured in thousands of kilometers, even though five minutes suffice to go to see the latter state and ten to traverse its frontiers," said the premier. "There therefore are two sovereignties, sharply distinct and well differentiated, perfectly and reciprocally recognized."

The premier said that the church was not exactly free because "in its institutions and its men it comes under the general laws of the state and is also subjected to the special clauses of the concordat—for which reason the situation can be defined thus: The state, supreme in the Kingdom of Italy, the Catholic Church with certain preeminence loyally and voluntarily recognized."

Turning to the time of Premier Cavour, he paid tribute to his courage and statesmanship, but criticized Cavour's handling of the Roman question and his definition, "A free church in a free state."

"There is only one country of the white race in which the Cavour formula seems to have found its application—the United States. There is really a free state and sovereign and the churches are free, but why? Because in the United States there is a regular dust cloud of religions among which the state can not choose any one or protect any one."

He deduced that such a system would not work in Italy because "citizen is catholic and catholic is citizen."

Hoover Oil Policy Inquiry Is Sought

Investigation Is Requested by King Resolution on Legality.

(United Press.)

The Senate judiciary committee yesterday referred to a subcommittee for study the resolution by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, calling for investigation of the legality of President Hoover's oil conservation policy. King is on the subcommittee. The other members are Senators Hastings, Delaware, and Burton, Ohio, Republicans.

The resolution declares that the Constitution vested Congress with the right to regulate and dispose of Government lands, and questions President Hoover's action in modifying present policy by stopping drilling on Government lands without consent of Congress.

Hastings received an opinion yesterday from Solicitor E. C. Finney of the Interior Department holding that the President's program is legal. He held that the oil-leasing act of 1920 gave the President "discretionary powers."

Rediscount Rate Rise At Minneapolis Told

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Reserve Board announced yesterday that the Federal Reserve Bank of Indianapolis will increase the rediscount rate on all classes of paper from 4½ to 5 per cent, effective May 14.

The increase in the rate at Minneapolis makes eleven of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks now charging 5 per cent rediscount rates. San Francisco is the only bank retaining the old rate of 4½ per cent.

RADIO SEEN MAKING ALL MEN NEIGHBORS

Howard Professor Predicts Universal Language in Institute Talk.

DR. HOYT TAYLOR SPEAKS

Speaking of what he termed "The Second World," Dr. A. C. Kennelly, professor of electrical engineering at Harvard University, envisioned civilization advance greatly and amity developed between all nations through the medium of the radio at the Institute of Radio Engineers meeting last night in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

Comparative in time, he said, half way around the world is only 60 feet, because of the rapidity of travel of the radio wave over that of sound wave.

And because of this fact, Dr. Kennelly said, all the world will be one neighborhood through the radio. He pictured all nations living in amity through the development of an universal language for the radio, and said that in time the United States, because of the radio, is likely to become the music center of the world, and that radio will do much toward purifying speech by elliminating dialect.

The convention opened during the morning at the Mayflower Hotel with an elaborate program of technical discussions. Sight-seeing tours around Washington occupied most of the afternoon.

Addresses were made by Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor, chief of the United States Naval Research Laboratory radio division, and president of the International Radio Engineers, and by Dr. Kennelly at an informal dinner at the hotel.

A joint meeting of the International Scientific Radio Union is to be held this morning at the National Academy of Sciences Building.

They say "Opportunity knocks but once." Every day the Classified columns of The Washington Post carry opportunities in most every line of business.

Canada Holds Four U. S. Fishing Boats

Violated International Pact, Says Patrol Skipper. Fifth Craft Freed.

Prince Rupert, British Columbia, May 13 (A.P.).—Four of five American fishing craft seized by the Canadian government fisheries patrol vessel Malaspina were being held here today pending the outcome of charges that the American vessels were within Canadian waters. All the ships are from Seattle.

No reason was given for the release of the fifth American boat, the Puritan. A sixth American vessel was left undisturbed in Goose Island Harbor, near here, as she was obviously making repairs.

Capt. Laird, of the Malaspina, said the American boats were within Canadian waters in violation of international fishing regulations.

The fishermen claimed that they had put into port to make repairs, which is permissible under the rules.

HANDS OF BYRD TIED IN STUDENT SLAYING

Governor Has No Authority to Call Inquiry in Rum Chase Shooting.

LEAVES ISSUE TO COURT

Richmond, Va., May 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Harry F. Byrd was today advised by Leon M. Bazile, assistant attorney general, that he has no authority to order an official investigation of the recent fatal shooting by law enforcement officers in Washington and Patrick Counties.

The governor said that the killing of J. W. Kendrick, 17-year-old Emory and Henry College student, recently was a case that should be handled by the Washington County Circuit Court.

He has received a report of the fatal shooting of Harry Roberts, Patrick County, who was killed while officers were raiding his place near Stuart. Officers in this case were exonerated by coroner's jury.

Three officers—James McReynolds, Abingdon policeman, and James Crowe and J. W. Worley—who were chasing the car occupied by Kendrick when the youth was killed, were arrested on a murder charge on a warrant sworn out by a relative of Kendrick. They are at liberty under $5,000 bond. Crowe is reported seriously ill from "nervous prostration and heart ailment" at his home near Glade Springs, Va.

The officers said they fired "at the tires" of the machine in which Kendrick was riding. In the car with Kendrick were Paul Phelps and Sterling Dutton. The officers said they were informed that Dutton and Phelps were drunk and disorderly. The two young men were later arrested but denied that any of the party was drinking or raising a disturbance.

29 TEXTILE STRIKERS ARRESTED, RELEASED

500 STRIKE IN CAROLINA

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 13 (A.P.).—Twenty-nine strikers were arrested today on charges of intimidating workers of the textile mills here, but were released by Sheriff J. M. Moreland a few minutes after they were placed in jail.

The men, national guardsmen said, were stopping automobiles on the Stoney Creek road and warning workers not to return to their jobs. The picketing began at dawn. Guardsmen at the plant were notified and soldiers were dispatched to the scene. The crowds along the highway dispersed when the soldiers arrived. Under supervision of the guardsmen, a deputy sheriff made the arrests.

Union leaders decried the arrests and charged the plant officials with using the "mailed fist." On the other hand, some civic leaders expressed disapproval of the sheriff's release of the men.

Appeal to Governor.

The Tennessee Federation of Labor, meeting at Knoxville, today asked Gov. Henry H. Horton to call a conference of employers and textile plant strikers here "for the purpose of adjusting any misunderstanding that prevents a peaceful settlement of this industrial controversy."

The peace move was the third made since the start of the strike and another previous one that was settled with the granting of wage increases. An effort by a representative of the Federal Department of Labor came to an end with his departure for another textile strike in North Carolina. Maj. George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistant's Union of America, told Gov. Horton last week he would not continue to act for the governor until the four companies of national guardsmen acting as special peace officers are removed.

The American Bemberg and Glanzstoff plants announced last Monday that they were reopening following a strike of 5,500 workers April 15. The reopening was to be gradual, it was stated.

Civilians Made Policemen.

City authorities swore in an undetermined number of special policemen last night. Chief of Police Carriger declined to reveal the number or the reason for adding them. Several men were made officers as they stood on street corners, taking the oath under the glare of an electric torch. Shingletown, a suburb of Elizabethton, owned by the Watauga Development Co., a Bemberg subsidiary, was under close guard all night.

Company officials said many new workers came to work today. Col. R. S. Rochelle, of the Tennessee National Guard, said that between 600 and 800 workers entered the plants within twenty minutes today.

Landon Estep, deputy sheriff, arrested the 29 men without a warrant. After he had taken the men to jail he obtained a mittimus, but when he served it on the sheriff the men had been released. The sheriff said he released the men because the deputy had no warrants. Estep, a new addition to the force, then obtained warrants and said he would rearrest the men, whose relatives announced they would resist such action.

Traffic Tied Up by Tacks.

The superintendent of Bemberg and Col. Rochelle said tacks had been strewn along the Powder Branch and Simerly Creek roads and that company buses were being tied up with punctures. All traffic was suffering, they said.

Officers today said they had verified reports that threats had been made to blow up the home of Crawford Alexander, president of the First National Bank. A guard was maintained around his home all night. Alexander, who is election commissioner for east Tennessee and prominent politically, is said not to be in symphathy with the strike.

Greenville, S. C., May 13 (A.P.).—More than 500 employes of the New England-Southern Manufacturing Co., working in cotton mill No. 4 at Pelzer, walked out on strike this morning in protest against the discharge of an employe for soliciting funds in the mill to aid striking employes of the Brandon corporation here.

Backed by Workers.

Dewey Cooley, an employe of the New England-Southern Co., solicited funds in the mill, according to mill officials, to aid the strikers, and as a consequence he was discharged. The mill officials stated they had no objection to his raising funds for the Brandon strikers but did object to such being done in the mill.

The employes of the textile plant backed Cooley and went out on strike.

All of the mills of the New England-Southern Co. were affected in a strike several weeks ago when the workers walked out in protest against the "stretch-out" efficiency system.

Raleigh, N. C., May 13 (A.P.).—A reward of $400 for the apprehension and conviction of the masked mob which destroyed strike headquarters at Gastonia April 8 was offered today by Gov. Max Gardner, who revealed that to far all efforts, including the employment of a private detective, have failed to discover the identity of the mob members.

Boy Scouts Plan Ten Million Drive

Campaign Is Authorized by Council; Silver Buffalo Awards Made.

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—The National Council of Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting here today authorized a campaign for a $10,000,000 fund designed to care for the adoption of a new program involving enlargment of the organization's activities.

The plan calls for the use of approximately $4,000,000 to meet new capital expenditures.

The silver buffalo, the highest award of the Scout organization, tonight was awarded to six men for "distinguished service to boyhood." Those receiving the award were Calvin Coolidge, honorary vice president of the Boy Scouts; Commander Richard E. Byrd, Wilbert E. Longfellow, of the American Red Cross; Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times; Howard F. Gillette, former president of the Chicago Scout council, and Dr. Charles D. Hart, active head of the Philadelphia Boy Scouts since 1911.

REPTILE KEEPER DIES OF BITE BY RATTLER to remind him that he had made a mistake.

The reminder was a sharp, hot pain in his right thumb. A second rattler, probably the mate of the first, had lain unseen in the underbrush not 6 inches away.

Snyder told hospital authorities that he looked at the two blue marks in his thumb and set up a shout for Paul, who carried some serum. There was no answering cry.

Snyder fully realized his danger. Gripping his right thumb tightly with his left hand, he crashed through the underbrush to their agreed rendezvous, calling for his friend. The latter thought he heard faint cries, but when he reached the agreed spot Charley Snyder was not there. The doomed man, knowing his peril, had slashed his thumb almost off with a sharp pocket knife, improvised a handkerchief tourniquet around his wrist, and was stumbling along the woods road toward Suffern, sucking his wound.

As he neared the town, he began to feel shooting pains in his wrist, then in his arm and chest, and he knew that he had not been able to stop the flow of poison in his veins.

It was 3:30 p. m. when he reached the hospital. Messenger were sent out immediately. They found Paul Snyder and the serum he carried was injected into the veteran snake-handler's body. More serum was obtained at a Bronx drugstore. There was nothing to do then but wait.

This morning Snyder was still alive but the pain had almost vanished and he was drowsy. He was given another injection of serum, but the drowsiness increased until, when he was barely conscious and quite comfortable, his heart stopped beating.

Dr. Ditmars' eyes filled with tears when he was told that Snyder was dead.

"I can't believe it!" he said. "Why Charley Snyder knew as much about handling snakes as I know. Up at the zoo I have seen him handle cobras, rattlesnakes, copperheads—the worst snakes there are, and never make a slip. Yet here he is. Probably the mate of the snake he caught did the business. Snakes have an extraordinary amount of cunning.

"Well, it proves that even the best have to be careful. One slip—death!"

Experts were unable to explain why the serum failed to work. Snyder is survived by his wife and seven children.

Princess Xenia Given Suspended Sentence

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—"Jones law isn't so bad," Princess Xenia, wife of William B. Leeds, said today as she left the court of Justice of the Peace Jones, where she had received a suspended sentence for traffic law violation.

The princess parked her car in front of a driveway last January. Twice summoned, she ignored both. Finally her attorney appeared in court to enter a plea of guilty, but the justice ordered the princess to appear herself. Since she was in Europe the appearance was postponed until she returned.

Sentence was suspended when she appeared in court today and promised to observe the law in the future.

The first Jones law conviction at the hands of a jury in District courts was obtained yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea before Justice Frederick L. Siddons in criminal branch of the District Supreme Court.

Justice Siddons recently imposed the first sentence under the Jones law, sending a colored youth, who pleaded guilty, to prison for two years ' addition to a prison for two years in addition to a

The defendants were arrested by Patrolmen Leahy and Wilson, of the Second Precinct, who testified they discovered the men unloading boxes of liquor in front of 112 Pierce street northwest in the early morning. BANDITS GUARD FIVE ALL NIGHT; ROB BANK

GANG REMOVES MASKS

Gilmore City, Iowa, May 13 (U.P.).—A banker's family was forced to act as a screen in the daring robbery of the Gilmore City Exchange Bank today after being terrorized in their home throughout the night by a bandit trio.

The bandits, one of whom was a woman, forced their way into the house of former State Senator H. S. Van Alstine late Sunday night. Van Alstine is an official of the Exchange Bank.

They bound Van Alstine and [illegible] their son, Francis, and their daughter, Mrs. M. Holland, of Chicago. In the morning, while the woman member of the trio guarded Mrs. Van Alstine and the younger children, the other members of the family were herded in an automobile and driven to the bank.

Using the Van Alstine group as a screen, the two men and a third, who drove the automobile, lined up four bank employes. One of the bandits forced Van Alstine to open the vault and helped himself to $5,000 in cash.

The three men then dashed out to their car, returned to the Van Alstine home, where they picked up their woman accomplice, and drove eastward out of the city.

Van Alstine told police the details of the daring robbery today while posses searched the countryside. He said he answered a knock at the front door Sunday night and was confronted by a masked man who pointed a sawed-off shotgun at his head. The man backed him into the house. The bandit woman, also masked and carrying a revolver, followed him into the house. At about the same time the third member of the trio entered the home by a back door.

While the woman held a revolver over them, members of the family were ordered to face the wall and their hands were bound. Then the three removed their masks and made no effort to conceal their faces.

The bandits granted Van Alstine's request that all be allowed to sit down. Mrs. Holland asked that her bonds be loosened so that she could take care of her children, one an infant. The cords were relaxed somewhat to give her more freedom.

The robbers said additional members of the gang were in the city. In the morning an automobile drove up to the door. Van Alstine, Francis and Mrs. Holland were unbound, told to put on their coats and bundled into the car. The woman was left to guard Mrs. Van Alstine and the Holland children.

The bandits seemed to know the town thoroughly and had little trouble at the bank.

It was believed they had either gone north across the Minnesota line or south toward Des Moines.

POLICE SQUAD CURBS JAYWALKERS IN CITY

NO ARRESTS ARE PLANNED

The police traffic bureau yesterday assigned four policemen to the job of instructing pedestrians in the necessity of crossing intersections in accordance with the instructions given by the automatic traffic signal lights.

The policemen were assigned yesterday to Thirteenth and F streets northwest, but are to move from place to place about the downtown section and elsewhere where conditions may be thought to make their presence helpful.

Inspector E. W. Brown, Assistant Superintendent of Police in charge of the Traffic Bureau, undertook the work upon approval of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent, in cooperation with the Washington Chapter of the American Business Club, which is sponsoring the drive as a measure of increasing safety and cutting down accidents.

No arrests of jaywalkers are contemplated, it was explained by police officials, although continued disregard of the traffic lights by pedestrians may result in a request later for enactment of an adequate antijaywalking law.

NOT QUITE SO HIGH, PLEASE.

The attempt to boost the tariff to extravagant heights at the expense of the consumer is meeting with resistance. President Hoover is looking into the question through expert advisers, who will study the effect which some of the proposed new rates would have upon the cost of living. Other inquiries, looking into the ramifications of foreign trade relations, will be submitted to the President in due time.

No one can say that the bill submitted to the House is a "limited" revision, as proposed by Mr. Hoover. Scores, if not hundreds, of articles are given increased duties where it can not be shown that additional protection is needed. The aim of tariff revision as promised by the Republican party and Mr. Hoover as its nominee was to give relief to agriculture and to readjust a few rates where it had been found that conditions had changed since the enactment of the present tariff law. The country has not demanded general revision upward. So far as can be ascertained from expressions of public opinion, the country is opposed to any increased duties that are not absolutely necessary to protect American industry and labor. Although a specious argument has been made in the House in defense of every proposed increase, some of the pleas for higher duties are palpably absurd and without warrant.

The primary purpose of protection is to benefit industry and labor, but since everybody is a consumer as well as a producer it is necessary to avoid excessively high duties if the consumer is to have justice. When the protective principle is misused to build a wall that will exclude all foreign goods it works to the disadvantage of industry, labor and the consumer, by crippling foreign commerce. Very few governments are utterly without means of retaliation against what they regard as flagrant interference with their commerce. When Chairman Hawley says that a tariff is made with regard to America's best interests, he is right only if he includes all the factors that enter into the question. America's best interests are not served when rates are made so high as to react against American exports.

The American producer is entitled to an advantage in the American market. But he produces a surplus that must be sold abroad. If his monopoly of the American market is made so airtight that foreign competition is excluded entirely, retaliatory tariffs in foreign countries may be looked for which will exclude American goods. This factor in tariff-making seems to have been ignored by the framers of the House bill. It will not be ignored by President Hoover.

As the Senate committee proceeds to revise the House bill and rewrite entire schedules, it is to be expected that Mr. Hoover's influence will be exerted in the direction of moderation. No one in the country is better informed than he on the subject of foreign trade. He has been the chief promoter of the present enormous export commerce. Knowing, as he does, that the prosperity of the United States is involved in sending abroad huge surpluses, both of agriculture and manufactures, it is not to be supposed that he will withhold his counsel until a badly framed tariff bill is laid before him for signature.

Students of Des Moines University, when granted an injunction vacating the order closing the school, are said to have "marched noisily back to their seats, most of them with a relieved look on their faces." Proving that the least desirable thing when made unattainable becomes desirable.

BETTER CONDITIONS FOR LABOR.

Modern industrial leaders have known for a long time that good wages and short hours for employes are an investment in efficiency. The discovery has resulted in the eight-hour day, the six-day week and liberal increases in pay. A strong movement is now on foot for a general adoption of a five-day week and in view of the success of previous improvements in this direction it will no doubt be widely adopted within a few years.

The movement for shorter hours will be strengthened by the report of L. P. Alford, vice president of the American Engineering Council, showing that productivity of wage-earners in American industry has increased 53.5 per cent since 1920. This is a remarkable record when compared with a gain of but 4.7 per cent for the first twenty years of the present century. He found a decrease in the number of workers in manufacturing, but a gain in the volume of production and a decrease in the cost per unit.

The report indicates the wisdom of American industrialists who have shortened the hours of their employes and at the same time given them wages which enable them to become consumers as well as producers of semi-luxuries. Any other course would mean disaster for industry. Low wages mean a correspondingly small market for manufactured products and long hours mean decreased efficiency. Many theories have been advanced to explain the present industrial supremacy of the United States, but this factor lies at the basis of all of them.

Shorter hours is the solution generally recommended for the unemployment resulting from increased use of machinery. Mr. Alford suggests another factor which will have a larger bearing on this problem in the future; namely, industrial research. As fewer men are needed in the shops more will be needed in the laboratories. He found that of 599 concerns having a rating of $1,000,000 or more 52 per cent carry on research as a company activity, 29 per cent are supporting cooperative research work and 7 per cent are conducting testing laboratories. This type of work will undoubtedly increase in the future, and men will be still further relieved from physical labor.

ANTICRIME MOVEMENTS.

Organization in New York of an advisory commission on crime prevention, composed of business men, bankers and social workers, calls attention to a new movement which is gaining headway in the larger American cities to fight the criminal. The committee will report to Police Commissioner Whalen at regular intervals. Special attention will be given to crime among juveniles with a view to prevention instead of cure. The movement appears particularly significant in view of the fact that approximately 50 per cent of the serious crimes are committed, in this country, by youths under 21.

Reform organizations and self-appointed purity crusaders have, in their weak way, wrestled with problems of crime ever since community life began. But radical views and impractical methods have too often frustrated their efforts and discredited their work in the eyes of the public. The movement which is now gaining headway is of quite a different nature. It is fostered and directed by practical social workers and successful business men who are interested in crime prevention from personal and community standpoints. This problem, in which every individual is interested, has been too long left to public officials and idealistic reformers. It is encouraging to find prominent citizens giving their attention to it.

A few weeks ago a group of business and banking men of Philadelphia obtained a charter for organization of a Criminal Justice Association which will aid in the "detection, prevention and suppression of crime and the prosecution of criminals by any and all proper measures." The association is devoting itself to investigations of crime and search for remedies. Members are making it their business to follow closely all serious crimes against life and property, and will no doubt exercise a wholesome influence on the police and the courts. Later on some practical suggestions should be forthcoming.

Several cities have organized similar groups in the hope of bringing business efficiency to bear on criminal problems. Self-protection is the motive behind the movement. This fact, together with the eminent personnel of these new anticrime bodies, gives hopes that they will be able to avoid the pitfalls into which mere reform agencies fall. If so, the possibilities of the movement are great.

FOR BETTER COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

The inequality of educational opportunities in rural and urban districts has become one of the most pressing problems before school authorities. A recent survey revealed that a large percentage of the pupils of city schools complete their high school education, but the number of rural pupils who finish high school is comparatively small. Likewise it is the city youth who has the best opportunity to go to college and who most often makes use of it. The difference in the needs and demand for training is not large enough to justify the gap between educational opportunities in densely and sparsely settled areas.

The situation has been given attention by the Bureau of Education. Dr. William J. Cooper, Commissioner of Education, has concluded that "the little red schoolhouse should join the old oaken bucket in the limbo of the past" wherever a substitute can be provided for it. The one-teacher school belongs to an era that has long since disappeared in the business and commercial world. It served a purpose when the country was being settled and farms were scattered. Transportation was slow and costly. Children of rural homes had to trudge to the one-teacher school or remain illiterate. All that has now been changed. New transportation facilities have made the consolidated rural school not only possible but practical. No one thinks today of operating tiny manufacturing plants to serve each group of families in a rural district, but thousands of one-room schools may still be seen in operation along the highways of many of the wealthiest States.

"We need a unit of administration much larger than that served by the one-teacher school," Dr. Cooper said. "The area of administration should be large enough to support a complete school unit, elementary and secondary." He advocated districts large enough so that at least one trained supervisor could be employed without unduly burdening the taxpayers. His suggestions for improvements include extended research to discover the best unit for rural school administration.

In thus pointing the way for improvement of the American educational system at its weakest point, Dr. Cooper demonstrates the value of the present Bureau of Education. By encouraging improvements where they are most needed and by carrying on research into the difficult educational problems which affect the entire country, the bureau can perform a service of inestimable value without bureaucratizing education.

HONORING THE CONSTITUTION.

How shall the United States celebrate the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution? The event is yet eight years away, but it is being given consideration now, so that whatever is decided upon may be carried out with dignity appropriate to the importance of this world-famed charter. Representative Beck, of Pennsylvania, has introduced a joint resolution in Congress providing for appointment of a commission which would arrange for a fitting celebration in 1937.

The commission would consist of the President, five persons appointed by him, the President of the Senate, three senators appointed by him, the Speaker of the House and three representatives appointed by him. The Supreme Court, which has done so much to expand and interpret the Constitution, should also be represented. Doubtless the Chief Justice would be the first person appointed by the President.

The resolution provides for an appropriation of $10,000 to cover the expenses of the commission. It would be the duty of this body to formulate plans for a national observance of the occasion and to prepare the public mind for it. Plans for erection of a permanent memorial to the event either in Washington or Philadelphia, where the Constitution was drawn up and adopted, would also be considered.

Congress should adopt the resolution. No more appropriate celebration could be participated in by the American people. If the celebration is to be carried out in any degree commensurate with the importance of the Constitution in American life it is not too early now to begin preparation. Selection of a suitable design and location for a memorial and construction of it will require years of study and work. Initiation of the plan should not be delayed until there is insufficient time to carry it out properly.

CHINESE NEW YEAR

By REV. H. G. C. HALLOCK,
Of Shanghai, China.

We recently passed through the big feast—Chinese New Year. Every one's birthday comes on this day. Should a child be born in even the last hour of the last day of the old year it would be two years old on New Years. New Year came on Sunday, February 10. Every store was closed. All work stopped. But it was not quiet! It was like many Fourth of Julys in one. Oh! the firecrackers! At midnight I was wakened by a vast broadside of large and small firecrackers, and they kept it up for days. In the morning the ground was covered as by red snow—the "confetti" of exploded fireworks. Firecrackers are but a part of the feast—the noisy part.

The last day of the year everybody is busy—the men at closing up their accounts. All bills must be collected and all debts paid. Woe be to the man who does not pay his debts! The women are very busy. The house must be made as clean as a pin and decorated, and the brooms hidden—bad luck if they appear on New Year. Before the New Year sun rises all kinds of food must be gotten ready. Guests—many—will come during those days and they must be feasted. Few people see slumber the last night of the old year. But when the sun rises, calm reigns over the household. As one walks out between 6 and 9 a. m. the whole town is asleep. Sunday, indeed! But excitement arouses them and about 10 o'clock you'll find the streets alive with people dressed in their best "bib and tucker" and you hear, "Kong Hy! Fah-dzai"—"Congratulations and abounding wealth to you," shouted from one to another. The closed doors are plastered with appropriate sayings written on blood-red strips of paper. Go to open spaces of the city and see crowds encircling puppet shows, acrobats, monkey performers, squirming dragons, entertainers of all kinds, and peddlers of sweets and children's toys—Vanity Fair! Go to the temples and you find thousands burning incense and candles before all the idols, praying for wealth, old age and bliss.

One interesting god connected with the New Year is the god of wealth, who is worshiped especially on the 5th—his birthday. The money spent on firecrackers in his honor would pay China's national debt. Few begin work again until he is properly worshiped. Another is the kitchen god. He is a paper god and sits over the stove in the kitchen where he spies on the doings of the family for a year. On the 23d of the twelfth month he is given a big feast. Sweet sirup is put on his mouth and he is put in a beautiful paper sedan chair and burned in glorious style, accompanied by fireworks—which is sending him to the upper god to report on their year's doings. All this fuss and sweetness is to bribe him to speak well of their family to his majesty. When he returns on the last night of the old year a new idol is bought and placed with little ceremony in the old niche. It will be a year before he reports again—why "taffy" him now?

Next to idol-worship, gambling takes a big place in New Year celebrations—gambling everywhere! What they eat and drink, and the firecrackers, and gambling, all, in some way or other, symbolize or point to the sound "Kao-sen"—excelsior! in the sense of rising high in wealth and station—especially in wealth. It's indeed a wonderfully interesting time, and is indulged in even by beggars—for they receive a harvest of alms.

The Nationalist government ordered that Chinese New Year should not be observed this year. It might as well have tried to turn back the greatest tidal wave of history! National commands stop the observance of Chinese New Year's customs!

Just as Easy.

Richmond Times-Dispatch: The Prohibition Educational League of New York has called on Grover Whalen to stop liquor sales in the city or quit his job as police commissioner. If Whalen can dry up New York, what a boon he would have been to the old king who tried to sweep back the sea with a broom!

"Hick" Towns.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois' representative at large in Congress, says the real "hick" towns are the big cities. Our artistic impetus, she avers, comes from Main street, not from Broadway, "and the small towns have developed more writers, opera singers, sculptors and painters than all the great cities combined."

The complimentary statistics of the McCormick eclogue may go unchallenged. Her verdict that the big cities are the "hick" towns may, we think, be questioned. A happier identification may at least be submitted. Thus: The "hick" town is always some other place, just as the average man is always some other fellow.

By that formula we safeguard the ego, conserve the morale and keep the amour propre in fine fettle.

Two-Dollar Bills.

Longview News: The two-dollar bill is coming West. More and more the tellers in local banks are pushing them through the wicket at us. Old-timers recall the time when gold was common money on the Coast. Then came silver, and only in the last ten years or less has paper money become as much used as it is. In the East silver dollars are a rarity, as rare as a two-dollar bill out here. The change little affects our wealth, but we notice it. The bad luck omen attached to a two-dollar bill once was a live sentiment. The reason, probably, was because it was easy to give out for a one. Soon we will become accustomed to the two-dollar bill. It's better than a one, at that.

Give Her a Hand.

Such Relief.

Louisville Times: The statement by a biologist that man is older than the ape should cause both to feel greatly relieved.

POOR PENMANSHIP.

Can you invent a new system of handwriting—one that can not possibly be misread yet is easy and speedy to write? If so there are millions of dollars in the idea—in the saving that such a system would bring to department stores, according to P. A. Best, managing director of London's large retail shops.

Although the advent of the typewriter has banished illegibility from many business records, Best declares in Popular Science Monthly, sales slips in retail stores still are scrawled in hopeless hieroglyphics. Present school courses lay little importance on teaching good penmanship, he declares, and suggests that the only solution lies in the invention of a brand-new alphabet system by which even careless persons can learn to write fast and fool-proof records.

"We Must Establish Equality," Said the Cock, "by Clipping the Wings of Eagles."

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SELF-PRESERVATION, as we all learned in school, is the first law of nature.

In man's case, self-preservation includes the preservation of self-respect for a good opinion of himself is essential to his success and happiness.

This being true, we have only to enlist the elementary rules of psychology to understand the gossip, the slanderer and the critic.

In our dreams, says Freud, we do the things we wish to do and yet dare not do when awake, and in our waking hours we forget the things we wish to forget.

Thus the subconscious mind, operating without our assistance or consent, gives freedom to the nature we would suppress; and thus it builds for the gossip a defense mechanism and a means of preservation.

The purveyor of evil tales is in every instance a victim of envy—an unfortunate shamed by poverty or want of education or social ostracism.

This shame not only threatens the last tattered remnants of self-respect but attacks the very foundation of happiness and thus threatens life itself.

The victim is in desperate straits, but desperation prompts his subconscious mind to employ a desperate remedy. It inspires him to save himself without his knowing how or why he does it.

He is filled with envy and malice and all uncharitableness because he is low and his fellows are high; and that position must be reversed if he is to be reconciled to life.

He can not reverse it in fact, but all things are relative; and if he can not lift himself up above his fellows, he can pull them down to his own level or beneath it and thus achieve the same end.

We see him, then, with a sneer on his face, his tongue adrip with vitriol and gall, whispering evil stories or publicly exposing the weaknesses of his betters—magnifying common faults by calling attention to them and tearing reputations to shreds in order to make mankind seem base and himself respectable by contrast.

He searches for evil because evil makes him happy. To admit the existence of good would be to admit the existence of something better than himself and thus to hurt his vanity.

Always and everywhere the critic damns others in order to exalt himself. He labors to establish a contrast that will flatter him. And the degree of his frenzy as he exposes the sins of his neighbor is in exact proportion to his own need of mercy.

The clean and the high can afford to be tolerant. The vile and the low must find some creature lower still to afford the contrast essential to self-respect.

"See the evil one," they cry, pointing. Thus they tempt the world to look away, and not only escape its searching eyes but make it a comrade in criticism and in that comradeship find reason to feel as respectable as the world is.

THE CAT PROBLEM.

Cats have lately fallen upon evil days—or else their economic problems have come in for more than usual attention, says the New York Times. The increasing number of stray cats in town, and of abandoned cats left in the country to return to a state of nature, has set many people thinking. Overproduction has made the cat something approaching a nuisance. The pioneers of the family were brought into England by merchants from Cyprus. In the old Welsh laws their value was definitely assigned: For a wee kitten up to the time when it opened its eyes, one penny; for a half-grown cat, two-pence; for a mouser that had made its first kill and shown promise for the future, fourpence. In those very good and very old days, fourpence was the price of a good calf.

Cats were the pets of kings and used to go hunting with their masters. The keeper of the king's cat was a person of some importance and bore the title of "Catatore." When fox hunting disappears altogether, an English paper predicts that perhaps the ancient glory of the cat as a hunting animal may be revived. The cat in this country has generally shown a disposition to walk by himself in his hunting, so there seems little prospect of rehabilitation by that method. As a fur-bearing animal the cat may come to be more highly prized, but that scarcely seems a happy solution.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Illinois Goes Further Than the Volstead Law by Punishing the Buyer of Liquor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The national prohibition laws prohibit merely the transportation and manufacture of alcoholic beverages, and say nothing whatsoever about purchase or consumption. Dr. S. E. Nicholson, associate superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, in a statement made recently, recognizes this fact. "While plainly the use of liquor has been affected by the prohibition laws," he said, "it is an incidental result of the legislation and not its primary purpose."

In Illinois there is a State law providing punishment for persons who purchase liquor illegally, which a county prosecutor is about to test. Mrs. Helen Ambrose, owner of a hotel, has been arrested on a charge of buying liquor illegally, and her case is scheduled for early trial. The State's attorney claims that she has agreed to plead guilty and accept a fine of $100, including costs.

Dr. Nicholson, in his discussion of the prohibition laws, asserted that "no statute has ever yet attempted to make personal drinking a crime. To what extent this is an evil in itself is mainly a problem in the realm of the total abstinence movement. Whether or not the time will come when it will be deemed necessary to ban the purchase of liquor as a necessary incident to its use is as yet problematic." If the Illinois case, based upon a State law banning the purchase of liquor, were tried through the courts, it might illuminate this phase of the prohibition controversy.

The chances are that a jury would acquit Mrs. Ambrose. Even in dry areas there does not seem to exist a preponderant sentiment favoring the prohibition of liquor purchase or consumption. Prohibition of sale is well enough; it is an impersonal matter and has little effect on the supply. But prohibition of purchase is another matter. What is an encroachment upon personal liberty has not been even attempted by the Volstead law.

Canadian Visitor Says American Cities Are Comparatively Dry; Few Drunken Men Seen.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Being a visitor in your city for a few days recently, I noticed you give every possible attention to the wet condition of your city and country. If I have not mistaken, I read a letter which you gave plenty of publicity from a man who spoke enthusiastically about the conditions in Canada, as if our liquor control law had control of everything, and was a success in overcoming illicit selling, bootlegging, speakeasies and drunkenness.

As a Canadian, I want to assure you such is not the case, and attach herewith a clipping from the Montreal Star (which is not a dry paper) giving some plain information backing what I have just stated. I spent five weeks in your country, including Miami, which is supposed to be the wettest place, also in Tampa, New York and about twelve other cities, and saw only three intoxicated men in my whole five weeks. The proof of the pudding is the eating, because in Montreal for six hours I saw five men who were under the influence of liquor. I trust you will give this letter a little publicity and be fair to both sides.

A. H. JARVIS.

Ottawa, Canada, May 9.

Following is the extract from the Montreal Star:

Raids made by the police on seven alleged "speak-easies" during the week-end resulted in the arraignment before Judge Enright today of 124 prisoners charged with being found in these illegal resorts. Those who pleaded guilty were fined $1 and costs or the alternative of five days in jail. The costs of the case amount to $16.95.

Property Owners Object to Assessment for Widening Benning Road for Benefit of Others.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What good will accrue to residential property owners from the proposed widening of Benning Road N. E.? It will be a detriment rather than a benefit to those living on or close to that thoroughfare, since they will be only inconvenienced by the noise, dirt and gasoline fumes caused by the increasd traffic which will result from such widening.

There is still less reason for assessing property owners living at a greater distance from said road (since all those property owners within a radius of five or six city blocks are to be assessed). The benefit would seem to go to people living in Maryland and on the outskirts of the District of Columbia rather than said property owners. Since they can not be lawfully assessed, the logical thing to do is to take the money out of the general funds of the District of Columbia. What is the answer?

N. H. REEVES.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In regard to the widening of Benning Road, I think the assessment unjust and unreasonble. I live three blocks from the road.

Resurrection Chapel on the corner of Fifteenth and Gales, is assessed $93.42 for this road. We have just paid $130 for the paving of Gales street, a hold-up in the long struggle to get money to build the church, and are still a long way from our goal. I think the assessment on that property is highway robbery, and can not see what benefit will be derived by the church for the widening of the road, a block distant.

I do not see any justice in assessing some people in the neighborhood who are not on the road for what either the government or the whole city should pay. The people from Maryland and those using the road to Maryland and those located on the road are the only ones in my estimation who will benefit by the improvement.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes must be crisper, more delicious—or 12,000,000 people would not daily prefer them to all other corn flakes. Kellogg originated corn flakes and nobody has ever been able to equal that Kellogg wonder flavor. You'll appreciate the difference when you compare them.

Enjoy Kellogg's Corn Flakes for lunch and dinner as well as breakfast. Fine for the children's evening meal. So easy to digest. Try them with canned peaches—with milk or cream.

NAVY TRAINS DIVERS TO AID SUBMARINES

CAN GO DOWN 300 FEET

With one class of 22 divers already stationed at points along the seacoast and another class of divers taking a course at the Diving Tank School at the navy yard here, the Navy Department expects to be in a position soon to send immediate aid to submarines whenever disasters occur.

As fast as these men complete their course they are sent to convenient points on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts so as to avoid all delay in reaching the scene of accident. The Navy Department keeps a record showing the place at which each diver is stationed so that he can be rushed to the scene.

These divers can operate in depths up to 300 feet. Should a submarine sink in waters below this depth the pressure would in all probability crush the submarine and the divers could be of no assistance.

Result of Year's Work.

This remarkable development has been the result of a year's intensive concentration on rescue problems. The Diving Tank School was begun three weeks before the S-4 disaster. This accident gave added impetus to rescue activities of the department.

The first class completed its instructions about the first part of the year, and the second class is expected to complete its course next month. The work of erecting tanks and other apparatus necessary for the school was done on less than $50,000.

Lieut. Henry Hartley, who assisted in the salvage of both the S-51 and the S-4, has charge of the school and is assisted by Lieut. Charles Momsen and Chief Gunner Clarence L. Tibbals, who developed the "lung."

Students Come From Volunteers.

All students at the school are selected from volunteers. They are placed in large tanks that are filled with water which are made to similar the sea at various depths down to 300 feet by means of air pressure.

The Navy Department hopes to be able to establish these diving tanks at various training stations along the seacoasts in order that the divers may keep in constant training for emergencies. This, however, will take considerable money and the Navy will need additional appropriations to carry this out.

Up until the first of the year the Navy Department had depended upon four or five divers to do all its salvage work. With the sinking of the two submarines the necessity for more divers became apparent.

Supreme Court Meets; No Decisions Are Made

(Associated Press.)

After a two-week recess, the Supreme Court met yesterday but did not hand down decisions in any of the cases before it attracting National interest.

These include the Sinclair jury-shadowing contempt case, the O'Fallon attack on the methods used by the Interstate Commerce Commission in valuing railroads, and the validity of pocket vetoes by the President. Decisions in these as well as in other important cases may be handed down on one of the three opinion days remaining before the court ends its term on June 3.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CARE.

Heigho for Care! I liked him not
The day I saw him first,
For by his ugly presence there
I felt I was accursed.
I thought his smile was but a leer,
And cruel seemed his mind.
I wished to have a comrade near
To friendship more inclined.

I met him on the field alone
And large he seemed to be,
In either hand he held a stone,
And both he flung at me.
He broke a branch to beat my back
And drove me on ahead:
"I'll beat you till you're blue and black
Unless you work," he said.

He made me toil against my will,
He forced me to obey,
Where'er I turned I saw him still
Beside me, night and day.
But as I bent beneath his blows,
With sullen face and glum,
Thought I: my burden lighter grows
Or stronger I've become.

Oh, can it be this ugly foe
Who drives me is a friend?
Has he real blessings to bestow
When these long days shall end?
'Tis strange, though bitterly I'm tried
And worn and muscle-sore,
I seem to sense a thrill of pride
I've never known before.

Heigho for Care! To him I pen
This grateful little toast,
He hardens weaklings into men
And gives them joys to boast.
Though pleasure's smiles are fair to see
And sweet the hours of song,
He must have Care for company
Who would grow proud and strong.

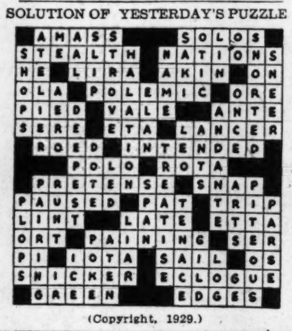
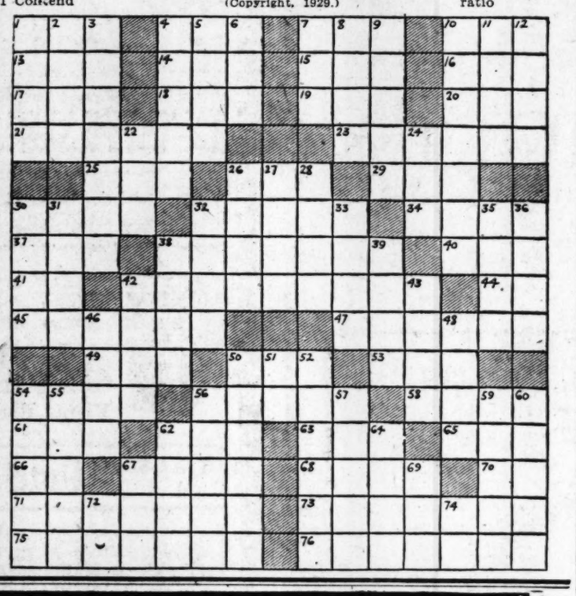
SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE



(Copyright, 1929.)



THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE GOLF EQUIPMENT, THEN AND NOW.

(Scene 1—A sporting goods store six or seven years ago.)

Clerk—Good morning, sir. What can I do for you?

Customer—I'm taking up golf, and I want equipment. What will I need?

(He buys two clubs and a dozen balls quickly and leaves.)

(Scene 2—A sporting goods store today.)

Clerk—Morning, sir.

Customer—Morning. I'm taking up golf, and I want to be fitted out.

Clerk—Well, we can start on this floor and work up. The sweater, knickers, ties, gloves, golf suits and shoes are here.

Customer—What'll I need?

Clerk—You're a beginner, eh? Well, you'll want two or three sweaters—we've a wonderful line of imports just in—a couple of golf suits, a half dozen pairs of linen knickers, I should say; a dozen golf shirts, at least two pairs of golf shoes, plenty of golf hose and a windbreaker.

Customer—Suppose I pick out a bag first, and then look over the clothing.

Clerk—Fine! We'll take the elevator to the fourth floor.

(The curtain will be lowered a split second to denote the trip to the fifth floor.)

Customer—Now, just what would you recommend in the line of a bag for a beginner?

Clerk—Listen, it's as a beginner that you'll want to make the best impression. No need of letting people know you're a novice, is there? Buy a good, big, smart-looking leather bag. Here's a dandy for $46.50.

Customer—Haven't you anything cheaper?

Clerk—Yes, but you wouldn't want to go out your first day on a golf course with anything cheap, would you?

Customer—No, I guess not.

* * * *

(There is an interval of about two hours while the shopping continues.)

Customer (rather limply)—Now, I've got about everything . . . the celluloid tees, the golf balls, the leather tee holder, the gadget for putting my initials on the balls, the wrist watch, et cetera. Now, is that all?

Clerk—I think so.

* * * *

Customer (abruptly, as he nears the door)—But how about the clubs?

Clerk—Oh, we forgot all about clubs. You'll want clubs to play golf, won't you?

Customer—Now that I've gone his far, I suppose I'd better have them!

Student Liquor Parties At University Scanned

Evanston, Ill., May 13 (A.P.).—Student "whoopee" parties at Northwestern University were under scrutiny today with some 20 fraternity men facing disciplinary action for reported indiscreet drinking at a recent party.

School authorities were conducting an inquiry into the particular party, at which boys of the Phi Pi Phi Fraternity entertained students belonging to the Phi Mu Deltas. Rolley F. Myers, president of the Phi Pi's, resigned as head of his chapter and offered to withdraw from school if he could take all the blame for the party and exonerate his fraternity brothers. The student government council, in conjunction with university officials, will decide what action, if any, will be taken.

4 Dead in Boiler Blast On Famous Dutch Ship

Ablanca, Morocco, May 13 (A.P.).—Tragedy has overtaken the Dutch tanker Barendrecht, which twice went out of its way to save others from a dire fate. Wireless messages from the ship yesterday said she was returning to this port with four of her crew dead and one injured as a result of a boiler explosion 50 miles at sea.

In 1927 the Barendrecht rescued Ruth Elder and George Haldeman when a broken oil line forced their transatlantic plane down near the Azores. On April 12, 1916, she rescued the survivors of the Russian bark Imperator, which was sunk by an Austrian submarine off Barcelona, Spain, after having been the target herself of the undersea craft.

What Today Means to You

May 14.

By MARY BLAKE.

"TAURUS."

If May 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you today are from 5 a. m. to 7:30 a. m., and from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m.; the danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

A healthy matter-of-fact atmosphere will prevail today, which will be very conducive to success in business circles. The stars are lucky also for sportsmen and those whose interests are centered upon official activities.

Children born today will be happy and cheerful and they will, like magicians, take happiness and sunshine wherever they go. They will be natural-born rovers, and will never outgrow their inborn wanderlust.

You have a very ambitious and proud nature, and you are very responsive to encouragement. In fact, you will rather easily under adverse criticisms or conditions. You as yet are not able to place yourself above the opinions of others, nor can you properly feel "as a man thinks, so he is;" with you it is what others think that counts. This weakness will handicap you in a great many ways. It prevents full self-expression.

You are very much interested in arts, and could doubtless make a name for yourself in some one of them, if you are willing to pay the price demanded of those seeking true fame. With you it is not a question of talent, but a question of grit and determination, in both of which you are somewhat lacking. You would like to take the leap from obscurity to glory without making the necessary physical and mental efforts.

You are truthful, just and temperate, and you are capable of displaying very judicious judgment. You will find that in all matters you will meet with greater success if you learn to rely upon your own judgment. You are genuinely democratic, and you feel at ease in any environment and with all classes.

Renew Your

HEALTH

By Purification

If the reading of this article teaches you only this one lesson about your own body it may be worth more than millions of dollars to you; for of what use is money without health, or after you are dead?

The lesson is this:—"Keep your system pure and you will have health and strength to gain and enjoy happiness, success and length of years."

But you may ask:—

How Can I Keep My System Pure?

That is not a hard question to answer, for physiology plainly teaches you that your liver, which is larger than all of the other glands of the body combined, has the special work of purifying your blood and thereby your entire system and of keeping it pure and healthy.

How Does the Liver Purify?

Physicians tell us that the liver has several functions, one of which is to manufacture a greenish-yellow, bitter fluid called bile, which, between meals, is stored up in the gall-bladder, but after each meal is poured out into the intestines. The bile is purgative and antiseptic or prophylactic. In health it is your bile that makes your bowels act regularly and freely every day—it is Nature's purgative. It is your bile that keeps your bowels pure, clean and free from fermentation (gas) putrefaction and decay. Remember that germs do not thrive where there is fresh bile and there can therefore be no fermentation to cause gas, nor putrefaction to produce poisons or toxines. Also, as bile is Nature's purgative, there can be no constipation if the bile is flowing naturally and freely from the gall-bladder into the bowels after each meal.

But when the bile becomes stagnant your bowels stop acting regularly and the contents become a breeding bed for the germs of fermentation (gas) decay and disease. These poisons, (called toxines) are gradually absorbed into your blood and circulate all over your body, poisoning, irritating or inflaming your brain and nerves, your muscles and joints, your heart, lungs, skin, kidneys, and every vital organ of your body. Your doctor calls this "intestinal toxaemia," and tells you that your system is "toxic."

Functions of Gall-Bladder

In 24 hours your liver secretes about 25 to 30 ounces (5 to 6 teacupfuls) of bile, which flows through millions of minute canals, or ducts, uniting to make a large tube which empties into the gall-bladder, as creeks and rivulets unite to form a river that flows into a lake. Your gall-bladder is a hollow muscle that serves the double purpose of a reservoir and a pump. Its functions are similar to those of the urinary bladder. About three hours after eating, when the food is passing from the stomach into the intestine, your gall-bladder should begin its peristaltic contractions, thus pumping the bile into the small intestine where it is mixed with your food. (Bile is also a very important digestive fluid, aiding in the digestion and absorption of fats and oils. But that is too long a story to relate here.)

Nature's Danger Signals

When your car gets out of order you can tell it. It is the same way with your bile. Nature gives you warning—not by words, but by signals or symptoms. Your doctor recognizes these danger signals and you should also know them and instantly heed them. It may save you much pain, serious illness and perhaps big repair bills.

When the bile becomes stagnant in your gall-bladder and is dammed back into your liver instead of flowing freely into your bowels you, sooner or later, begin to feel some of the following symptoms:—Your breath may become unpleasant, your tongue coated, a bad taste in your mouth, your food (and tobacco) lose their natural flavor, your food does not agree with you; you may have heartburn, gas, or fluttering around the heart, dizziness or blind spell; you may be troubled with belching or frequent passages of gas from the bowels: the gas "balloons" your bowels and presses so hard on the kidneys that it gives you pain, soreness, stiffness in the small of your back over your kidneys, making you think you have kidney trouble; at night the gas in your bowels presses upon your bladder making you get up frequently, thus breaking into your sleep. In the morning you are tired instead of refreshed. Gradually your health is injured. Your complexion becomes sallow, muddy or yellow—your skin may be disfigured with liver spots or pimples; dark rings may appear under your eyes, you may become sleepless, restless and irritable or blue and melancholic. You may have frequent colds or dull headache; your bowels stop their free, full and natural action; you have constipation, gas, putrefaction and self-poisoning or "intestinal toxaemia," as the doctors call it. High blood pressure, with headache and swooning spells, may result from continued neglect.

How to Make the Bile Flow

But when the bile stops flowing freely, how can we start it up again? The answer is: Take Calotabs at bedtime and drink water freely the next day. This formula represents the best thought and experience of the best physicians. No other purgative will do. If you take oils, salts, cascara, or the many other simple laxative syrups, powders and candy laxatives you are merely wasting valuable time. They only make you feel better for a day or two. They do not remove the cause, for they do not promote the expulsion of the bile which is Nature's purgative and intestinal antiseptic. When you take Calotabs you know that you have taken a real doctor's medicine. It cleans you out thoroughly. Every inch of your 25-foot canal, including your stomach, small intestine and large intestine, is thoroughly cleared and washed clean and pure and your bile is flowing freely. Next morning your system feels purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please and go about your work—there is no danger, for Calotabs are perfectly safe and create no habit, except the habit of healthy bowel actions.

What Are Calotabs—How Do They Act?

Calotabs are sugar coated tablets, containing the minimum effective dose of a thoroughly purified and refined calomel combined with assistants and correctives. The calomel facilitates the expulsion of the bile from the gall-bladder into the intestines and also serves as a mild intestinal antiseptic. Every physician knows that no other medicine can take its place; there is no such thing as a substitute for calomel. The assistants act like salts, washing the calomel out of the system and preventing its accumulation and any possibility of danger. The correctives settle the stomach and bowels, preventing nausea, sickening and griping effects. Calotabs (and water), therefore, give you the combined effects of calomel and salts in a perfectly safe and delightful form.

The medicine chest of every home should be supplied with Calotabs, one of the most important of all family medicines. It is needed in many cases of sickness, and, if used occasionally as needed, may assist Nature to correct conditions which, if neglected, may lead to serious illness.

Avoid disappointment by refusing imitations. Your druggist can supply you with genuine Calotabs or will order them for you. For your protection, Calotabs are marketed in original packages only, bearing the copyrighted trademark. Family package, containing full directions, only 35 cents.

THE RETURN OF OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

(Copyright protected. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.)

In the second chapter Old King Brady instructs Alice Montgomery in the case and she disguises as a West Indian quadroon. Julius and Alice go to San Juan Hill. The Bradys return to the deserted house, where they overhear a conversation between Andrew Jackson Lee and the Voodoo Queen.

CHAPTER III.

Getting Next to the Voodooists.

CELIA RENAUD lived in one of the tenements at the rear of the deserted house. When Alice was introduced by Julius she was received civilly.

"I thought," she said to Alice, "I was to work up this case alone. I don't object to help, however, as I'm no detective."

"Yo' two suttinly look lak twin sisters," said Julius admiringly.

"I can't deny it," admitted Miss Renaud. "Of course you are made up to look like one of my people, Miss Montgomery."

"There certainly is a resemblance," agreed Alice.

Feeling that Julius would be more of a hindrance than a help, he was soon dispensed with and the girls settled down for a good talk. Alice found that Celia was interested in the case because she had posed as a Voodoo Queen for a certain picture by a noted artist.

Alice was surprised. "Do you believe in such things?" she asked.

"No, I do not. I made some inquiries about it because of this picture and that is why Julius was brought to me by the man who introduced us."

"And do you find that Voodooism exists in this city?"

"It certainly does. I have been promised the address of the woman who presides over their ceremonies, but I haven't it yet. I also know of a woman fortune teller who comes from Haiti—she may be the woman you seek. Suppose we go and see her?"

Alice agreed and they decided to pose as sisters to see if she could detect the fraud.

At the Fortune Teller's.

Shortly after 7 that evening they presented themselves at Mme. Comier's house.

"Enter, ladies," said a colored man who met them at the door.

They passed into a darkened room where in a sort of alcove made of standing screens sat a strout negress with a great mass of woolly hair framing a black face. Her dress was embroidered with moons and stars and coiled around her neck was a live snake. It raised its head and hissed as they entered.

"If this isn't the Voodoo Queen, it will be a wonder," thought Alice.

The woman eyed them sharply from behind her table. "You want your fortunes told?"

"We do."

"I can't tell two fortunes together."

"We do not expect that. Tell my sister's first."

"She is not your sister. Do not try to deceive me if you want a true fortune." Madam Gomier gave a grunt, took up the cards and shuffled them for Alice. Her fortune proved to be a mere bunch of nonsense, while Celia's was along the same line—very little truth mixed with a lot of nonsense.

The snake seemed ever on the watch. After Alice had paid the woman, the snake was placed in a glass-fronted box which was then carefully closed.

The fortune-teller did not seem to be in a hurry for them to go. She displayed curiosity as to why Celia wanted to be in New York, so Celia explained to her about the artists and the one painting in particular that she was interested in just now. "It represents Voodoo worshipers in a cave—I have posed as the Voodoo Queen."

"Huh!" sniffed Madam Gomier. "Your artist would have done better to have got the real thing."

"But how could he here in New York?" asked Celia naively.

"I can get him one—but it will cost money," replied the woman.

"He would have to be sure she is genuine," said Celia.

"No white man can sit at a Voodoo seance, young woman."

"I should not want to come alone. Could I bring a black man with me?"

"That could be arranged. You come here at 10 o'clock tomorrow," said Madam Gomier. "I will let you know then if it can be arranged."

It seemed a good time to leave, and Alice rose. Celia took the hint and they at once left the house and returned to Celia's room. Alice decided to make up and go as the black man to the seance—overriding all objections that Celia could think up.

When Celia called at Madam Gomier's the next morning she found the seance was postponed until the following evening.

"I am afraid you will be detected, Miss Montgomery. You run a terrible risk," Celia protested.

"Wait until you see me made up," replied Alice. She felt some trepidation herself, for she was not quite certain that Old King Brady would aprove. So she decided to go back to the office and make her report.

"Couldn't be better," said Old King Brady. "You have located the Voodoo Queen. Now we must find if she still has the child."

"I shadowed the woman we saw at the deserted house, to the place where you went, and I am sure she is the Voodoo Queen," volunteered Harry.

"Then shall I go ahead with this voodoo seance business?"

The old detective reflected for a minute, and then said: "You began this, go ahead and finish it. The risk is great, but that is what we have to face."

"We will both shadow you so you will come to no harm," assured Harry. And so the matter was settled.

What Happened at the Voodoo Seance.

"Well, you certainly are a wonder. Miss Montgomery," exclaimed Celia, when she saw Alice in her disguise. "I doubt if Mme. Gomier will tumble to you this time.

"Any news?" asked Alice.

'Yes; Madam Gomier was here. She came to tell me that important business would take her away from home tonight and also to give me the address where the seance is to be held."

'Where is it?"

"Close down by the water front—Hudson avenue, Brooklyn."

'I never was over there. Is it a bad neighborhood?"

"It could hardly be worse. It is very tough down by the water front."

'Well, I'm glad we are going alone," said Alice. 'What time are we due there?"

'It begins at 9 o'clock, madam says."

They found the number on Hudson avenue to be a tumbledown house half a block from the water. There were lights in the window.

Celia and Alice entered. They knocked on a door at the head of the stairs and a moment after a colored man appeared. He took the card which Celia held out to him and went back into the room again. In a moment he reappeared with his face all smiles.

"Come in!" he said, in French. "Any friend of Madam Gomier's is welcome."

The room they entered was packed full of people, of all shades, from mulatto to black. There was a hot fire in an old stove and the room was without ventilation. The result may be imagined. The smell was awful, but Alice gradually got used to it. Her disguise seemed to pass all right.

At one end of the room was hung a black curtain. Suddenly a deep-toned bell sounded behind this curtain. Silence instantly followed. The voodoo worshipers were all attention. The bell rang again and the audience united in a weird chant. As the chant proceeded the curtain was drawn aside revealing a crude stage and in the middle of it a pole around which was coiled a snake.

"All hail to the sacred serpent!" cried the worshipers, bowing their heads. Alice and Celia bowed theirs also, and when they looked up there stood Mme. Gomier.

Then another shout went up, "All hail the Serpent Queen!" bowing their heads again.

Then followed various weird rites and dances. Alice thought it was the most comical sight she had ever witnessed. Finally, the Voodoo Queen closed her eyes and stood motionless. In a moment her finger pointed at Alice, who immediately walked up to the stage.

"Something wrong! Something wrong!" muttered Mme. Gomier in French. Suddenly she gave a scream. 'A spy! A white woman in disguise!" she shrilled.

The worst had happened. Alice did not know what to do. Celia was seized by two black fellows and hustled on to the stage. Immediately the curtain was drawn and the Voodoo Queen called out "Good night!"

Now turning to Alice, Mme. Gomier demanded to know why she was there. "You who know everything should be able to tell who I am and what I want without asking," replied Alice boldly.

"Aye!" I can tell!" cried the woman. You are a detective. You seek a stolen child. Is it not true?"

It is true," answered Alice quietly.

"I knew it! For what you have done you deserve to die, and so does your companion who has betrayed me." Beckoning to two husky darkies she cried, "Away with them! I will deal with them later." Then turning to Alice again she said sternly, "Do you know, young woman, that according to our law there is but one punishment for what you have done! And that is—Death!"

Another chapter in this serial masterpiece is in tomorrow's paper. Don't miss it! Old King Brady is deep in the mystery of San Juan Hill.

Famous Volcanoes.

1. MOUNT ETNA

A FEW months ago, Mount Etna burst loose with a mighty flow of lava, and much damage was done to the poor folk who lived around it.

That eruption was not the beginning of Etna's history of damage. In fact, Etna has been one of the most damaging volcanoes in the world. It has exploded more than 100 times.

Mount Etna is on the Island of Sicily. The lava and ashes which have come from it have built up a cone higher than Mount Vesuvius. Etna's cone is about 1,800 feet high. The cone rises at the summit of a mountain and the crater is more than 2 miles above sea level.

That crater is a huge affair. You would have to walk for almost 3 miles to go around the rim.

In ancient times, Greek colonists came to Sicily and settled there. They have left us records of three great eruptions of Mount Etna.

Since then, hardly a century has passed without one or more explosions. Perhaps the most terrible of all took place in 1169. In that year the city of Catania was destroyed and 15,000 persons lost their lives.

In 1669 an explosion took place inside the mountain and split it open at the side. The split was like a great yawning mouth, 12 miles wide, with flames bursting forth.

In 1853 a river of lava 2 miles wide poured from Mount Etna. It was 12 feet deep and flowed for 6 miles.

During another eruption in the nineteenth century, a curious event took place. A stream of lava was flowing across farm land and was slowly coming near a group of houses. People were busy picking up their goods before flying from the path of the lava.

The lava flowed over a pond of water, and a great swelling took place as though a blister were forming in the lava. Suddenly the blister burst like a bomb—and pieces of lava were flung in every direction—killing 69 persons.

The "blister" was due to the forming of steam when the pond water was heated above the boiling point.

Screen Star Under Knife At Baltimore Hospital

Baltimore, May 13 (A.P.).—Richard Dix, motion picture star, under another name, has been recovering in Union Memorial Hospital here from an operation performed several days ago, but not until today did his identity become known.

The actor, who was expected to be able to leave the hospital soon, was entered on its rolls as E. C. Brimmer, to avoid publicity. He explained today that the present operation was necessary because some of his strenuous athletic efforts before the camera had opened up the wound of an earlier operation for appendicitis. The second operation was performed at the hospital here by Dr. J. M. T. Finney.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

In case you have wondered what will become of the many dog actors popular on the silent screen now that sound has become the dominant element in pictures, it may be of interest that dogs trained to respond to oral commands have been forced to learn to act to signs and silent direction.

A good many of the once famous canines have been forced to retire, and most of the trainers have been pushed one notch nearer a nervous breakdown.

Scenes with dogs have become generally trying, although some of the more intelligent animals have learned when to start and stop barking without audible commands.

Long rehearsals have been necessary for such successful results.

Even before sound pictures there were few dogs that were really dependable. Although some 600 of them were on file, less than 30 were considered sufficiently responsible for film work. Most of the other 570 gave amazing private exhibitions but became unduly excited in the atmosphere of a crowded movie set.

One of the best was and is King Tut, whose namesake lives at the White House, owned by T. A. J. Henry. His rather doubtful ancestry possibly accounts for the fact that he seems devoid of any nerves. He played last in Paramount's "Thunderbolt."

Rin Tin Tin still is a masterful actor, although he has been a bit temperamental for the past several years. He refuses to go through his paces unless he has his kind of music, his kind of coaxing and his kind of sweets.

Given the proper background, he probably is the best trouper of them all.

There is no getting away from it, this Leonard Hall fellow, who formerly newspapered here and now magazines for Mr. Jimmie Quirk, is postcard minded. The last one I received bore no postmark, and I was at a loss to know whether Len was in Hollywood or just over to Hoboken. It turned out to be Hoboken.

This morning comes one plainly stamped Los Angeles, Calif., Arcade Station—wherever that is—where Dr. Hall is, I am led to believe, making an intensive study of Greta Garbo, first hand.

If in the near future you come across a "Nils Hall" by-line at the top of any cogent screed extolling the slinky Swede, you will, I hope, get the idea!

Not to be outdone by the Loew people with their "Broadway Melody," or the Warners with their "Desert Song," or Famous-Lasky with their "Close Harmony," the Fox organization, through Mr. Hardie Meakin, the well known stentor, breaks out the announcement that on Saturday, May 25, it will knock the populace bowlegged with the "Fox Movietone Follies" at the ornate F street cathedral.

This is said to mark still another first step in a new direction and to comprise one of the major causes of the violent attacks of insomnia Mr. Ziegfeld has reputedly been suffering of late.

In the cast are Dave Rollins and Sue Carol, two of the most ebullient youngsters on the Fox lot, whose capers are supported by a vast and versatile coterie of skilled players and a mighty mob of ne plus ultra ladies of the ensemble—although what they are wearing in the "stills" Mr. Meakin kindly sent to this desk doesn't look like any part of an ensemble to me!

What was sent me should be "Behind Closed Doors."

There has never, to my mind, been a more effectively played scene on the screen than that in which H. B. Warner, as the district attorney, cross-examines Norma Shearer, on trial for her life, in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," at the Palace. Any one who views it with any grasp at all of the effort that is being expended in making it a gem of convincing realism by this veteran actor and the young movie star appearing in her first talking role cannot but understand why stage folk refer to it as "working" instead of "playing."

It made me limp just to watch it. That is, I came all unstarched from the tensity of it, but didn't go lame—"limp" is funny that way!

The Warner boys are provident souls. While they had that desert set standing from "The Desert Song," they figured—or so I mistrust—that it should be put to some further use and, pursuant to that thought, dug down into the trunk for that discarded script of "One Stolen Night." Then they walked two miles to get two camels and forthwith had another Oriental picture!

Or maybe I'm wrong.

In the Play House

By JOHN J. DALY

S. E. Cochran offers National Theater Players in "The Thief," a play in three acts by Henri Bernstein. Adapted by C. Haddon Chambers. Staged by Addison Pitt. Scenery by Charles Squires.

THE CAST.

Isabelle Lagardes.....Helen Wallace
Richard Voysin.....Roger Pryor
Marie Louise Voysin.....Edith King
Raymond Legardes....Charles Hampden
M. Zambault.....Edward Arnold
Fernand Legardes.....Freddie Sherman
Henri .....Robert Brister

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES.

Act I—Drawing room of Raymond Lagardes' country place in France. Evening.

Act II—The Voysins' apartment in the Lagardes' home. The same night.

Act III—A room in the Lagardes' home. The next morning.

In the course of their career on E street, the National Theater Players have tackled many manuscripts, and, in the main, have come off handsomely, leaving the field victoriously. There have been, in the nature of things, some disappointments. On the whole, however, the record stands unashamed. A quick glance backward, over the five seasons, fails to produce one memory to offset that of last night in the National Theater when the troupe under the guiding genius of Addison Pitt revived Henri Bernstein's epic, "The Thief."

For some reason or other, the National Theater Players here hit the heights of their repertoire. It may have been chance, or it may have been supreme management that rescued from the files this dust-laden document that once occupied the attention of Kyrle Bellew, Effie Shannon and others of a bygone period. Whatever it was, the vehicle is so eminently suited to the cast that those who played the parts last night might have been the original figments of an author's imagination stalking across stage.

Henri Bernstein in this work of theater paved the way for many mystery plays to follow, but he did more than that. He called for acting ability of the first order, and herein Miss Edith King, the leading lady, and Mr. Roger Pryor, the leading man, meet the test.

Were any number of leading men and leading ladies to be cast in the second-act scene of "The Thief" it might fall into abject miserableness, so much depends upon the tension, the playing of these two principal roles—the husband and wife facing each other in an all-night vigil—that the play must stand or fall on this scene alone.

The story is not easily told without ruining the play for future theatergoers. A hint may suffice. It is this: The Voysins—Marie Louise and her husband, Richard—are house guests of the Lagardes—Isabelle, second wife to Raymond. Rich, Isabelle is in the habit of strewing money about, careless of consequences. A robbery detected, one of the politer sluths is sent for to find the thief. In the course of the action it evolves that the young son of the house is in love with Marie Louise and that, in the sequences, he is accused of theft. It all amounts to mighty drama as worked out by the fertile pen of Henrui Bernstein and as played by these people of the National.

Roger Pryor and Edith King have, in the estimation of a first-night audience, at least, won the right to call themselves artists in their line. Charles Hampden and Helen Wallace serve as fine foils for the fashioning of fireworks destined to make any audience hold tightly to the seats—and Freddie Sherman plays with a fine degree of repression an emotional role, the accused son, that could easily be spoiled with overacting. An old favorite at the National, Edward Arnold, comes back as a detective out of the ordinary—a French magistrate turned to sleuthing; a magnificent figure of a man.

Back to the original premise: The National Theater Players here hit the heights of their repertoire work in Washington. There have been more massive works, plays of infinite value, tragedies and comedies; but, for tenseness, and the portrayal of life under sinister conditions, "The Thief" represents the refined art of a company that has steadily grown toward a point of perfection. Dominating an entire second act, holding an audience breathless through many minutes of intense emotion, without one flicker of comedy relief, is no mean task—and this is what Miss King and Mr. Pryor accomplish, to their everlasting glory and the resplendent record of the National Theater Players.

NATCO

WHEN YOU BUILD WHATEVER YOU BUILD·USE NATCO

No matter what the structure, it gains in economy, in permanence, in comfort, when Natco Double Shell Load Bearing Tile goes into the walls and foundations . . .

Exterior stucco and interior plaster are applied directly to the rough scored tile surfaces. Since the tile never rusts, rots, warps or disintegrates, the stucco is held permanently. The tile quality is uniform.

Natco's exclusive Double Shell Feature insulates the building with a multiple blanket of dead air, which bars the passage of heat and cold. Moisture stops are automatically established in all joints, resisting the inroads of moisture. Since all Natco Tile are absolutely non-inflammable, the building is fire-safe.

From your Natco Dealer, or from the office below, you can obtain full details concerning this, and the other outstanding members of the Complete Natco Line of Structural Clay Tile.

DES MOINES COLLEGE REOPENED BY COURT

SHIELDS ISSUES WARNING

Des Moine, Iowa, May 13 (A.P.).—A court order today reopened Des Moines University, Baptist fundamentalist institution, after it had been closed indefinitely Saturday nght by the trustees.

The district court granted an injunction on application of six students against the action of the board of trustees, which resulted from a student bombardment with eggs and stones of the administration building as a protest against ousting by the board of the entire faculty, including President Harry C. Wayman.

Although classes proceeded in an orderly fashion today, the student ministerial association, including several ordained Baptist minsters, adopted a resoluton protesting the "domineering attitude" of Dr. T. T. Shields, president of the board. "We advise all Baptist union churches," the resolution read, "to withhold support from the present board until Dr. T. T. Shields and Miss Edith Redman resign or are removed from office."

Says Credits Wont Count.

Meanwhile at his home in Toronto Dr. Shields, who was cleared Saturday of rumors of indiscretions involving himself and Miss Rebman, the board's secretary, today said that marks received by students attending classes against the board's order would not be recognized.

Dr. Shields will preside tomorrow at the annual meeting of the Baptist Bible Union of North America at Buffalo, N. Y., at which a future course of action toward the university probably will be decided. Miss Rebman, after remaining in her hotel throughout the day, planned to leave for Buffalo to act as secretary of the convention.

The resolution of the ministerial students, said by them to represent "fundamentalist churches from California to Vermont," asserted that "the issue at Des Moines University is not a fundamentalist-modernist controversy) but is a personal issue between the president of the board of trustees, Dr. Shields; the secretary-treasurer, Miss Rebman, and the present administration under Dr. Wayman."

Patriotic Issue Involved.

"Also the issue involved a growing bitter international feeling in view of the attitude of Dr. Shields and Miss Rebman against patriotic American demonstrations on the campus," the doctor said. Both Shields and Miss Rebman, as well as some students and faculty members, are natives of Canada.

The cause of the student uprising Saturday was said in the resolution to lie in the fact that the board of trustees allowed Dr. Shields to dismiss summarily the entire faculty without receiving any report or recommendation whatsoever from the administration, knowing that this act would surely jeopardize the credits of the students and would drive the faculty and student body away.

Death to Be Asked For Coed Robber

Husband Defends Former Texas University Student at Second Trial.

La Grange, Tex., May 13 (A.P.).—Rebecca Bradley Rogers, former University of Texas student, went to trial here today for the second trial for robbing the Farmers National Bank of Buda, Tex., in 1927.

Questions put to prospective jurors by the prosecution as to infliction of the death penalty for robbery with firearms, the specific offense with which Mrs. Rogers is charged, brought strenuous objections from her husband, Otis Rogers, one of the defense lawyers. Rogers indicated the robbery would be admitted, but that temporary insanity would be claimed.

The defendant was convicted and sentenced to fourteen years in prison at her first trial, but the verdict was reversed on appeal.

Scotto, Former Banker, Imprisoned for Forgery

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Raphael Scotto, former head of the private banking house of L. Scotto & Son, which was closed, with $1,000,000 loss, after a run last September, was sentenced to from four to ten years in Sing Sing Prison today.

Scotto pleaded guilty in December to second-degree forgery. The bank, which was in Brooklyn, was closed by former State Superintendent of Banks Frank H. Warder.

Barney Oldfield Hurt In Automobile Wreck

Winslow, Ariz., May 13 (A.P.).—Barney Oldfield, famous automobile racer of a decade ago, his wife and Mrs. Earl Cooper, wife of another well-known racer, were shaken up and bruised, but not seriously hurt in a collision on the highway west of here today.

Oldfield's car, in which he was driving from Hollywood to Detroit, hit a road grader and went into a ditch. The party continued to Detroit by train.

Shopping with Bab on Connecticut Avenue

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

Of course, you are going to the Hunt Ball and Breakfast next Friday evening at the Mayflower? This is to be the last big ball of the season, and as there have been no events to compare with it in importance for quite some time, it is sure to be extremely gay and lost of fun. The "hunting pink" smart riding costumes, new evening gowns will help make it a most colorful scene. If you have not received your tickets you know that you secure them from Mrs. William Laird Dunlop in the Social Bureau at the Mayflower Hotel.

Portraits of Young Mothers

—and their babies occupy the window at Underwood & Underwood's this week. You must stop by and see them. Rarely have you had a chance to see such a galaxy of loveliness. The pictures represent the finest work of this famous studio.

If you know any one with small babies or little children urge them to have some outdoor garden portraits at this time. Underwood & Underwood do this sort of thing so beautifully and, as you know, will go to your home to make the pictures.

I almost forgot to mention that two handsome oil paintings made from photographs of grandmothers are in the window, too.

By the way, have you ever noticed the great interest which people from distant places take in the studio of Underwood & Underwood? Time and again I have been with new arrivals in the city who have burst out in exclamations when they pass the studio on Connecticut avenue at N street, "Why, there is Underwood's!" It is easy to understand, for they have seen their picture service all over the world.

Made From an Old Tea Caddy

—with a shade designed especially for it, a new lamp attracted me in the Lamp Shade Shop or the shop of Helen Tanquary Smith at No. 2 Dupont Circle. This shop has so much besides fascintaing lamps and shades that it is slightly misleading to call it by the first name. You see, Mrs. Smith has a fine collection of choice antiques, where you may pick up some rare finds.

Alabaster lamps have always been Mrs. Smith's hobby, and at the moment she has some fine ones.

Pasternak's Earliest Spring Models

—that is, the models remaining have been repriced to make way for the summer merchandise which is coming in. Many women have been waiting for just such an event. They know that this group is sure to contain evening and afternoon gowns, sport things and utility ensembles, as well as coats and innumerable casual frocks which are just as appropriate to wear now as they would have been had you purchased a month ago, and think of the money you have saved by waiting.

You need hardly be reminded that the importance of a reduced price event in Pasternak's, 1219 Connecticut Ave., is such an attraction that first arrivals prove themselves the wisest shoppers.

Canterbury Bell Serves Luncheon and Tea

—which is especially nice at this season. The Canterbury Bell Dinner Club is in Alban Towers, 3700 Massachusetts avenue. For $1 you may order a delicious cold plate with rolls and coffee or tea; or you may order waffles and creamed chicken for $1. This service is from 12 to 8 p. m. In the meantime there is tea service and the regular dinner menu. Dinners are $1, $1.50 and $2. For tea, you may have tea and toast and marmalade for 50 cents. The food in the Canterbury Bell is too wonderful for anything.

You Have Heard Me Speak Often

—of wanting a tapestry or something suitable to put above the fireplace in my living room. At last I have one, and just what I wanted. In the Near East Relief and American Friends of Greece, 1334 Connecticut avenue, I found a square print with the henna and blue colors which seem to predominate in the room. It was only $3 and is too good-looking for anything. This shop has such fascinating things. It is impossible to tell you about them in detail. Silks, linens, rugs, hand-blocked prints, pottery and numerous other lovely importations are found here.

Sam Robbins and His Orchestra

from Bermuda, are making life merry at Wardman Park Hotel for the supper and dinner dances. The dinner dance on Saturday night was great fun. It was a farewell to Wesley Eddy and His Gang, and from the way it sounded over the radio it must have been exciting.

Supper dances nightly, from 10 to 1, are attended by every one who likes a little simple easy amusement at a small expense. Nothing could be more attractive than Wardman Park Hotel at any and all times. In the evening, with soft lights glowing and the best imaginable music, it is the place ideal for a good time.

Soon other attractions will begin, for this is a famous summer place. Can you name another city hotel, any where, which has a country environment, swimming, riding, tennis, dancing and every imaginable thing to make life enjoyable?

The Newest Frock for Sport Wear

—arrived yesterday at Betty Hanna's, 1613 Connecticut avenue. This shop continues to have the most distinctive selections imaginable. Go in and see what they have and tell me if you agree that there is no other shop in town just like it. This new frock is a two-piece in bambino silk, with the skirt laced up on each side and the blouse laced up in front.

Divine lace evening gowns have arrived, too. Some are trimmed in tulle. They are in egg-shell and white and flesh. Quite a number of models which came in earlier have been reduced one-fourth.

You Have a Package Waiting for You

—at The Williard Shop, 1033 Connecticut Ave. All you have to do is just step in the door and ask for yours. It is done up and waiting. It is something that refreshes fastidious gentlemen and pleases lovely women. I am telling you this in all sincerity, so that you may go in and be one of the first to receive this lovely little gift.

The Williard Shop is a great comfort and joy to men who are accustomed to buying all their wearing apparel in one place. It is possible to shop quickly and expeditiously here, which is one of its great attractions to busy men. Men do not like to spend hours shopping as women do just for the sheer pleasure of doing it, so when they find a place which has exactly what they want in the smartest, most conservative and most up-to-the-minute apparel they are sure to return to it consistently.

Straw hats are the chief topic today and men are finding in The Williard Shop, 1033 Connecticut Ave., the newest blocks in panamas and all the other fashionable straws.

Don't forget to go in today and ask for the package I have told you about.

Men Like the Iron Gate Inn

—because it is possible to have secluded tables in the old horse stalls of this one-time stable. They like the good food, too, and the quick service, as well as the reasonable prices.

This is one of the many unique restaurants which Washington boasts. It was Gen. Miles' stable, and retains all the identifying architecture, the little stairway leading to the loft, and all that sort of thing.

Special parties receive special attention. Soon the garden will be used; that is, as soon as the weather permits. The address is 1734 N street.

Affectionately,

Bab

Frequency Battle on Tomorrow

Commissioners Have Hearing on WNJ Petition to Get WRC's Place in Radio Broadcasting; Sets in Tenements Now.

Considerable local interest hinges on the hearing to be held by the Federal Radio Commission tomorrow in the case of station WNJ, Radio Investment Co., Newark, N. J., which has applied for the broadcasting frequency now being used by station WRC, in Washington. As the radio law reads, any station dissatisfied with its frequency may apply for any other frequency desired. After a hearing the Federal Radio Commission is empowered to make the change if it believes it to be in the public interest, convenience or necessity.

At the present time, station WNJ, which broadcasts with a power of 250 watts, half that used by WRC, is occupying a frequency of 1,450 kilocycles, along with eight other stations. The Newark station complaining is required to divide time, that is to say, share its broadcasting hours with three other stations in New Jersey on the same frequency, WBMS, Union City; WIBS, Elizabeth; and WKBO, Jersey City.

The frequency at present occupied by WRC, 950 kilocycles, is also used by stations KMBC, Kansas City, Mo.; KFWB, Los Angeles, Calif.; KPFN, Pasadena, Calif.; and KGHL, Billings, Mont. However, these stations are so far away that station WRC has been able to operate full time, that is to say, every day and every night.

The presentation of WRC's case will be in the hands of F. M. Russell, newly appointed vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., in charge of the Washington affairs. The principal witness for the station will be M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., who has just returned to New York from a trip abroad.

That the tenement house dwellers as well as the farmers are being influenced by radio is revealed in a survey made by the National Bureau of Economic Research on behalf of the committee on recent economic changes of the President's Unemployment Conference.

"The influence of this new medium of communication," the survey declares, "ramify widely."

For the farmer the radio not only acts as a source of general news and crop information, but also as a solvent of the differences between the wants and interests of urban and rural population. Enormous influence of unforeseen significance is also being exerted by it in such districts as the lower East Side of New York City. On the roof of practically every tenement house numerous radio antenna are now in evidence.

"There is every indication," the survey states, "that this new method of communication is already extensively installed in homes that so often have been looked upon as somewhat impervious to the rapid spread of new ideas. The socializing influence and the possible effects of such a development on the standards of living of large numbers of consumers are subject for interesting speculation."

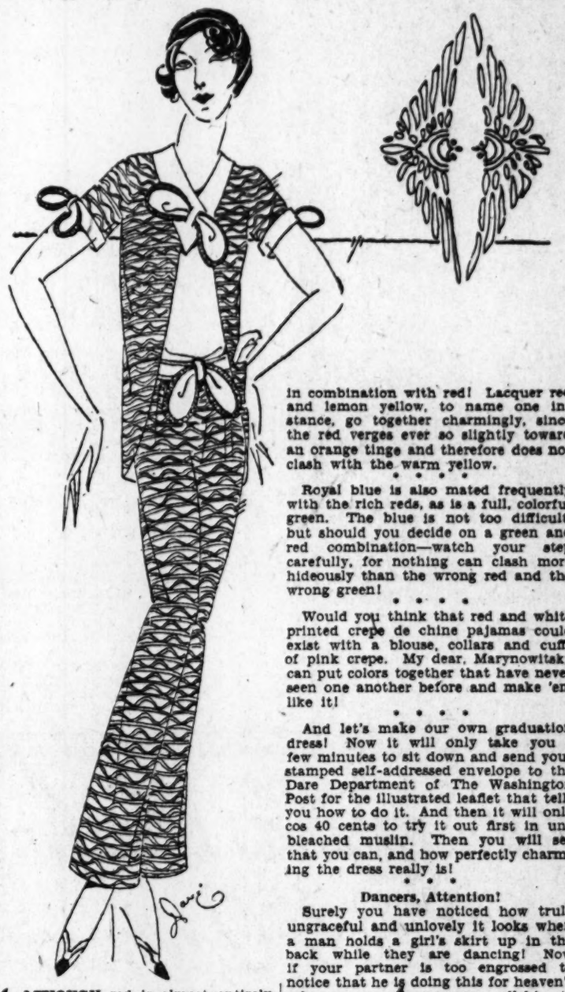
Jane Interprets the Mode

Pajamas of red and white printed crepe de chine, ingeniously trimmed in pink crepe.. The jacquette and trousers are of a red material with white all-over design. (Courtesy of Marynowitsky, Paris.)



ALTHOUGH red is almost entirely lacking from certain Paris collections, the fact remains that, viewing the season by and large, the brilliant reds are a color to be reckoned with.

We find them mostly at the two extremes of milady's wardrobe — sports wear and formal evening wear. Certain houses, such as Martial et Armand, feature red heavily in their sports attire. Others—Poiret, Lucile, Lenief, for instance—show stunning evening gowns in more or less brilliant shades of red.

But the thing that distinguishes this season's use of red from that of bygone seasons is that where previously it was used alone or with white, it is now finding its place in combination with other and equally bright colors.

Yellow, in itself a very popular color this season, is not uncommonly used in combination with red! Lacquer red and lemon yellow, to name one instance, go together charmingly, since the red verges ever so slightly toward an orange tinge and therefore does not clash with the warm yellow.

• • • •

Royal blue is also mated frequently with the rich reds, as is a full, colorful green. The blue is not too difficult, but should you decide on a green and red combination—watch your step carefully, for nothing can clash more hideously than the wrong red and the wrong green!

• • • •

Would you think that red and white printed crepe de chine pajamas could exist with a blouse, collars and cuffs of pink crepe. My dear, Marynowitsky can put colors together that have never seen one another before and make 'em like it!

• • • •

And let's make our own graduation dress! Now it will only take you a few minutes to sit down and send your stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells you how to do it. And then it will only cos 40 cents to try it out first in unbleached muslin. Then you will see that you can, and how perfectly charming the dress really is!

Dancers, Attention!

Surely you have noticed how truly ungraceful and unlovely it looks when a man holds a girl's skirt up in the back while they are dancing! Now if your partner is too engrossed to notice that he is doing this for heaven's sake—or any other reason—call his attention to it. "Oh wad some power the giftie gie us to see ourels as ithers see us!" Rear view, any dance floor!

Petite Adorable is getting ready for her summer vacation at the seashore by practicing her swimming strokes lying flat on her little tummy on the round piano stool! We were able to convince her that if she could swim mentally she could swim actually—and now, although she has never really been in the water, she is so sure of herself that she will be able to swim not only without the slightest danger but, what is more important, she has no fear of the water.

South, Declarer, contract No Trump. West led the Six of Clubs. South, using the Rule of Eleven and subtracting six from eleven, could count that there were only five Clubs higher than the Six that were not in the hand of the leader; and as Declarer had them all (one in Dummy and four in Closed Hand), he knew he could win the trick with the Seven in the Closed Hand and thought that playing the Jack from Dummy would be spending an unnecessarily high card. Consequently, he passed the Club up to the Closed Hand, winning with the Seven.

He then put Dummy in with the Ace of Hearts, led a diamond from Dummy and finessed the Ten. When his double finesse won, he put Dummy in with the King of Spades and led a second Diamond for a second finesse, and on the next trick the Ace of Diamonds won the third round and established Dummy's two long Diamonds. All this was fine, but as Dummy did not have another entry, Closed Hand could not discard two of his three losing cards on Dummy's good Diamonds. Declarer had to give up one Spade, one Heart and one Club; he consequently made four odd.

Could he have done any better?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

When playing to the first trick Declarer could see that he might need three entries in Dummy as he might want to take two Diamond finesses and also put Dummy in to make his long Diamonds after that suit was established. While South could take the first trick with the Club Seven, it could cost nothing to win it with the Jack in Dummy.

This would give Dummy one more entry; that hand would lead Diamonds to trick 2, and Closed Hand would win with the Ten. Then Dummy could be put in with a Heart, a second Diamond trick won with Closed Hand's Queen and the Diamonds established by leading the Ace. This would mean that when Dummy gets in with the Spade King he would cash two long Diamonds and Declarer would make a small Slam.

MAY 14.

BILLIE DOVE, famous star of the motion pictures, was born this day, 1903, in New York City. She was educated in private schools in New York. When she was only 14 years old she had won fame as an artist's model. When she was 16, she was prominently cast in the Ziegfeld Follies. At the age of 19, she began her screen career by playing a role in Constance Talmadge's picture, "Polly of the Follies."

Margaret of Navarre, wife of Henry of Navarre, afterward Henry IV, King of France, was born this day, 1553. The marriage was dissolved on his accession to the throne. Her home was the rendezvous during the period for the most prominent people of fashion and learning. She left some highly interesting memoirs.

Other noted women born this day include Hilda Spong, Anglo-American actress, 1875, and Maude Fulton, actress and playwright, 1881.

LIST DROPS SHARPLY IN BEARS' NEW DRIVE

FEW RAILS WIN SUPPORT

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Comparatively easy money appeared to have come to Wall Street too late today, for nerves were so frayed by the persistence of 14 per cent call money last week that bears were able to drive traders into a headlong rush to sell, although funds were in adequate supply at only 7 per cent all day.

As measured by the Associated Press indices, the prices broke more sharply than at any time since the money crisis of late March. Scores of important issues tumbled from 3 to nearly 10 points, and total sales were carried to 4,626,290 shares, the heaviest turnover in a fortnight.

Several of the large commission houses sent out precautionary advices over their wires, one making the rather alarming observation that it looked like inside selling and outside buying. Wall Street was buzzing with bearish rumors all day—all unconfirmable and most of them emphatically denied by late afternoon. The report that Secretary Mellon had resigned was revived. It was said that President Hoover had called a conference of the Federal Reserve Board. Another reserve board warning on credit was said to be forthcoming.

Case Not Very Convincing.

An unsettling development over the week-end was the Burgess-Sprague report to President Hoover's committee on economic changes, stating that the proper functioning of the New York money market is being hampered by the insatiable demands of the stock market. The return to Washington of Gov. Young of the reserve board, after a visit to the Pacific Coast, also engendered nerve-wracking rumors concerning credit.

As a matter of fact, the ease in call money was not very convincing, for time money was loaning as high as 9 per cent for 30 and 60-day maturities. Also, bankers pointed out that heavy drain on the money market will soon be felt as rights recently offered to large issues of stocks and bonds are exercised.

A conspicuous point in the day's news was the copper statistics for April, showing that while production was nearly up to the March total, shipments declined to 156,759 tons, from 165,906 in March, indicating a slackening of demand. The California State oil umpire ordered another reduction in crude output.

Copper Stocks Sell Off.

Copper stocks sold off rapidly, Anaconda dropping more than 8 points. Greene Cananea and Kennecott lost about 5 each, but made up some of their losses toward the close. Prices generally came back a point or two from their lowest levels in short covering in the last half hour.

Aviation stocks were hard hit, United Aircraft dropping about 14 points to 137, but closing just above 141. Radio tumbled about 6 points to 92, and closed at 94. Case Threshing dropped 28 points to 397 in a small turnover. Utilities encountered heavy profit taking on their recent advance, American and Foreign Power and Consolidated Gas selling down 5 and 6 points. In the motors, Chrysler dropped more than 6 points to a new 1929 low.

General Electric, which reached a new high last week on rumors of a splitup, dropped 6 points to 258, but closed at 262. American Can, a recent strong point, made an extreme loss of about 7 points.

Chemicals Under Pressure.

Chemicals were under heavy pressure. Commercial Solvents losing 15 points. Allied Chemical, Allis Chalmers, Bethlehem and U. S. Steels, Electric Auto Lite, Houston Oil, Johns Manville, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, Western Union and U. S. Industrial Alcohol were among issues selling 4 to 8 points lower.

A few of the rails were supported for a time, Boston & Maine rising 4 points on talk of a possible resumption of dividends.

The buying in this group, however, was largely in expectation of a decision in the St. Louis and O'Fallon case, and when this failed to appear, support was withdrawn. A couple of the specialties moved upward against the general trend, Airway Electrical Appliance and Kelsey Hayes reaching new highs. South Porto Rico Sugar sold up about 5 points to a new top, in further buying on the prospect of a higher tariff.

In contrast to the stock market, commodities generally were firmer. Wheat rallied about a cent a bushel on a decrease in the visible supply, better tone at Liverpool and freight rate reductions. Corn was firmer on bullish weather, and cotton was helped by bullish crop reports and heavy rains.

Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, although sterling cables were a shade lower at $4.85 7/8.

DOWNWARD TRENDS RESUMED BY BONDS

Nervous Credit Situation Causes Semispeculative Issues to Move Off.

CARRIERS HOLD UP BEST

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—The active semispeculative convertible bonds listed on the exchange sold downward with stocks today as traders surveyed the credit outlook nervously. Strictly investment issues, in slight degree, also reflected the predominant bearish sentiment, and in groups like Cuban sugar issues, affected by unfavorable tariff prospects, weakness was quite pronounced. The market as a whole resumed the irregular downward trend that prevailed most of last week.

Selling of the stock feature issues at lower prices continued throughout the session, with the exception of feeble rallying efforts before noon and the close. Losses of a point or more were plentifully scattered through the list and a number of issues made new lows for the year.

The rails showed the greatest resistance to the general trend. With the rise of the stock to a new high, the recently listed Missouri Pacific convertible 5½s were heavily bought, and they moved into new high ground at 102, but sold down to finish with a fractional gain, the only active convertible advance. High-grade rail mortgages also bucked the decline.

Among the recent convertible favorites moving with the recessions were American I. G. Chemical 5½s, off more than a point; American Telephone 4½s, off 1½; Atchison 4½s, off a fraction, and International Telephone 4½s, off nearly 3 points.

Junior rails yielded ground. Central of Georgia refunding 5½s slumped more than 4 points to a new low at 99¼. Frisco 4½s and Texas & Pacific C 5s, the two most active issues of the group, sold off. Speculative activity again was pronounced in the Seaboard Air Line issues, influenced by recapitalization prospects. The adjustment 5s recorded a 1-point rise to within a fraction of their high.

Sugar issues making new lows on further liquidation following publication of the proposed tariff increase included Cuba Dominican 7½s, Vertientes 7s and Oriente Estates, losses in this group ranging beyond 3 points.

French Republic 7s continued firm on the heaviest turnover in the foreign division. Some of the secondary European government loans also were firm. German Central Agricultural Bank 7s slumped further to a new low at 93¼, while the 6s of 1960 equaled their year's low.

NATS LOSING REPUTATION AS "SMART" BALL TEAM

Almost the Naked Truth

By JAMES S. COLLINS

NEW YORK, May 13.—Baseball loses onee of its most colorful characters in the passing of George Stallings. He was a manager of a turbulent school, driving his men and himself mercilessly and fighting for every point. Spectators in the stand used to turn pale with fright when they heard him turn on his men. It was his flaming spirit that lifted the mediocre Braves of 1914 from last place to a world's championship in the most spectacular pennant dash ever staged. The Braves could not be beaten that year because Stallings would not let them be beaten. Many of the players on that team were below major league caliber, but Stallings kept them playing over their heads for three memorable months.

What with his fiery temper, his imprecations and entreaties, his restlessness and superstitions, Stallings on the bench was very poor company for a nervous man, but he had a way of inspiring his own will to win in others. New York saw a demonstration of that ability twenty years ago, when he took over a completely demoralized Yankee team and in a single season lifted it from the cellar to second place. Unfortunately for the club, Stallings was not given a free hand and he threw up the management in disgust in midseason of the following year.

In George Stallings' mind, failure to run out a hit and loafing on a fielding chance belonged in the same category with murder, arson and kidnaping, and brought the full fury of his wrath on the head of the offender. Because he taught them to battle right to the last putout, his championship Braves snatched many a victory from the jaws of defeat. Their ninth-inning rallies were famous.

Wilbert Robinson has three scouts out combing the ivory marts for talent to bolster the drooping Robins. Mr. Robinson has instructed his agents to look especially hard for a pitcher and a second baseman. What he really seems to need is a whole flock of pitchers, three or four infielders and a couple of outfielders. Outside of those deficiencies the team is pretty well set.

Mr. Robinson is said to be casting a longing eye on a Cub pitcher, but Chicago wants Gink Hendrick in exchange and Uncle Wilbert is loath to part with that hard-hitting and earnest young man. Since Pittsburgh handed him a gold brick in the person of Glenn Wright, Barney Dreyfus would seem to be resting under some slight moral obligation to help out Mr. Robinson, but Mr. Robinson is likely to find, if he throws out any hints in that direction, that moral obligations do not come under the head of tangible assets this year.

At that, if Mr. Dreyfus had a cripple on his hands, he probably would let Mr. Robinson have him, which is more than Mr. McGraw, of the Giants, would do to help out his former pal.

Huggins Ponders Assassination Of Worthless Pitcher.

Myles Thomas, the young right-hander whose departure from the Yanks impends, will carry away something besides fond memories from New York. Thomas has had a finger in three world series pies, his shares totaling about $15,000. Except for his work as a batting practice pitcher, Thomas has been virtually a total loss to the team. Huggins would have gotten rid of him long ago but for the fact that Dan Howley, of the Browns, wants him, and Brother Huggins is exceedingly anxious not to do anything that might possibly help Brother Howley.

Huggins would much rather shoot Mr. Thomas than sell him to a rival manager, but it seems there is a law against getting rid of ball players in that manner.

Death Claims Stallings At 63

Succumbs in Sleep on His Georgia Plantation.

HADDOCK, Ga., May 13 (A.P.).—Death today claimed George T. Stallings, 63, veteran baseball player and manager, who wrote his name among the game's immortals in 1914 when he led the Boston National League Club from the cellar in July to a world's championship.

The veteran pilot died at his plantation home near here this morning while he slept, bringing to an end his courageous battle of nearly a year against heart disease. A nurse, going to his room at 6 o'clock, found him dead and physicians said death had come an hour before.

Stallings, a colorful figure both as a player and a manager, was forced to relinquish active management of his Montreal Club in the International League in the midst of the pennant campaign last season because of the heart affliction.

Twice Rallied After Relapses, Aided by Fighting Heart.

On advice of physicians, Stallings came to his plantation home, where it was hoped the change in climate and that would restore his health. He became worse, however, in a short time and was removed to a hospital at Macon, where for several days physicians despaired of his life. His fighting heart that carried him through many strenuous baseball campaigns served him in good stead and he rallied and later was removed to Atlanta, where he improved and after several weeks returned to his home.

He took several automobile rides about his plantation, but about a week ago suffered a relapse. Again he rallied, and his condition was such that a night nurse was not considered necessary. Last night he seemed to be bearing up well, but this morning he was dead.

After rallying from his first grave illness, Stallings told the first newspaper men who called on him:

"Well, boys, the Umpire up yonder (pointing skyward) has two strikes on me, but the old man's not out yet."

Maintained Deep Interest in Baseball Until the Last.

Throughout his illness Stallings remained cheerful and never lost interest in the game to which he devoted the major portion of his life. When desperately ill last summer he asked for scores of his club's games daily and, although unable to join his team this spring, kept in close touch with its progress through newspapers and private reports.

Stallings, a native of Augusta, Ga., the home of Ty Cobb, another colorful baseball figure, first attracted notice as a manager of the New York Yankees, which club he built up from a tailender when he took control in 1909 to runner-up in 1910, but it was not until 1914 that his genius as a baseball tactician attracted widespread notice and won for him the title of "Miracle Man," which clung until his death.

In that year Stallings startled the

JAPAN TENNIS TEAM HERE TODAY

To Practice at Chevy Chase for Davis Cup Match Here.

TAMIO ABE, Teiichi Onda and Yoshio Ota, Japan's Davis Cup tennis players, are due here today, early enough to start a siege of intensive practice, with the expectation of battling Uncle Sam's trio next week at the Chevy Chase Club in the decisive skirmish of the American zone. The United States, Japan and Canada are involved.

The Japanese apparently have taken it for granted that the United States, represented by John Van Ryn, John Hennessey and Wilmer Allison, will eliminate Canada in matches to be played this week at Montreal. The American stars will arrive here Monday, and on the following day will join with the sons of Nippon in putting on a tennis show for President and Mrs. Hoover and their guests at the White House.

Record Crowd of 3,000 Expected at Matches.

In the meantime preparations are being made to handle a record crowd of 3,000 fans at Chevy Chase. The championship matches will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, with two singles on the first day, a doubles match and an exhibition on the second and two singles on the third.

Tickets have been placed on sale at all of the leading city and country clubs and at Spalding's, and a sell-out is the prospect, according to Lawrence A. Baker, chairman of the Chevy Chase tennis committee handling the arrangements.

A sries ticket, entitling the holder to the same seat for three days, may be obtained for $5 and a box seating six persons for $50. Single-day tickets will be sold at the grounds on the day of play to circumvent speculators and avoid rain complications. These will retail at $2. All proceeds will be turned over to the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Friberg's Double Gives Phillies 10 to 9 Victory

Philadelphia, May 13 (A.P.).—Barney Friberg's double with the bases filled in the ninth inning today enabled the Philadelphia Nationals to defeat St. Louis, 10 to 9.

The Phillies had to fight an uphill battle to win. Going into the seventh they were six runs behind. They picked up two and added another pair in the eighth when Cy Williams, pinch hitting for Elliott, hit a home run with one man on base. Friberg made a home run in an earlier inning and won the game in the ninth.

Marion Turpie Defeated in Golf Upset

All Eyes on Glenna Collett and Joyce Wethered.

ST. Andrews, Scotland, May 13 (A.P.).—Glenna Collett, women's champion of the United States, and Joyce Wethered, who has held the British women's title three times, were chief attractions today as the championship test started over the historic St. Andrews course.

The two stars won their first round matches by comfortable margins, Miss Collett defeating Miss Marjorie White, of Roehampton, 5 up and 3 to play, while Miss Wethered won from Miss Phyllis Lobbelt, 6 and 5.

Miss Marion Turpie, New Orleans girl, who was the Southern woman champion last year, met unexpected defeat at the hands of Miss S. F. Dampney, a stylish, hard-hitting opponent, who has won many minor tournaments in the London area. Miss Dampney's victory was by a margin of 3 and 2.

All Eyes on Glenna and Joyce In International Tourney.

Miss Marion Hollins, former champion of the United States, won from Mrs. R. V. Finlay, 5 and 3, and Miss Gertrude Boothby, Rochester, Minn., advanced to the second round without a contest when her scheduled opponent defaulted. Mrs. E. A. Guggenheim, New York, who was entered, was one of the numerous scratches.

All eyes today were for Glenna and Joyce. The American girl has come for the third time to seek the title which no American has been able to win. The British girl star has returned to championship play in an effort to realize her ambition to win the title at St. Andrews and to attempt to halt the threat from the United States.

Close observers expect these two to go on to the 36-hole finals Friday. They are in opposite sides of the draw, and, unless one should suffer a reversal of form, none of the players grouped with them seems to have the golf equipment to upset the advance calculations.

Miss Collett in Heavy Clothes Despite Warmth of Day.

The American champion was greeted with real golfing weather, sunshine and blue skies. The visitor, however, learned her lesson at Hunstanton and she wore a suede jacket and heavier clothing for a warmer spring day at St. Andrews than when she was blown out of the competition last year. Miss Collett, in her brown jacket and warm woolens, presented a contrast to many of the English women, dressed in gay colors, blue, green, red and yellow, with saucy little berets on their heads and varicolored rolled-down socks over their golf stockings.

Glenna Outdrives Foe Easily on Every Hole.

McTigue Easy Winner In Comeback Attempt

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight champion, tonight took the first step in his comeback attempt when he outclassed Paul Hoffman, Dutch heavyweight, in a ten-round bout. McTigue played with his youthful rival, outboxed him all the way, floored him in the seventh and won the decision going away. Hoffman was in bad shape after his knockdown in the seventh, the bell finding him on the floor.

Reds Down Giants, 7-0; McGrawmen in 7th Place

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds shoved the Giants into seventh place in the National League standing today by scoring a 7-to-0 victory in the first game of their series.

Adolfo Luque, Cuban veteran, shut out the Giants with six scattered hits, while the Reds were doing plenty of hard and timely hitting against Walker and Judd. Bill Walker, the young left-hander, who was selected to start, lasted less than two innings.

The Giants were playing ball under difficulties today. Both of their second basemen, Reese and Cohen, were out of action and Mellott was called in from the outfield to cover the keystone sack. Cohen injured his left knee yesterday and Reese has an infected foot.

Robins Claim Alex Ferguson In Move to Bolster Line-Up

NEW YORK, May 13 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Nationals management today announced the first moves in a series of player deals which are expected to bolster the waning strength of the Robins. Alex Ferguson, a right handed pitcher has been acquired from the Phillies by the waiver route and Outfielder Nick Cullop has been released to Atlanta in the Southern League.

The release of Cullop is the first part of a deal that is expected to bring Infielder Eddie Moore, formerly of the Pirates and the Braves, to Brooklyn. Moore now is with Toledo. The Atlanta club is expected to send Max Rosenfeld to Toledo when Cullop reports, while Moore is to leave Toledo when Rosenfeld appears to take his place. Moore is slated to cover second base for the Robins.

The Robins also informed Douglas McWeeny, who signed a contract calling for $12,000 for his pitching services this year, that if he fails to show improvement in his work the next time he pitched, he might be indefinitely suspended. McWeeny has won only one game out of five starts.

INDIANS TRIM YANKEES, 4 TO 3

Hudlin Allows 6 Hits; Checks Rally in Final Frame.

CLEVELAND, May 13 (A.P.).—Willis Hudlin, young Cleveland right-hander, held the slugging Yankees to six hits today and gave the Indians the opening game of the series, 4 to 3. It war the Yankees third straight reverse after their str ik of eight victories, but they remained in a tie with the Athletics for first place in the American League, as the Philadelphians also went down today.

Hudlin gave the orld's champions but three hits in the first eight innings and gamely checked a ninth inning rally which died out with the tying run on base. Ruth, Gehrig and Meusel touched Hudlin for successive singles in the ninth to score two runs. Mark Koenig's first homer of the year was the Yanks' only score before the ninth.

The Indians go to Lefty Heimach for ten hits before he was taken out for a pinch hitter. They scored in two of the frames, with errors by Ruth and Koenig contributing three runs. Henry Johnson finished the game. Ruth's single in the ninth carried his hitting streak through thirteen consecutive games.

UHLE CHECKS MACKS FOR 6TH WIN

Tigers Rout Earnshaw, Scoring 5 in Eighth for 5-3 Victory.

DETROIT, Mich., May 13 (A.P.).—George Uhle today turned in his sixth victory of the season in as many starts, pitching airtight ball against the Athletics in the tight places, while his teammates batted around in the seventh inning, to give him his victory by 5 to 3. The Tiger victory maintained the tie for first place in the American League between the Yankees and Athletics, as Cleveland defeated New York.

For six innings the game was as pretty an exhibition of pitching as has been seen here this year. Only three hits were obtained off Uhle and four off George Earnshaw, and only Roy Johnson got past first for either side.

Many Defeats Traced to Lapses

Liska Opposes Gray in First of Set With Browns Today.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—The Nats not only have been losing ball games with discouraging regularity in both the East and the West but they are losing the respect of the baseball world in general which had been accustomed to regard Washington ball teams as "smart" ball teams for the past several seasons.

The Nats' record at this writing is seven victories and twelve defeats, and the difference between this rating and one of .500 or better lies in games in which they have beaten themselves because some of their players have been using their heads as hat rests only. The going is hard enough based strictly on mechanical competition without the Washington club kicking in with "boners."

In the recent past the Nats have been known as a "clever" team, and slumps have not affected their heads. Conditions seem to have changed this season and unless the players suddenly start doing the proper thing at the proper time the Macks and Yankees between them will have them out of the race in the coming series before they actually have been in it.

Outfielders Amiss in Throws To Proper Bases.

A check-up of the score book shows that outfield returns, either to the wrong place or over the head of the infielder running out to make the relay, have cost several games, as invariably they have enabled the batter to gain an extra base on the throw-in, and later this gift gain has enabled him to score on blows that followed.

Scribes are not allowed to be present at the pregame meetings, but it is understood that Acting Manager Milan has preached several sermons on this topic and apparently with no beneficial results. Perhaps a fine here and there would make his point clearer.

While the Nationals still think they are a good team, it must be admitted that they have not played heads-up baseball at times, otherwise they would have won at least half of the eight games they have lost so far this season by the margin of a single run.

Hadley's Failure to Follow Orders Costs Nats Sunday Game.

The Sabbath game in Chicago might have been saved had Pitcher Irving Hadley followed the instructions which, the writer has learned from some of the players, were issued him by Acting Boss Milan when he was sent to Burke's relief in the ninth inning. The Nats were leading, 2 to 1. There was one out, White Sox were on third and second, and Kamm, who previously had cracked out two doubles and a single, was at bat.

As the winning run already was on second, Hadley was told not to give Kamm any good balls at which to hit, yet he grooved one when in a bad hole and at a time when a pass would have done no particular harm and would have given the infielders a play at every base. The result was another double and the ball game. This was the most glaring pitching shortcoming —also a disobedience of orders—any of the Nats have shown other than ineffectiveness, which is part of the game.

Should the Nationals happen to win

BLUE LARKSPUR IN FAST WORKOUT IN MUD AT DOWNS

Muddy Track For Derby Forecast

Windy City, Mudder, and Chicatie Also Show Speed.

LOUISVILLE, May 13 (A.P.).—The weather outlook is for rain the latter part of this week, which would make the Churchill Downs track muddy and Blue Larkspur, the Kentucky Derby favorite, increased the hopes of his followers today by showing that heavy going doesn't interfere with his fast feet.

Derby candidates that have a liking for sloppy going were given an opportunity to add to the confidence of their backers in the morning trials. An impressive workout by Blue Larkspur and Bay Beauty, over the half-mile course, was the feature. The favorite negotiated the quarter in 24 3-5 seconds and the half in 50 2-5, while Bay Beauty finished in 50 4-5.

Bradley to Start Both Colts In Classic, Is Indication.

This seemed to set at rest any doubts that the two colts from the Idle Hour Farm Stables can run in the mud and brought expressions of relief from their backers, it also was believed that Bradley will start both colts in the derby in another attempt to take one-two honors in the classic, a feat he has accomplished twice. In 1921 Behave Yourself and Black Servant ran first and second, and in 1926 Bubbling Over and Bagenbaggage turned the same Naishapur, derby hope of the West, also showed he could go well in the mud and breezed five-eighths of a mile in 1:05 2-5, completing his turn around the oval eased up. His fractional time was quarter in 0:25 2-5; half in 0:52 1-5, and three-quarters, 1:20 2-5.

Chiatic, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's entry, went the same distance as Blue Larkspur and Bay Beauty in 0:53 1-5; and did it under hard restraint.

Windy City, another colt given strong consideration for derby honors, was timed for three-eighths of a mile in 0:39 flat, while Hiram Kelly went out the full derby route in 2:20.

Knebelkamp Sells McGonigle To Stuyvesant Peabody.

Florhi, another of the derby eligibles sent through the muck, breezed three-quarters in 1:25, the first quarter in 0:28, and the half in 0:57.

There was considerable interest among racing followers today with the announcement that Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Lincoln Fields Jockey Club, will be represented in the derby through the purchase of McGonigle, the gelded son of Omar Khayyam, from C. H. Knebelkamp. The terms of the sale were not announced.

McGonigle qualified handsomely for his derby effort by defeating Royal Julian by a nose in the fourth race on the card.

12 Derby Hopes to Race Today in Mile "Trial"

Louisville, Ky., May 13 (U.P.).—Twelve Kentucky Derby candidates have been named to start in "The Trial," fifth race at the Churchill Downs oval tomorrow at 1 mile. Several leading contenders for the fifty-fifth running of the Derby Saturday are on the list, but as the race probably will be run over a heavy track there may be several withdrawals before post time.

The two Far Western representatives, Naishapur and Ervast, are entered, while the remainder of the field is made up of Middle Western thoroughbreds. Port Harlem from the E. B. McLean Stable is the only filly named.

Fred Grabner's Windy City may go to the post the favorite, with Naishapur, Ervast, Lord Braedalbane and the Three D's entry, Double Heart and Prince Pat, all getting good play.

All but two of the entries will carry 114 pounds, Port Harlem having a 109-pounds impost and Botanical, E. R. Bradley's maiden, 108. The distance is 1 mile.

The entries include Paraphrase, Boris, Lord Braedalbane, Naishapur, Double Heart, Port Harlem, Ervast, Prince Pat, Botanical, Windy City, The Choctaw and Suitor.

Bennett to Play Kelly In Hilltop Golf Finals

Winning his third straight match, after having shot the lowest score in the qualifying round, Gordon Bennett yesterday advanced to the finals of the Georgetown University Senior Class Golf Tournament. He defeated Paul Murray, 2 and 1, while Ed Kelly, who will meet him today for the championship, disposed of Jack Kearns, 3 and 2. The final will be played at 1 p. m. on the Rock Creek Course.

The Flannery brothers, Raymond and Jack, will meet for the honors in the second flight, both having won their semifinal matches yesterday. The former beat Frank McKenna, 1 up in 19 holes, while Jack downed Ed Fish, 2 and 1.

ADVANCES TO SEMIFINALS.

Mrs. Miriam Sterling Shipley advanced to the semifinals in the elimination tournament of the women's departmental golf championship by yesterday defeating Miss Ora Smith in a special match. Mrs. Shipley's score was 85.

PLAY LEAGUE GAME TODAY.

The Park View Christian Church Nine engages St. Albans in a Georgetown game today on the North Ellipse Diamond at 5 o'clock. Players of both teams are requested to report by 4:45 o'clock.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SADA, $12.62, $7.38, $6.40; MARY McCLAIN, $24.12, $20.90; ILLUSTRIOUS, $13.24.

SADA, well up from start, but racing in close quarters, cut sharply across leaders when straightened in stretch and continuing well under punishment, wore MARY McCLAIN down in a drive. Latter took command soon after start, shook off FINNIC midway of the stretch, but could not withstand winner's challenge near end. ILLUSTRIOUS worked way up steadily on outside and, closing with good courage, outgamed FINNIC. Latter tired badly in the final test. SUPER LOVE was racing well up an eighth out when impeded by the winner. THUNDER GIRL almost went to her knees when rushed to the first turn.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:34. Off at 3:36. Winner, S. Peabody's b. g. (3), by Omar Khayyam—Lady Astor. Trained by C. E. Gross. Value to winner, $1,125; second, $328.50; third, $194. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49, 1:15 3-5, 1:42 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—McGONIGLE, $3 60, $2.54, out; ROYAL JULIAN, $3.20, out; BUDDY BASIL, out.

McGONIGLE, steadily restrained and racing wide to far turn, moved up steadily when urged entering stretch and, continuing gamely under severe punishment, wore ROYAL JULIAN down in a long, hard drive. Latter raced AMSTERDAM into submission first quarter, saved all possible ground throughout and only faltered in final stride. BUDDY BASIL had to be ridden hard throughout and was tiring through stretch. ST. IGNATIUS had no mishaps. AMSTERDAM, used up first three-eighths, tired badly after reaching far turn.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,800. The Seelbach Hotel Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:59. Off at 4:01. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CAYUGA, $6.32, $3.62, out; DINNER DANCE, $3.74, out; RHINOCK, out.

CAYUGA followed the pace under steadying restraint, was taken to the outside on the turn, wore DINNER DANCE down to draw out decisively last sixteenth. DINNER DANCE displayed usual easily speed, held on stubbornly when challenged midway of the stretch, but quit badly final seventy yards. RHINOCK, outrun to last eighth, closed with a belated rush to take third position in last stride. FLY HAWK showed a good effort after meeting some early interference. BEAUREGARD tired as if short. BOO ran as if he disliked the sloppy track.

SIXTH RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Blossom Time. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:23. Off at 4:24. Winner, H. P. ALCIBIADES raced as much the best, was reserved closely behind WILD DENISE to far turn and, racing latter into defeat, drew far out through stretch. FULL TIDE, outpaced to the turn, closed resolutely when straightened out, but could never threaten leader. WILD DENISE saved ground on both turns, but tired badly from early efforts.

HIGH STORM raced well up under stout restraint to the turn and, taking a slight lead, withstood repeated challenges from POLLYWOG to draw clear near end. POLLYWOG was forced extremely wide when making his move on far turn, got on even terms with winner a sixteenth out, then weakened badly in the final drive. ROXIE WEIDEL showed a good performance after being far out of it in early stages. DIXIE PRINCE held on resolutely.

BOWIE BUILDS THIRD ROAD TO TRACK

Officials Act to End Congestion of Autos at Race Meets.

BOWIE race track officials have acted to relieve the traffic congestion which each spring and fall has caused thousands of Washington and Baltimore motorists hours of delay in their return from the track, it was learned yesterday.

Track Superintendent Dick Pending announced that General Manager James F. O'Mara, of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which sponsors the Bowie track has ordered that another road leading into the enclosure be constructed in order that the traffic may pass through three outlets after the races instead of two.

The road will be of gravel 30 feet wide leading directly into the track from Collington, where the old Bowie road leaves the Defense highway and will be completed in time for use during next fall's meeting.

Third Road to Lead Into Back Stretch.

The road will lead into the backstretch of the Bowie track supplementing the roads at the far turn and the paddock turn, which have been obviously inadequate to provide for the thousands of motor cars which seek to leave the enclosure at the finish of the program, many of the motorists failing to reach the city until long after dusk, after hours of discomfort and delay.

Inside of the Bowie establishment there is now much activity with the work of cutting trees and filling in the low spots already begun. There will also be provided additional parking spaces for the cars.

Early Lead Aids Eastern To Defeat St. John's, 5-4

An early lead stood the Eastern High School Nine in good stead yesterday in a game with St. John's on the Lincoln Park Field. The final score was 5 to 4. The Johnnies rallied in the seventh and eighth innings, but failed to pull the game out of the fire.

Hanna, Miles and Curtin divided on the mound for Eastern, while Roach and Brodier worked for St. John's. Eastern scored two runs in the first inning and three more in the fifth, while St. John's counted once in the first, once in the seventh and twice in the eighth.

Hudson, with three hits in three tries, and Atchison, with three out of four, starred at bat for St. John's, while McCullough was the big gun for Eastern. McCullough hit a triple with two on bases.

The score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
St. John's	100 000 120	4	8	3
Eastern	200 030 00x	5	10	3

sport world by leading his last-place Boston Braves in a triumphant march to the pennant and then defeated the famous Philadelphia Athletics in four straight games for the world's championship, which in itself established a new record.

Stallings retired in 1920, but the call of the game was too strong and he returned to the International League as owner-manager at Rochester, again retired, only to return to harness again with Montreal.

He is survived by his widow and three sons, George Stallings, jr., who manages the plantation here; White Stallings, of Chicago, and Vernon Stallings, of New York.

Funeral services will be conducted from the plantation home near here, with the Rev. Father F. J. Clarkson, of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, officiating. Services have been set tentatively for Wednesday, but may be delayed if relatives can not reach here in time. Burial will be in Macon.

172 GOLFERS TO COMPETE IN CHEVY CHASE TOURNEY

Stellar Field Opens Play Tomorrow

Event Restricted to 14 Handicap Players and Under.

Many Title Holders and Former Champs Seek Prize.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE qualification round in the annual spring invitation tournament of the Chevy Chase Club will start tomorrow morning with a list of 172 entries. The first pair will tee off at 8 o'clock in the morning and the procession of qualifiers will continue without intermission until shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Last year the entry list aggregated only 144 names and the increase this year is all the more remarkable because the eligibility list is restricted to players with a handicap of 14 and under in the various clubs in the District Golf Association and invited guests from out-of-town clubs whose handicaps are equally low.

Field Includes Notables Of Local Golf Circles.

The field which will contest in the qualification round is undoubtedly one of the greatest which has ever played in a club invitation tournament. It includes Harry G. Pitt, Manor, Middle Atlantic champion; Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, District amateur champion; Albert R. MacKenzie, Columbia, former Middle Atlantic champion; Donald Woodward, Columbia, former runner-up in the Middle Atlantic championship; S. H. Butzz, Indian Spring Club champion; Luther Florine, Beaver Dam Club champion; also Page Hufty, Congressional Club champion and winner of the Town and Country Club tournament last week; John C. Shorey, District junior champion; Thomas P. Bones, jr., former junior champion of the Columbia Country Club; C. Ashmead Fuller, former champion of the Chevy Chase Club; Leo F. Pass, former champion of the Bannockburn Club; and Charles W. Cole, jr., former champion of the public links and winner of the Sherwood Forest invitation tournament last year.

This is a formidable list of entrants but among the competitors are many nontitle holders who are certain to play the Chevy Chase course in figures approximating par. The entries and times of pairings are as follows:

8 a. m., H. E. Ely, Army War College, and Maj. Lyons, Congressional; 8:05, Forest Thompson, Beaver Dam, and Russell C. Jewell, Washington; 8:10, C. M. Whitman, Indian Spring, and J. Logan, Washington); 8:15, Luther Florine, Beaver Dam, and A. P. Matthews, Army War College; 8:20, Commander Pickhardt, Columbia, and C. T. Lynes, Washington; 8:25, C. C. Heath, Bannockburn, and Maj. Robb, Bannockburn; 8:30, L. A. Spead, Columbia, and Norman B. Frost, Columbia.

8:35 a. m., H. S. Pope, Indian Spring, and S. H. Butts, Indian Spring; 8:40, R. B. Olaff, Army, Navy and Marine, and W. J. Clear, Army, Navy and Marine; 8:45, D. Johnson, Army War College, and Wilson Barrett, Manor; 8:50, C. V. Wheeler, Chevy Chase Club, and R. M. Southgate, Chevy Chase Club; 8:55, T. W. McGuire, Bannockburn, and R. G. Kimbell, Bannockburn.

9 a. m., L. A. Fisher, Congressional, and George P. Miller, Manor; 9:05, J. K. Richards, Chevy Chase Club, and S. B. MacFarlane, Chevy Chase Club; 9:10, J. W. Foley, Congressional, and James Harry, Beaver Dam; 9:15, C. W. Stoddard, Argyle, and W. Hayes, Beaver Dam; 9:20, Bion Moore, Beaver Dam, and J. A. Cox, Argyle; 9:25, F. L. Christner Suspended; Fixed Fight Alleged

Baltimore, May 13 (A.P.).—K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, and Billy Walsh, boxer, were indefinitely suspended today by the Maryland Athletic Commission as the outgrowth of a one-round alleged "fixed" fight at Cumberland, Md., several weeks ago. Referee Charlie Short and Vic Ricker, promoter of the bout, were reprimanded by the commission.

The action came following Christner's boutwith an opponent billed as "Roy Bold, of Philadelphia," who, the commission said, was Billy Walsh, an oldtime fighter. Latrobe Cogswell, chairman of the Maryland commission, in announcing the action of his body, declared that there was evidence of "general laxity and collusion" in the bout.

Walsh, he said, quit in the first round after but one light blow had been struck. Short was reprimanded for not withholding the purse and taking other disciplinary action. Officials of the commission declared that Christner had admitted the bout was fixed and bemoaned the fact that his opponent quit too soon.

RADICE TOPS COLLEGES AT BAT

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., May 13.—Batting leadership of the Southern Conference Tri-State League is at stake as the seven colleges enter the final week of their 1929 season. The three-cornered tie existing between Mattox, of Virginia Poly; Radice, of Maryland, and Faulkner, of Washington and Lee, a week ago, was broken the past six days. Mattox alone having a .500 mark at this time.

However, Radice, Maryland second baseman, has been to bat twelve times more than the Tech star and is the real leader with the willow to date, his mark being .437. Leading hitters of the seven clubs are: Radice, Maryland, .437; Williams and Jacobie, V. M. I., 357; Satterfield, University of North Carolina, 361; April, University of Virginia, 345; Woodworth, Carolina State, 386; Faulkner, Washington and Lee, 344, and Mattox, V. P. I., .500.

Satterfield, Carolina third sacker, banged out four hits in five trips against Virginia the past week to jump into the lead among the Tarheel players.

Woodworth continues to set the pace in runs scored, with twelve, and with base knocks, with seventeen.

Williams' Pitching for W. & L. Features Week's Games.

Lefty Williams' great pitching featured last week's league games. The Washington and Lee hurler struck out ten Maryland batsmen and fourteen V. P. I. players and increased his victories to four, tying Ball, of Carolina, in this respect.

The leading batters of each club follow:

Herman Bell, Cardinal Pitcher, Is Taken Ill

Philadelphia, May 13 (A.P.).—Suddenly stricken with an attack of hemorrhages of the stomach, Herman Bell, pitcher of the St. Louis Nationals, was taken from his hotel to the Jefferson Hospital today. The cause of the hemorrhages had not been definitely determined tonight, but physicians said the blood apparently came from the arteries of his stomach.

Bell complained of feeling ill last night on the train, which brought the Cardinals here from Brooklyn. His teammates said he appeared in excellent health until then. Bell did not pitch in the game against Brooklyn on Sunday, and could not recall any injury that would have caused the trouble.

Texans Rescue Pyle's Side Show, Stranded and Reported Penniless

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., May 13, A.P.). After being temporarily stranded in Fort Worth, members of the road show traveling with C. C. Pyle's transcontinental foot racers today rejoined the Bunion Derby as it moved on to Breckenridge. A group of citizens here came to the rescue and guaranteed transportation costs, making it possible for the troupers to depart from Fort Worth by motor bus.

Advices from Fort Worth said two more actors had lost their baggage, which was held for a hotel bill of $11.90. A hotel at Dallas previously had attached some of the company's baggage.

Pyle, whose right arm was broken in an automobile accident last Saturday, declared at a hospital in Abilene, Tex., today that the actors had been paid and that the Bunion Derby would continue on schedule.

There was talk of a strike by the actors at Fort Worth, where it was reported they had not been paid for several weeks. No walkout occurred, however, as some of the troupers intimated they were penniless and did not care to raise any bunions on a trip back to New York afoot.

"The actors have been paid, and if I needed it most of them could lend me money," Pyle asserted. "The race will be finished at Los Angeles June 19, and the winners will get their money."

Fort Worth citizens declined to pay $1,500 which had been pledged to Pyle, asserting that the road show did not meet expectations raised by the advance ballyhoo of the promoter. Only $137 was taken in at three performances in Fort Worth.

Bigelow Hits Homer In Boston's 2-1 Victory

Chicago, Ill., May 13 (A.P.).—The Red Sox bunched three hits in one inning today and defeated the White Hose in the opener of the series by 2 to 1.

With one out in the fourth, Bigelow rammed a homer into the right-field seats. Scarrritt then scorched a single past Clancy and went to second on a passed ball. Barrett walked and Regan beat out a hit to short, filling the bases. On Heving's grounder to Clancy, Scarrett scored, which proved the winning run. The Sox touched Danny MacFayden for only five hits. Two of these in the sixth scored Chicago's only run.

A. A. U. TITLES AT STAKE IN 14 EVENTS

Program Drawn for South Atlantic Meet Here Next Month.

FOURTEEN events will comprise the championship program of the annual South Atlantic A. A. U. senior track and field meet in Central Stadium next month, it was announced at a meeting of the games committee yesterday. Aside from an intensity police relay and a relay among teams from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard within South Atlantic territory, the program of special events as yet is indefinite, it was reported by Secretary Winfree E. Johnson.

The fourteen championship events are 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes, half, mile and 6-mile runs, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, high and broad jumps, pole vault, 16-pound shot put, discus throw and javelin throw.

Maj. Carey H. Brown, executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, chairman of the games committee, stated the real purpose of the meet. He told the committeemen that the meet should serve to show a great interest is felt by the public of Washington in athletics, both competitive and recreational.

Would Show Congress Need for More Facilities Here.

He expressed the hope the affair would impress upon Congress the need for the legislative body's help in extending the development of the Capital's parks and playgrounds.

Any registered amateur athlete may compete in the open events but only athletes registered in the South Atlantic Association may compete in the championship events. Registration blanks may be secured from Ernest J. Spitzer, A. A. U. commissioner for the District, 343 Munsey Building, from The Washington Post, or from Marvin H. Markle, Cathedral avenue and Franklin street, Baltimore, Md.

More and More People who formerly bought costly cars Now are turning to Buick

Thousands of motorists heretofore accustomed to purchase more expensive automobiles now are turning to Buick . . . for the simple reason that Buick provides elements of value manifestly superior to many higher-priced cars.

They are finding dramatic proof of this fact in Buick performance—in the thrilling new standards of power, getaway, swiftness, smoothness and stamina which Buick has brought to motoring—standards obviously and outstandingly superior!

Come, drive this new Buick! Test it in traffic—on the highway—up the steepest hills. Then you'll know why motorists purchase more than twice as many Buicks as any other automobile priced above $1200 . . . and why you should have a Buick, too!

Curb Review

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—A storm of selling orders, set in motion by a crop of unconfirmed rumors bearing on the credit situation, unsettled today's curb market, which sustained one of the sharpest breaks since the March money crisis. While bear attacks played a prominent part in the day's operations, there apparently was heavy liquidation of long stocks, particularly in the public utility and aviation groups.

Electric Investors, which soared 32 points last week, when it touched a new high at 153½, broke to 136, but later rallied to 141. American & Foreign Power warrants, American Gas & Electric, American Superpower issues, Electric Bond & Share, Penn-Ohio Edison, and United Gas Improvement all showed declines of 3 to 8 points, but most of them rallied a point or more from their low levels. Brazilian Light & Traction dropped 4 points to a new low level for the year at 51.

Fokker Aircraft, which was under pressure last week, opened nearly 6 points higher, but lost all but a point of its gain. Consolidated Aircraft, Douglass Aircraft and National Aviation closed 2 to 3 points lower, and several others yielded a point or so.

Auburn Auto broke nearly 15 points and rallied only 2. Ford of Canada rights dropped 9¼ points and closed at the bottom, and Checker Cab fell 4 points and rallied fractionally. Weakness of the motors was based on unconfirmed reports that some of the large manufacturers were planning to lay off thousands of men.

St. Regis Paper fell 9 points, but recovered all but 1⅝ points of its loss. Newmont Mining dropped 8⅝ points on selling inspired by the weakness of stocks included in its investment account. Aluminum Co. of America jumped 17¾ points on a few sales.

Sentry Safety Control crossed 28 to a new high on the announcement of a contract for its foreign patent rights, but it fell back later when weakness cropped out in the general list. National Family Stores preferred, Ruberoid, MacMarr Stores and Parker Pen were among the few issues to close with net gains.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Moderate early declines influenced by beneficial reports of rains in west Texas, were followed by advances in the cotton market today on covering or rebuying by recent sellers. The advance which carried the price of July contracts up from 18.61 to 18.78 or 15 points net higher was accompanied by talk of an improved spot demand and firmer spot basis while there may also have been some buying on a fear that except for west Texas, western and central belt sections were getting too much wet weather. July closed at 18.75 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 2 to 13 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 1 point, with the near months relatively firm. There seemed to be covering by both trade and speculative shorts in these positions which was promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables, but the later months were sold on a relief report that west Texas had received needed moisture, and prices soon turned easier. Active months sold about 1 to 5 points net lower, with May declining to 19.40 and December to 18.80, but offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had been absorbed and the market firmed up during the afternoon. It looked as if the rains in west Texas had been discounted by the early selling, or that the favorable weather in that quarter was offset by the reports of rains elsewhere in the western part of the central belt. At any rate the market developed considerable firmness with May selling up to 19.56 and December to 18.93 or about 13 to 17 points above the low levels of the morning and 9 to 16 points net higher. Realizing was in sufficient volume to check the advance at these figures, but the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best on most positions. A private report was published before the opening stating that indications as of May 9 pointed to an increase of from 4 to 5 per cent in acreage and that the general crop outlook might be considered above the average for that date. This report was considered a contributing factor on the early decline, while the recovery was aided by reports that the business in cotton goods had shown a considerable improvement last week in the domestic markets. Exports today 18,523 bales, making 7,475,837 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,969. United States port stocks, 1,247,988.

BANK LOANS REVEAL DECREASE FOR WEEK

Reserve Board's Statement Also Shows Drop in Net Demand Deposits.

STOCK TRADING IS LIGHT

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Decreases of $217,000,000 in loans and investments, $249,000,000 in net demand deposits, and $19,000,000 in borrowing from Federal Reserve banks, were shown yesterday in the Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in 101 leading cities on May 8. An increase of $11,000,000 in time deposits was revealed.

Loans on securities declined $130,000,000 at all reporting banks, $129,000,000 in the New York district, and $11,000,000 in the Philadelphia district. "All other" loans fell off $39,000,000 in the New York district, and $52,000,000 at all reporting banks. Holdings of Federal securities were $18,000,000, and for other securities, $16,000,000 below the preceding week's total.

Woman Discusses Investments.

While special research in the field of investment securities is not new, and wealthy investors have long employed skilled investment counsel in management of their funds, Mrs. Ada M. Mosher, librarian of the Investment Research Corporation, Detroit, addressing the financial group of the Special Libraries Association at the Mayflower Hotel, explained yesterday that until the rise of investment trusts, such services, because of prohibitive costs, were not available to small investors.

Showing that the average investor has neither the time nor training needed to select sound and profitable securities; that the problem is too complex and the mass of offerings too bewildering, Mrs. Mosher told the conference that few men and women are equipped to make an initial analysis of securities having apparent investment value, and fewer still are able to follow and appraise general economic conditions and industrial, corporate and market trends.

This is the function of the investment research specialists, she said, and even his finding can not be guarranteed. Many individuals and organizations now are engaged in such research, and not only do they supervise invested funds for wealthy families, such as the Rockefellers, but they hold an increasingly important place in trust companies, banks and brokerage houses. In large cities, investment counsel offer guidance to the general public, and large organizations have been formed to sell investment services, many of these inviting additional inquiries from their clients.

"Investment Banking" is the theme for the group. Gudrun Moe, librarian, Bankers Trust Co., New York, led the round table discussion on "Corporation Files," and Marguerite Burnett, librarian, Federal Reserve Bank of New York, gave a report on bibliography of Government releases. Federal Reserve librarians held a special meeting yesterday.

Tomorrow afternoon R. O. Hall, assistant chief, Finance and Investment division, United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, will give an address on "Foreign Investments in Our Balance of Payments," and Eleanor S. Cavanaugh, librarian, Standard Statistics Co., New York, on "Bibliography of Stocks and Bonds." Ruth Nichols, librarian, Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, will report on "Classification for Financial Libraries."

Simmons Cites Prosperity.

The year 1928 witnessed a continuance of the general prosperity which the country had been previously enjoying, President E. H. H. Simmons, of the New York Stock Exchange, announces in his annual report to the governing committee today. Continuing Mr. Simmon says:

"The consumption of goods which reveals our high average American standards of living was, as a rule, not only well maintained but even increased. As the year progressed there occurred a quite general improvement in business activity and corporate earnings. That the prosperity of 1928 was not of a fictitious variety was indicated by the remarkable stability of commodity prices as a whole and by the light inventories carried by our manufacturers and merchants.

"Every one should recognize, however, that this so-called 'national prosperity' has not been shared in a perfectly even way by all lines of American enterprise. During 1928 some of our industries—particularly, perhaps, those having to do with textiles, coal, leather, sugar, shipping, paper, fertilizers, or railway equipment—were sluggish or distintcly depressed. On the other hand, such basic and large-scale industries as steel production, automobile manufacturing, building construction and farm machinery experienced an unusually good year. As a whole, American crops were good, and a fair degree of improvement occurred in the live stock business. The copper industry showed marked improvement.

"Very rapid progress was made in chain merchandising, special chemical processes and apparatus, aviation and the commercialization of new systems for sound and light transference. This varied panaroma of our actual prosperity, as it has shown itself in our different industries, has been mirrored in a highly 'selective' share market on the New York Stock Exchange."

Hoskinson to Head Committee.

Hoskinson, vice president, Riggs National Bank, will head the important committee putting into effect the credit bureau, establishment of which was voted by the District of Columbia Bankers Association last week. Serving as vice chairman will be E. J. McQuade, vice president of Liberty National Bank, and secretary of the bankers association.

President Robert V. Fleming, of the association, made this announcement yesterday, designating the remainder of the committee personnel, which will be F. G. Addison, Security Savings & Commercial Bank; C. F. Jacobson, National Metropolitan Bank; F. P. Harman, jr., Merchants Bank & Trust Co.; H. T. Bisselle, Riggs National Bank; J. Mr. Hoskinson was vice chairman of the association's committee on consideration of the credit bureau, and a paper of Mr. Bisselle's, on the subject, won the association's essay contest last year, the plan for the bureau being based on his study. Other members of the committee will represent the various classes of banking.

Stock Trading Is Light.

The week's opening market on the Washington Stock Exchange was characterized by light trading in stocks, and a total absence of bond transactions. Stock trading totaled 238 shares, an increase of 58, compared with Saturday's turnover. The bulk of this was made up of an exchange of 125 shares of Real Estate Mortgage & Guaranty preferred, 120 of these moving at 7½, last sale price, and 5 at a fractional advance.

Lanston Monotype which struck two new highs in two days last week, receded from 132 yesterday; a lot of eight changing hands at 131, and another of seven, at 130½. Commercial National Bank stock was out, ten shares trading at 262, last sale figure.

Delegates' Names Asked.

Members of the District of Columbia Bankers' Association were reminded by E. J. McQuade, association secretary, yesterday, that names of four delegates to the annual convention at Montauk Point, in June, be submitted at once to Miss Grace M. Bromley, assistant secretary, at association headquarters.

The association's constitution provides that delegates must be either elective officers, directors, or trustees of the institution they represent, or members of a banking firm, or individuals conducting a banking business. Members having branch banks are entitled in addition to two representatives for each branch bank, but such shall not be entitled to vote. President Robert V. Fleming of the association expressed hope that member banks find it convenient to have representations of at least four at the convention.

The final meeting of the board of governors for the closing fiscal year of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held tomorrow evening at chapter headquarters in the Becker building. Plans will also be discussed at a meeting of delegates to the national convention at Tulsa, Okla., June 10-14.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 13 (A.P.).—Helped by a sharp reduction of the domestic visible supply total and by big shipments starting to the seaboard, Wheat values today went mostly upgrade. Special notice was taken of reports from Buffalo that congestion of wheat there was being relieved through rail outlets East.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¾ to 1c net higher, corn unchanged to ¾c up, oats at ½ decline to ¾c gain, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5@7c.

With the United States wheat visible supply showing 4,231,000 bushels increase, about twice as big curtailment as a week or a year ago, the wheat market today proved especially sensitive to late advices that heavy shipments were being encouraged by lower freight rates on export grain, and that 30,000,000 bushels of wheat would be moved in two weeks to the Atlantic seaboard. Earlier in the day Liverpool quotations were higher than were looked for, together with word of a decided falling off in the amount of wheat on ocean passage, did a good deal to strengthen the market here, and in likewise did reports of European buying that included No. 2 hard wheat from the United States a basis of 2½c premium for June shipment.

Considerable uneasiness among wheat buyers was stirred up also as a result of soaking rains in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas coming after recent complaints of excessive moisture in Oklahoma and Kansas in particular told of downpours of 4 to 5 inches since Saturday, but were somewhat offset by Kansas dispatches saying that rains although not needed, had not done no harm. However, predictions were current in some quarters that the June official crop report from Washington will show a decided cut in previous estimates of the country's 1929 wheat yield.

Corn prices averaged higher as a result of wet weather over the corn belt. Reports at hand indicated that corn planting is already about two weeks late in some of the principal parts of the belt, and that doubt exists as to what kind of a stand the early plantings will make. In the oats market selling on the part of holders of May contracts was at times more than a counterbalance for lack of dry weather.

Provisions were somewhat firmer as a consequence of upturns in hog values.

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM OF CITIZEN COUNCIL EMPHASIZES NEEDS

Larger Federal Contribution for Projects of District Is Advocated.

GENERAL CITY PROJECT DRAFTED BY HAVENNER

New Gallinger Building, City Center, Armory and Span Replacements Urged.

A five-year public improvements program which, in the large, emphasized the number of things the District needs but will not get under the present fiscal program, was adopted by the Citizens Advisory Council at a meeting in the District Building last night.

The program was drafted by Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the council, and dealt with the subject in general terms. No figures were quoted. Neither did the report go into details of annual appropriations, declaring that such details are "matters to be dealt with from year to year."

But whatever the program which finally emerges from the hands of the District Commissioners, the Federal Budget Bureau and Congress, the council urged that for the fiscal year 1931, at least, there be no increase in the existing $1.70 tax rate.

"The tax rate for the City of Washington compares favorably with the average rate for 14 cities ranging in population from 300,000 to 1,000,000," the council said.

Larger Contribution Urged.

"As this is the Nation's Capital and as the people of the Nation desire to see it become the most beautiful city in the world, it is suggested that the Congress be urged to increase the Federal lump sum contribution in order that some of the major projects that are urgently needed may be undertaken at this time," the report continued, adding that the surplus maintained in the Treasury to the credit of the District be "let down to an amount only sufficient to meet actual needs as required by law." Dr. Havenner estimated this would be 10 per cent of the appropriations.

Drafting of the program by the council was undertaken after consideration of a five-year fiscal program outlined by Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor said budget officer, several weeks ago.

Donovan's program, the council said, was to be commended for the clearness with which it pictured the amount and sources of the District revenues for the next five years and it "also strongly brings to the attention" of residents and Congress "a number of major improvements for which appropriations are needed" as well as to a "number of major engineering projects" for which legislative authorization "should be secured at the earliest possible date." But a detailed, year-by-year study, it said, had not been made by the council because "it does not believe that such a study would be advisable at this time."

Improvements Recommended.

The program, however, did contain definite and specific recommendations as to certain public improvements which should be provided for. These included a new building for Gallinger Hospital, to permit vacating "old frame fire-trap structures" now in use there, and the development of a scheme for hospital treatment for which persons could pay in installments. The hospital should be developed into "a real city" hospital, it declared. Although no figures were given in the report, Havenner estimated the building recommended would cost from $750,000 to $1,000,000.

Elimination of at least one grade crossing a year, beginning in 1931; building of a new public convenience station annually for the next three years; and increase in the appropriations for interceptors and sanitary sewers to provide for elimination of all privies and septic tanks, were the four first recommendations contained in the program.

Establishment of a municipal airport was "strongly recommended," but the council declared that inasmuch as such an airport "undoubtedly will be used to a large extent by the Federal services located in Washington," legislation providing for the airport "should provide that the cost thereof be upon a basis of one-half payable by the Federal Government and one-half by the Government of the District of Columbia."

New Armory Advocated.

The District National Guard should be provided with an armory and if a suitable building to house it is not available appropriation should be made for building a new armory.

The council's program paid especial attention to the District bridges, declaring that many of the old bridges are not suitable to present requirements and should be replaced.

"All of them," the report said, "are too narrow and their carrying capacity too limited. Not only should these old bridges be replaced, but one or more new bridges should be provided for."

Replacements should be made in the following order, it was said, Benning bridge, over the Anacostia River, described as a "bottle neck" to traffic; Twentieth street bridge, over Piney Branch; P street bridge, over Rock Creek; Pennsylvania avenue bridge over Anacostia River; and Chain Bridge, over the Potomac.

Bridge Held Antiquated.

The Pennsylvania Avenue Bridge was built a half century ago, and is not suitable to present requirements, its carrying capacity being limited and its width too narrow, it was said.

Construction of a new bridge across the Anacostia River at Massachusetts avenue to have precedence over the proposed new Pennsylvania avenue bridge, was recommended.

One-half of the cost of the new Chain Bridge, which must be replaced in the near future, the council said, should be borne by Virginia, inasmuch as it would convenience many residents of that State.

Approval of the municipal center development was given in the program, the council declaring that money for the purchase of the needed land should be provided in 1930 and 1931 and that appropriations for beginning construction of needed buildings should be made immediately. The first sections of the land have been acquired.

Although no formal action was taken on a report by Dr. E. E. Richardson, chairman of the education committee of the council, in general discussion it was indicated that approval will be given to a substitute report calling for expenditure of $15,000,000 for the purchase of sites and the building of new schools in the next five years.

Loss of $400 Watch Is Reported to Police

Loss of a wrist watch valued at $400, containing 45 diamonds, was reported to police last night by Mrs. Ethel McElroy, of 2809 Thirty-fourth place northwest. Mrs. McElroy told police that she believes she lost the watch Sunday night on Belmont street, near Columbia road.

TWO ARE CONVICTED ON SMOKE SCREENS

FIRING POLICE INDORSED

A verdict of guilty on a charge of possessing a smoke screen device was returned against William Carley, 23 years old, and Claude O. Soper, 23 years old, by a jury before Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy late yesterday in criminal division of the District Supreme Court.

Although the indictment against the men did not charge them with operating the device, Sergt. George Moran, Detective John Wise and Patrolman McKimmie, of the Fourth Precinct, who arrested the defendants, testified the screen was used on them.

The policemen declared they had occasion to visit an alley near South Capitol and G streets last June 22, and found the young men and an automobile equipped with the screen device. They said the men attempted to escape by laying down a heavy smoke screen, but were unsuccessful.

Liquor Charge Restrained.

Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins, who conducted the prosecution, was restrained from attempting to show that the automobile also contained liquor. The defense was conducted by Attorney L. L. Whitstone. The smoke screen device, resembling a pump, was displayed to the jurors.

Traveling over the same route as the rum car occupied by Ottmer H. Flemming, who was killed by Policeman C. A. Rouse two weeks ago, a car, protected by a smoke screen, led Policeman Miles Znamenacek a chase of several blocks down Nichols avenue southeast and across the Anacostia Bridge yesterday morning.

The motorcycle policeman gave up the chase after crossing the Anacostia Bridge. Flemming was killed on this bridge.

Police to Shoot Indorsed.

Unqualified indorsement of a policy to permit police to fire on automobiles employing smoke screens was embodied in resolutions adopted by the Piney Branch Citizens Association at its monthly meeting last night at Hamline. Capt. E. L. Shorey presided in the absence of E. Henderson, president.

The group also adopted a resolution recommending that the Federation of Citizens Association investigate the advisability of a proposal for placing the Traffic Bureau directly under the chief of police.

The shooting policy also was advocated last night at a meeting of the Stanton Park Citizens Association in the Peabody School. During the discussion of a resolution calling on the police press to aid in the enforcement of law by condemning the use of smoke screens, several members of the association declared the public and local authorities should stand behind policemen who kill rum runners who resort to the use of smoke screens to evade arrest.

Guggenheim Flown Here by Doolittle

Lieut. "Jimmy" Doolittle and Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, landed at Bolling Field at 1:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a borrowed plane.

The plane was Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's blue and orange Curtiss Falcon.

Lieut. Doolittle and Guggenheim were on their way to the engineering conference of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Va. Guggenheim went down from Washington by boat last night, while Doolittle flew down in the Falcon. He will pick up Guggenheim after the conference tomorrow and carry him back to Mitchel Field.

Col. Lindbergh's plane was borrowed on the spur of the moment Sunday night when Doolittle found himself with a distinguished passenger for Washington and no ship available. He found the famous flier at his financee's home and received permission to use the plane by telephone.

Aged Woman, Fears She Is Burden, Tries Suicide

Leaving a note saying that "when a person is a burden to themselves and to others she is better off dead," Mrs. Mary A. Crist, 70 years old, of 723 Sixth street northwest, attempted suicide yesterday by placing a gas tube to her mouth, according to police and members of the No. 1 Rescue Squad.

The woman was rushed to Casualty Hospital, where she was reported to be in a serious condition.

Copeland, Dougherty and Capper Speak at Ceremony.

More than 5,000 persons, including members of Congress and District officials, inspected the new Casualty Hospital when its doors were thrown open to the public for the first time last night. The new hospital is located at Eighth streets and Massachusetts avenue northeast.

Senators Royal S. Copeland, of New York, himself a physician, and Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, and District Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty spoke of the filling of the need of a modernized hospital to care for the Northeast section of the city. Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of Maryland, chairman of the House District committee, presided at the ceremonies held preceding the inspection of the building. The musical program was furnished by the U. S. Marine Band.

Dr. Joseph Rogers, president of the hospital, headed the reception committee, which included the following officers and members of the board of directors:

Thomas B. Hickman, treasurer; Harry F. Allmond, secretary; Stephen E. Kramer, Thomas M. Baker, Mrs. M. J. Vaughan, Samuel H. Rogers, Daniel J. Donovan, Roy L. Neuhauser, Malcolm G. Gibbs, Mrs. W. J. Brewer, Charles J. Waters, Odell S. Smith, Arthur Carr, J. Harry Cunningham, George S. Watson, Edgar M. Mayne, Mrs. W. W. Griffith, Mrs. Bernard Walls and George Clagett.

The ladies' reception committee included the following officers of the board of lady managers: Mrs. M. J. Vaughan, president; Mrs. Thomas Calver, first vice president; Mrs. Harry J. Weber, second vice president; Mrs. C. Barber, third vice president; Mrs. S. J. Buynitzky, fourth vice president; Mrs. B. Walls, fifth vice president; Mrs. William J. Brewer, treasurer; Mrs. William Carmichael, recording secretary; Mrs. Henry Brawner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edgar T. Brown, financial secretary, and Mrs. R. F. Dunmie, assistant corresponding secretary.

The building committee was composed of Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, Dr. Fred Repetti, Melvin Sharpe, Dr. Edward C. Wilson, Evan H. Tucker, Dr. Roy F. Dunmire, Frank M. Pierce, W. W. Griffith and I. J. Roberts.

Tonight ten civic clubs will visit the hospital. Stephen E. Kramer will preside at the ceremonies.

Hartman Nomination Before Subcommittee

The nomination of Harleigh H. Hartman to be a member of the District Public Utilities Commission yesterday was referred to the public utilities subcommittee of the Senate District committee.

Senator Capper (Republican), of Kansas, who is chairman of the full committee, is also chairman of the utilities subcommittee. He has been apparently greatly impressed by what he has read about Hartman. Other members of the subcommittee are Senators Jones (Republican), of Washington; Vandenberg (Republican), of Michigan; Copeland (Democrat), of New York, and King (Democrat), of Utah.

Bathing Pool Spught By Hillsdale Citizens

Erection of a bathing pool in section C of Anacostia Park was requested of the Director of Public Buildings and Public Parks last night by the Hillsdale Civic Association, which met in the Birney School. A committee was appointed to ascertain from the Commissioners when an appropriation for erection of a culvert over Stickfoot Creek will become available, as a result of neighborhood inquiries. The association also asked for oiling of Morris road.

Street improvements sought include the west side of Howard avenue, from Shannon place to the end of Howard road; sidewalks on Nichols avenue, and the repaving of Talbert street to Howard road. The association will seek retention of Miss Martha Ellis as community center secretary for another year, as well as an additional night for meetings of the center at the Birney School.

BILL WOULD CREATE 4 NEW CITY JUDGES

JONES LAW HELD CAUSE

Four additional judges, two for the District Supreme Court and two for the District Court of Appeals, are authorized in bills introduced yesterday by Representative Ernest W. Gibson (Republican), Vermont.

The additional judges are needed, Gibson said, to relieve the congested dockets of the two tribunals and to lighten the burden of those judges who are now presiding.

"The record shows," Gibson said, "that there are 2,204 cases on the docket of the Supreme Court. Every branch of the court is overwhelmed and there is no indication that this condition will change in the future without authorization for new judges.

"The prospect is that the work of the court will increase in the future. Under the Jones act, a large number of cases will come before the Supreme Court which ordinarily would be tried in the Police Court."

The Supreme Court now has six judges, but as soon as Alfred A. Wheat is sworn in it will have seven. Wheat recently was confirmed by the Senate for a judgeship in this court. The District Court of Appeals has only three judges.

One judge in the local Court of Appeals, Gibson said, frequently writes as many decisions as all the judges in some other appellate court.

Before he drafted the bills, which he introduced yesterday, Gibson conferred with Maj. Julius I Peyser, president of the District Bar Association, who stressed the need of additional judges here.

The bills were referred to the House judiciary committee, which probably will hold hearings on them during the regular session.

Two Men in Rum Net Spread on Tip

Detectives About to Leave After Long Wait When Liquor Car Parks.

Receiving a "tip" that the corner of Third street and Bryant court northwest was a "hot spot" for bootleggers, William Laflin and William McEwen, two Eighth Precinct detectives, last night decided to see for themselves.

They drove up to the corner early in the evening and waited. One hour, two, three and four hours passed. Nothing happened. The detectives decided to leave. Just as they were about to drive off, a large automobile parked nearby.

Two men alighted. One carried a large bundle. The police investigated. At the Eighth Precinct Charles Marino, 23 years old, of Laurel, Md., and Alton Cissel, 24, of 621 I street northwest, occupants of the machine, were charged with transporting and possession of 48 quarts of whisky. They are each held in $2,500 bond.

Jugoslovak Tells Police Tale of Woe by Gesturing

Elias Wagner, a 50-year-old Jugoslovak, of New York, has a world of troubles and came all the way to Washington last night to unfold them to police—but it took the latter about four hours before they could find any one who could understand him.

After more than two score detectives and reporters had labored in vain to unravel Wagner's words and gesticulations, William Enyeart, an assistant in the police bureau of identification, tried some of the A. E. F. German he learned while with the army of occupation. It worked, somewhat.

As best the police could learn, Wagner and a friend bought a farm in New York for $6,000. The partner recently sold his share. Then Wagner discovered his partner's share was mortgaged. He got a lawyer to defend him. The night before the case was to come to trial, some one came on the farm, took Wagner's remaining money and chased him off the place with a pitchfork. He kept on moving until he reached Lancaster, Pa. There he ran out of funds. A good samaritan, however, gave him $10 and he came on to Washington. Capital police can do nothing to aid him; so they are going to take him to the Jugoslovakian legation today to see if they can aid him.

Miss Emma Slifer suffered cuts about the face and hands and severe bruises. She was reported resting easily last night at her home.

Man Took Doctor Role, U. S. Charges

Former Gallinger Hospital Clinical Director Held Under $5,000 Bond.

Stephen Steuben, 29 years old, formerly clinical director at Gallinger Hospital, was held under $5,000 bail for grand jury action yesterday by United States Commissioner Needham G. Turnage on accusations of securing a Government medical position by assuming the name and credentials of a physician. He was sent to jail in default of bond.

The prisoner was arrested at Bellevue Hospital in New York City, where he was employed, last week, following an investigation by Assistant District Attorney John W. Fihelly. After assuming the name and history of Dr. Joseph C. Lapierre, the prisoner is said to have taken a civil service examination and gained the Government positions.

He is charged with perjury in connection with making a false statement in the examination papers and accepting money from the Government under the alleged fraud. According to Fihelly, the real Dr. Lapierre has been located in nearby Maryland and has declared his willingness to testify for the Government. Attorney Abner Segal appeared for the prisoner.

SUBCOMMITTEE GETS REALTY INQUIRY PLEA

VALUATION FRAUD CHARGE

The Brookhart resolution for a Senate investigation of real estate financing here was referred to a subcommittee of five members of the Senate District committee late yesterday.

Earlier in the day, the Senate judiciary committee decided that the proposed investigation was something that should be handled by a committee interested in local affairs. It therefore voted to have it referred to the District committee.

Senator Capper (Republican), of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, later assigned the subcommittee on banks and insurance to consider the resolution and report back to the full committee. The subcommittee is headed by Senator Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, and includes Senators Vandenberg (Republican), of Michigan; Sackett (Republican), of Kentucky; Glass (Democrat), of Virginia, and Tyson (Democrat), of Tennessee.

In his resolution, Brookhart accuses the F. H. Smith Co. of "irregular practices" and charges that it has been pyramiding values in order to secure excess loans. While the resolution calls for a general investigation, the F. H. Smith Co. is the only concern mentioned in it.

Deaths in Elevator Fall Held Accident

Jury Told Plunge of Mme. Fiot and Baby Was Due to Short Circuit.

Death of Mme. Marie Fiot, and her 11-month-old son, caused when they fell down the elevator shaft at the Ritz Apartments, 1631 Euclid street northwest, last Wednesday, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided yesterday.

Statements made by Fred Sigmor, district elevator inspector, and representatives of the Otis Elevator Co., were to the effect that there was a short circuit in the interlocking device making it possible for the elevator, which was an automatic, to be put in motion when the doors were open.

Mme. Fiot is reported to have made a statement prior to her death that she had both the elevator door and an outer door leading to the floor level, open when the elevator moved. When the elevator was summoned by some one on the fourth floor Mme. Fiot, with her child, fell. The baby was instantly killed. Mme. Fiot died Saturday night at Emergency Hospital. Her husband, Andre Fiot, is a coding officer at the French Embassy, and has been attached to the embassy for eight years.

Man and Wife Held In Kidnaping Freed

Case Nolle Prossed After Couple Spend 3 Months in District Jail.

After more than three months' incarceration in the District Jail, Elmer Altizer and his wife, Mrs. Sadie Altizer, were released yesterday when a charge of abduction against them was nolle prossed at the District Supreme Court by Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins.

Miss Helen Woznick, who was jointly indicted with the Altizers, is in the jail hospital and it is expected the charge against her will be dropped when she is able to leave the hospital. The three were accused of kidnaping Raymond Schwenck, ice cream truck driver, last January 15, and forcing him to drive them to Penns Grove, N. J.

The three were tried by a jury a few weeks ago, but the jurors were unable to agree, standing six to six after more than four hours' debate. Attorney Abner Segal contended that en route to Penns Gove the party crossed the Delaware River by ferry and if Schwenk was being forced to accompany the three against his will he could have secured their arrest by complaining to authorities while on board the ferry.

Chauffeur and Car Lost In City, Owner Believes

U. A. Russin, colored chauffeur for C. L. Morris, of Petersburg, Va., stopping at the Hamilton Hotel, yesterday afternoon drove Morris to the Stoneleigh Court Apartments, Connecticut avenue and K street northwest, where he was instructed to drive around the block and park the automobile, and then to return to the apartments. The driver and the brand-new sedan both failed to appear after two hours, and Morris asked police of the Third Precinct to broadcast a lookout for them.

The veteran colored chauffeur, who had never before been in Washington, is believed to have become lost in the effort to park downtown in Washington, Morris said last night, explaining that Russin had been his trusted employe for the past eighteen years.

CIVIC GROUPS URGE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Two District Bodies and One in Maryland Discuss Plant for Capital.

50-50 COST SUGGESTED

Airports were prime factors in the discussion at three civic meetings last night, two in the District and at the Montgomery County Civic Federation. The Gravelly Point site was approved by the Maryland group and looked upon with doubt by the Brookland Citizens Association. The Citizens Advisory Council of Washington recommended in its five-year program of public improvements adopted last night that establishment of a municipal airport be "strongly recommended."

The advisory council resolution declared that "inasmuch as such an airport undoubtedly will be used to a large extent by the Federal services located in Washington," legislation providing for the airport, "should provide that the cost thereof be upon a basis of one-half payable by the Federal Government and one-half by the government of the District of Columbia."

The Brookland Citizens Association appointed a committee to look into the matter of airport sites in the Northeastern section of the city. It was asserted at the meeting that the proposed Gravelly Point site is now under water and would require considerable money for draining and preparation. It is in Virginia and is more suitable for army and navy planes than for commercial planes, it was declared.

The Montgomery County Civic Federation indorsed Gravelly Point as an airport for Washington and further declared that a second airport should be established in Maryland near the District. The resolution was presented by the committee on internal county improvements, which had studied the situation for some time. A. B. Wilkins, secretary of the committee, presented the report for adoption.

The resolution adopted by the federation holds that Gravelly Point seems to meet the requirements for the care of land and hydroplanes. It further holds that Washington should have two airports and recommends that one be established in nearby Maryland. The resolution calls upon the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission to survey the situation and make recommendations as to the Maryland location. The presentation of the report resulted in some controversy as to whether Gravelly Point was acceptable to the people of the District. Mr. Wilkins pointed out that both the District of Columbia and Arlington County, Va., federations had indorsed Gravelly Point.

Girl's Theft of Pretty Dress Nets Jail Term

Her love for pretty clothes resulted in imposition of a 30-day sentence in the District Jail on Miss Helen May Tootsey, 19 years old, yesterday by Judge Gus A. Schuldt in Police Court.

The young woman acknowledged her guilt to a charge of larceny of a $19 dress from a downtown department store. Policewoman Cecelia Clarke, of the Woman's Bureau, informed the magistrate that the prisoner had been previously found guilty of a similar charge, but was granted leniency upon her promise to mend her ways. Miss Tootsey told Judge Schuldt she was unable to overcome a temptation of possessing the pretty dress.

Lanier Heights Citizens Seek First Aid Station

The Lanier Heights Citizens Association passed resolutions asking that a first-aid station be established in the Northwest section, and also indorsed the program for realignment of police precincts and requested that a separate precinct be established in the Lanier Heights section at its meeting in the Henry E. Cooke Public School last night.

EDUCATIONAL UTOPIA BY LIBRARY EFFORTS, IS SEEN BY SPEAKERS

DR. PUTNAM HONORED ON 30TH ANNIVERSARY

Commissioner of Education Asks Aid for Collecting School Histories.

An educational Utopia, created through the immeasurable expansion of library facilities and the development of a mammoth army of book readers in America, was envisioned by prominent speakers addressing the American Library Association and various affiliated groups in three sessions here yesterday.

After a morning and afternoon crammed with round-table and informal gatherings drawing their attendance from the membership of the American Library Association, the fifty-first annual convention of that organization formally opened last night at the Washington Auditorium with Commissioner of Education William John Cooper as the foremost speaker.

The opening session, bringing together more than 2,500 librarians from practically every State in the Union, every province in Canada, as well as from England and Holland for the week's activities, likewise evoked signal recognition for Dr. Herbert Putnam in celebration of his thirtieth anniversary as Librarian of Congress. R. R. Bowker, editor of the Library Journal, New York City, in one of the four addresses of the evening, took occasion to represent the association in honoring the prominent Washingtonian for a distinguished public service.

Asks Library on School History.

Commissioner Cooper, in a comprehensive exposition of the Bureau of Education's general program for the diffusion of information, expressed his desire "to enlist your interest in helping us develop in Washington one of the world's great collections of books, the only library of the history of the American school."

"I am much interested in library service," he continued. "I think its most important aspects lie ahead of you. In rightly solving your problems I am vitally interested. For example, I think that your splendid service in adult education will be extended until libraries will be enriching the lives of practically all adult Americans. I fully realize that recent studies do not indicate as much public interest in reading books as in reading newspapers and the so-called popular magazines. For this our current notions of schools as courses to be completed is to blame.

"The conception of education as a life activity, however, is rapidly gaining ground. This will improve the situation for librarians. I think also that through you more than through any other agencies we shall improve the reading tastes of the present-day American. No one regrets more than I that a great conference of outstanding citizens of our neighbor Canada has found it advisable to establish a commission to devise ways and means 'to exclude undesirable magazines published in the United States.'"

Dr. Putnam Praised.

Mr. Bowker, in paying tribute to Dr. Putnam, heralded the fame of the Library of Congress as winning "parity with the great foreign libraries—the British Museum, the Bibliotheque Nationale—where 30 years ago it was but fourth in rank."

"It is to his unexploited personality and to his self-effacing service that we owe the unexampled growth, in size, in quality, and in influence of this great library center, which by next year will contain 4,000,000 books, over 1,000,000 maps, and treasures manifold throughout its many departments, each headed by a chief of first rank in his field," Mr. Bowker stated. "Its ever-increasing collections and ever-widening influence will more and more put it in the van beyond rivalry."

Miss Linda A. Eastman, of Cleveland, Ohio, in her address as president of the association, pictured the role that libraries are playing in world affairs through the dissemination of information and the consequent molding of opinion on international figures.

Looks Into the Future.

"Let us look," she said, "to that ideal future. Every town and village with its library, adequate to its needs, as supplemented by its county library or its State library. Every city with a complete library system reaching all of its citizens. All rural districts, even the most remote, served by library station, book-car or book post, and generously supplied with books from the township or county library, which in turn can look to its State library to supplement its resources. Every school, college and university with a live working library as its palpitating heart.

The address of welcome was delivered by Judge Wendell Phillips Stafford, associate justice of the District Supreme Court and vice president of the library trustees, Washington Public Library.

The American Library Association will hold its second session at 10 o'clock this morning jointly with the Special Libraries Association, which began its annual three-day conference yesterday morning at the Mayflower Hotel. The speakers will include Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce; Angus Fletcher, assistant director, British Library of Information, New York City; H. M. Lydenberg, assistant director and general supervisor, reference department, New York Public Library, and Robert B. Irwin, director of the bureau of research and education, American Foundation for the Blind, New York City.

The Special Libraries Association yesterday heard talks by Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of George Washington University; Dr. Julius H. Parmalee, director of the Bureau of Railway Economics, and Hugh G. Boutel, of the United States Bureau of Standards among others.

Leaking Gas Overcomes Woman as She Sleeps

Mrs. Mary A. Nightwine, 55 years old, of 606 Kenyon street northwest, was found in a gas-filled room at her home early yesterday by her son, Maury Nightwine. A jet was found to be leaking. Mrs. Nightwine is believed to have been overcome by the gas when asleep.

She was taken to Emergency Hospital, where she was reported to be in a serious condition.
